Farm Bills To Get Priority

Five Missionaries Apparently Seized By Jungle Savages

Body Seen Near Wrecked Plane

QUITO, Ecuador, Jan. 10 (AP)—Five flying missionaries from the United States were believed today to have been seized and at least one of them slain by savage Auca Indians. The scene was a remote Amazon jungle region of Northeastern Ecuador.

A Quito radio station reported receiving a message from a U.S. Air Force search plane saying that the missionaries' plane was destroyed and that observed beside it was the body of one unidentified person.

The search plane, an amphibious Albatross, was dispatched from the Panama Canal Zone to fly over the jungle region where the five missionaries landed in their small Piper plane on Sunday.

Last Radio Message

A last radio message received from the missionaries said:

"Here come a group of Aucas whom we have not known before."

The five were identified here as Nat Saint of Hudington Valley Pa.; Edward McCully of Milwaukee, Wis.; Peter Fleming of Seattle, Wash.; James Elliot of Portland, Ore.; Roger Youderian of Billings, Mont.

(A previous dispatch from Guayaquil, Ecuador, gave three of the names as Nate Saind, Pat Flemming and Roger Iderian. Elliot's hometown was listed as Minneapolis.)

Youderian was identified as a missionary for the "Gospel Missionary Union" and the other four representing "Christian missions in many lands."

Story Pieced Together

This is the story as put together from dispatches received in Quito:

The Piper plane, landed on a river bank in the heart of the jungle.

At 12:15 p.m. Saint established radio contact with their base at Shell Mera, an oil company headquarters.

Mrs. Saint stayed behind at Shell Mera to receive radio communications from the party.

Saint messaged his wife that he would be in charge of radio operations and that he would transmit again at 4 p.m.

At that exact hour he began another message, then interrupted with news of the approaching Aucas. Then communications were broken off.

Mayors Urge 'Interim' Pact In Long Strike

16 City Executives Call For Continuous Westinghouse Talks

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 10 (AP)— A group of 16 mayors called tonight for some "interim arrangement" that would permit Westinghouse Electric Corp. strikers to return to work pending final settlement of their contract dispute.

In a statement issued after a day-long series of meetings with company officials and leaders of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and the independent United Electrical Workers, the mayors said:

"We strongly recommend continued negotiations, starting tomorrow and carried around the clock without interruption or recess in order to arrive at a final settlement.

Deadlock In 12th Week

"We urge continued vigorous activity on the part of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service."

The statement was signed by mayors or their representatives from 16 cities where Westinghouse plants are located. They had come to the conference, called by Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner, of Columbus, Ohio, in an effort to seek a means of resolving the deadlock, now in its 12th week.

Asked for comment on the mayors' statement, a company spokesman said "we are taking the proposal under advisement."

Union Stand "Endorsed"

James B. Carey, president of the union, issued a statement expressing gratitude to the mayors. He said their statement "endorses" positions taken by the union, including a proposal for round-the-clock bargaining until the strike is settled.

Mayor Sensenbrenner said the group of chief executives will "continue to serve as a permanent standing committee and will use every resource available to it to achieve an end to the strike."

Talks between Westinghouse representatives and the two unions are to resume in Philadelphia tomorrow. IUE President James Carey and a company representative will meet at the urging of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

High Tide Floods Atlantic City Street

A truck is shown splashing through a flooded street in Atlantic City yesterday. Abnormally high tides whipped up by 50 mile-an-hour winds flooded many streets in the north end of the city. The storm first hit New Jersey and other parts of the East Coast Monday. The huge storm centered off the mid-Atlantic coast yesterday. (AP Photofax)

Ike, Advisors Plan To Seek Quick Action

President To Outline School Aid Program Tomorrow Morning

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP) — Eisenhower administration leaders agreed today to push for quick congressional action on the farm problem. They talked also of the need to get started on a big highway construction effort.

Democrats, who control Congress have also shown a desire to get going with farm legislation. Chairman Ellender (D-La) called his Senate Agriculture Committee to meet with Secretary Benson Thursday morning and with representatives of farm organizations Thursday afternoon. The House Agriculture Committee went to work in a preliminary meeting today.

In the meantime, President Eisenhower arranged to send his special message on federal aid to school construction to Congress Thursday morning. His next message will be the important one on the federal budget, next Monday.

No Talk Of Second Term

Eisenhower called the top Republican leaders of the Senate and House to the White House this morning on his second full day of work there in his convalescence from his heart attack.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate GOP leader, said the President looked fine. Knowland and Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the House Republican leader, agreed there was no talk bearing on the question of whether Eisenhower will run again.

Knowland said the Republicans want action as soon as possible on the Eisenhower farm message, which went to Congress yesterday. He said the feeling of urgency was based on a desire to deal fairly with the farmers as a vital element of the economy, rather than to seek votes for November.

"There was general agreement," he said, "that the message was constructive and, if properly enacted, would meet the agricultural problems of the nation."

Wide Support For Soil Bank

A central feature of the program received bipartisan support. This was the idea of a soil bank, under which farmers would get cash or commodities from the government for cutting back on unnecessary production.

Democrats, including Sen. Humphrey of Minnesota, maintained that the soil bank idea actually originated among them.

However, the biggest objection raised to the Eisenhower program —by some Midwestern Republicans as well as many Democrats—was that it wouldn't act quickly enough to help farmers whose prices and income have been steadily dwindling. Rep. Hope (R-Kan), for instance, said the message held no chance of increased farm income for 1956 "when farmers need it so badly."

41% Of Security Risks Hired By Administration

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)— The Civil Service Commission estimated today that about 41 per cent of the persons who have left government employment under a security cloud since May, 1953, had been hired by the Eisenhower administration.

The balance of approximately 59 per cent, commission Chairman Philip Young reported to Senate investigators, was hired by previous, Democratic administrations.

Young also said there are indications that more than 5 per cent of those listed as fired or resigned under the administration's security program have been rehired by the government.

Agency Transfer Possible

When a federal employe is listed as fired as a security risk, Young explained, it doesn't necessarily mean he's been removed from the government. He said a person could be removed from a sensitive job in one agency and still be accepted for nonsensitive work in another agency.

The figures on hiring responsibility were requested by Sen. Olin D. Johnston (D-SC), chairman of a Senate Civil Service subcommittee which has challenged the authenticity of some of the security figures.

Johnston contends the Republicans have been playing "a political numbers racket" to cast discredit on the personnel practices of the Truman and Roosevelt administrations.

Complicated Statistics

Young came in today with a complicated set of statistics.

He testified the commission had made a study of 4,020 of the 9,267 cases of persons who have been listed as fired as security risks or as resigned under investigation.

Of the 4,020, Young said, he was able to learn the employment dates of 3,746, and that of these "2,204 or 58.8 per cent" had been hired under Democratic administrations, while 1,542 or 41.2 per cent had been hired "subsequent to Jan. 20, 1953."

Jan. 20, 1953, was the date President Eisenhower took office.

Tax-Free Farm Gasoline Backed By House Group

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The House Agriculture Committee gave unanimous support today to President Eisenhower's proposal that gasoline used on farms be free of the two-cents-a-gallon federal tax.

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) announced the committee took that stand at a meeting in which it was decided to put subcommittees to work on specific issues raised in Eisenhower's farm message yesterday.

He said the committee will not act as a group until the Senate does something—a bill the House passed last year for rigid price supports on farm products is before the Senate Agriculture Committee.

For himself, Cooley said the administration already has authority to put into effect essentially all of the program proposed by Eisenhower. He labelled the President's message as nothing much but "platitudes and high sounding phrases."

Cooley said the 1938 Agricultural Adjustment Act gives the secretary full authority to carry out what Eisenhower is asking for in the form of a soil bank under which farmers would get government cash or commodities in return for cutting down on unnecessary production.

Sen. Ives Believes Ike Will Run Again

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY) said today "we all know" President Eisenhower does not want to run for a second term but expressed belief the President would run nevertheless out of a sense of duty.

Ives, addressing the Women's National Republican Club, said: "I am inclined to think, contingent on his health and how he feels about it, he will decide to run again."

Ives said he disagreed with Rep. Cole (R-NY), who has said the President would not, and should not, run for a second term.

Joint Moroccan Action Charted By Spain, France

LARACHE, Spanish Morocco, Jan. 10 (AP)—Spain and France — both under nationalist pressure—moved today to reconcile their policies in Morocco. These policies have been a cause of tension between Madrid and Paris ever since the French exiled the Sultan more than two years ago.

The chief administrators of their North African protectorates met and agreed on joint action to suppress the rebellious Riff warriors opposing the French along the border between their territories.

Lt. Gen. Rafael Garcia Valino, Spanish high commissioner, and Andre Dubois, French resident general, conferred four hours at a hunting lodge near this town in southern Spanish Morocco.

Riff Question "Examined"

A communique issued afterwards said only that they "examined" the Riff question. But reliable informants said it was agreed that Spanish and French forces would cooperate in putting down the rebels.

The purpose of the conference, according to official announcement, was discussion of the future of Sultan Mohammed ben Youssef's "empire," which includes both the French and Spanish protectorates and the international zone of Tangier.

The Moroccan nationalists are demanding that their European protectors withdraw and leave Morocco united and comletely independent. The crucial question for both France and Spain is—how soon?

Recently At Odds

Only a short time ago bitter words were being exchanged between Spain and France on this subject.

Spain denounced the "illegality" of France's deposing and exiling Ben Youssef in 1953 and putting his aged relative, Moulay ben Arafa, on the throne. She was openly sympathetic to Ben Youssef's nationalist followers who finally forced France to bring him back.

France retorted with accusations that Spain aided and armed terrorists and guerrilla warriors who kept the French zone in turmoil.

Huge Atlantic Storm Puts Chill On Florida

Crop Damage Runs Into Millions

[By The Associated Press]

A great Atlantic storm—with the strength but not the fury of a hurricane—yesterday brought damaging cold to Florida. The rest of the East Coast got minor floods, high winds, and persistent rain.

No general relief was expected before the first of next week.

Florida crop damage ran into the millions of dollars.

So many Miamians turned on electric ovens and heaters against the cold that transformers were overloaded and power was knocked out in some sections of the city. The shortage of electricity shrunk pictures on television sets.

A gigantic ocean storm was blamed. Two thousand miles in diameter, it was centered off the mid-Atlantic coast about 250 miles at sea. Although it lacked the fury of a hurricane, it was described as three times as big as one.

The storm's circular motion acted like a revolving door. Cold northern air was scooped in and deposited in the Deep South. In reverse, mild Southern air was driven into the North.

High tides lashed the Northeast coast with more than hurricane force. Gale force winds and persistent rains that began Sunday in the Northeast caused minor floods from New Jersey to Maine. An ice jam burst a dam at Pepperell, Mass., but no serious damage was reported.

Gordon E. Dunn, chief storm forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau, said such a winter storm of this size and intensity occurs only once every five or 10 years.

One result of the freak storm was that Portland, Maine, with a low of 44 degrees was warmer than downtown Miami where a record Jan. 10 low of 42 degrees was recorded. It was as low as 31—below freezing—in some outlying Miami farm areas.

There was frost in the Everglades and schools were closed in some areas of southeast Florida. One farm official estimated damage to crops thus far at 10 million dollars.

The temperature was in the 20s and 30s throughout the Southeastern states and in the 50s in normally tropical Cuba.

Girl, 14, Locked In Church Plays "Silent Night"

BRADLEY BEACH, N. J., Jan. 10 (AP)—A 14-year-old girl who was accidentally locked in and spent the night in a church playing "Silent Night" on the organ to attract attention, was released this morning by a cleaning woman.

Priscilla Vecce had been missing since last night when she left her house without saying where she was going.

Priscilla said today she went to the Roman Catholic Church of the Ascension to pray, but because she was wearing slacks she thought she could not go into the downstairs sanctuary.

She went upstairs, she said, where it was completely dark and quiet and prayed. Then she was locked in. She went to the church organ.

"The only thing I know how to play is 'Silent Night' and I played it again and again, but nobody could hear me," she said.

Her mother said, "She could not have spent the night in a safer place."

Britain Orders More Soldiers To Middle East

LONDON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Prime Minister Eden today ordered more troops flown to the Middle East in a show of strength aimed at keeping the peace in the disturbed region.

The British acted after anti-British and anti-American rioting in Jordan by elements which oppose that Arab kingdom's joining the Baghdad Pact.

The War Office announcement called the move "a precautionary measure" to protect British citizens in the area—but British officials made plain the troops might be used to douse a possible flare-up anywhere, including Palestine.

Shuckburgh Flies To U.S.

The Eden government's top Mideast expert, Evelyn Shuckburgh, is flying to Washington tonight to coordinate over-all Mideast policy with the Eisenhower administration.

Shuckburgh will lay the groundwork for talks between Eden and President Eisenhower opening in Washington Jan. 30 on ways to counter the Russian thrust into the Middle East. New Western peace moves to end the Palestine dispute will be discussed, too.

Eden And Head Confer

Eden conferred at No. 10 Downing St., with War Minister Anthony Head just before the War Office announced that paratroops and ground reinforcements would be sent to bolster Britain's "Fire Brigade" garrison on Cyprus, the island base in the eastern Mediterranean.

These troops will beef up the 100,000-man garrison already on the British island colony, churned by strife and violence from Cypriots demanding union with Greece. Cyprus serves as headquarters for Britain's air and land forces in the Middle East, while the Royal Navy is based on Malta to the west.

Krishna Menon Opposes H-Test

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 10 (AP)—India's V. K. Krishna Menon torday urged the United States to give up its plans for a new superbomb test in the Pacific. He appealed to the United States and Russia to ban such experimental blasts by mutual agreement.

"What do you expect to prove?" the Indian diplomat asked in commenting on reports that the United States is getting ready for more H-bomb tests. Wearing a brown bathrobe and light-colored pajamas, he gave an interview in his hotel room shortly before departing for London and New Delhi. He has been suffering an appendicitis attack but is well enough to travel.

"You know enough to destroy the world," Krishna Menon continued with a flash of the fire often seen in U.N. debates. "Both sides have enough destructive power now to destroy this planet. Do they want to destroy another planet? There is no end to the amount of power that can be generated for destructive purposes.

"In the interests of humanity, the United States and Russia should get together immediately and stop such tests."

West Germany Gets First U.S. Weapons

BONN, Germany, Jan. 10 (AP)—The first American weapons were delivered to the new West German army today.

The first arms delivered included pistols, rifles, bazooka rocket launchers, light machineguns and field signals equipment.

Big equipment like tanks, guns, planes and possibly some destroyers, will come later.

U. S. Restores India Aid Cut

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The United States today restored a 10-million-dollar cut in economic aid to India which had been ordered by Foreign Aid Director John B. Hollister.

Secretary of State Dulles is understood to have directed personally that the aid be reinstated, partly in response to appeals from U.S. Ambassador John Sherman Cooper in India.

The International Cooperation Administration did not announce restoration of the cut outright. It merely said the ICA had approved a 50-million-dollar outlay on economic aid for India and added that this was the full amount authorized by Congress for the fiscal year ending next June 30. The agency said this fund was in addition to 10 million dollars allotted for India for the technical cooperation.

Cooper is reported to have protested the cut in a series of dispatches contending it dealt a serious blow to U.S. prestige to reduce aid funds previously authorized by Congress.

Korean War Double Ace Dies In Jet Fighter Crash

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla., Jan. 10 (AP)—A highly decorated Texan who shot down 10 enemy MIGs in Korea was killed today in his checkout flight in an F101 Voodoo jet fighter.

Maj. Lonnie Moore died as the supersonic jet crashed and exploded seconds after it was airborne on takeoff. The Voodoo smashed to the earth near the center of the main flying field and only 200 yards from a fire station.

Crash crews extinguished the flames within three minutes but were unable to save Moore, who leaves a wife and four children.

An Eglin announcement said the 36-year-old double ace of Korea was making his first checkout flight in the F101, which is undergoing operational tests at the Air Force's Air Proving Ground Command.

He was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross, the Silver Star, Distinguished Flying Cross with two oak leaf clusters, Bronze Star, and the Air Medal with 14 clusters.

Study Group Sees Newsprint Deficit For Years To Come

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP) — A Commerce Department study given to Congress today concludes that there is "a substantial world deficit in newsprint and an apparent substantial deficit for U.S. publishers for some years to come."

The study figured a deficit of 65,000 tons for U. S. publishers for 1956. This was based on estimate that 6,735,000 tons will be available and that needs are 6,700,000 tons for consumption plus 100,000 tons for rebuilding depleted inventories.

Donald Shook, deputy director of the forest products division of the department, presented the study to a House subcommittee which has been looking into the newsprint situation.

Chairman Klein (D-NY) said his group was concerned that the shortage "might be an indirect form of censorship, possibly drive some of these small newspapers out of business."

Klein said he thought "all agree we should avoid controlled prices or allocation of newsprint."

"But we certainly don't want to drive these small newspapers out of business either because the price (of newsprint) is so exorbitant or there isn't enough to go around," Klein added.

He suggested that in an emergency the bigger newspapers could cut down on their advertising to help assure enough newsprint to go around.

In answer to questions, Shook said the Commerce Department does not intend to ask for any special legislation this year in respect to newsprint.

"Is there any stimulus to production of newsprint the government can give?" Klein asked.

Shook said the federal government possibly could contribute to and intensify research into the reuse of waste paper.

He said also the Commerce Department had suggested to the Agriculture Department that if the administration's soil bank plan should go through, "perhaps in many areas, some requirement can be made to plant trees."

Union Striker Held In Dynamite Blast

CHAPMAN, Ala., Jan. 10 (AP)—A union striker was arrested today and charged with planting a dynamite charge that injured 11 nonstrikers in an explosion at the W.T. Smith Lumber Co.

Sheriff Werth Thomas identified the man as Erwin Wiggins, 43.

Two of the lumber company employes injured in yesterday's blast of a makeshift stove remained in serious condition. Four other nonstrikers are in the hospital with injuries and five were released after treatment.

A. O. McKinney, assistant regional director of the International Woodworkers of America Union, said Wiggins is a member of the union.

Red China Charges U.S. Air Intrusion

TOKYO, Wednesday, Jan. 11 (AP)—Red China asserted today that two U. S. Air Force planes "openly intruded" over Manchuria Monday in "a grave act of military provocation."

A Peiping broadcast declared the two planes crossed the Yalu River —the boundary with North Korea— and penetrated as deep as the area of Mukden, industrial city 120 miles from the border.

Peiping said that "after aircraft of the Chinese air force took off immediately in pursuit the two American military planes fled."

1,500-Mile Range Missile Army's Goal, Taylor Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said today the Army will put "all we've got" into the effort to perfect a missile with 1,500-mile range.

The chief of staff also told a news conference that the Army "expects to spend more and more of its money" in the field of missiles. This field includes not only the program for the 1,500-mile, intermediate range rocket, but shorter range rockets and antiaircraft weapons.

Referring to the joint service project for development of a new rocket, Taylor said that "the Army, using Redstone, and in partnership with the Navy, is developing a medium missile — a 1,500 mile missile."

His reference was to a new bombardment rocket, named after the Redstone, Ala., Arsenal where it was designed. That missile now has a reported range of between 200 and 300 miles. Taylor's comment suggested that the Redstone design is serving only as a departure point for building a bigger, farther-reaching rocket.

Remembering that the Air Force also is at work on a long-range, 5,000-mile, intercontinental ballistics missile— as well as on rockets of lesser range — a reporter asked the army chief what services would use the Army missile. Taylor replied that "we are working on the principle that the nation needs the missile"—perhaps hinting that all services would use it.

There have been reports that the Air Force was not too happy to see the Army move into a field that has been considered primarily a responsibility of the air arm.

41% Of Security Risks Hired By Administration

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)— The Civil Service Commission estimated today that about 41 per cent of the persons who have left government employment under a security cloud since May, 1953, had been hired by the Eisenhower administration.

Mayors Urge 'Interim' Pact In Long Strike

16 City Executives Call For Continuous Westinghouse Talks

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 10 (AP)— A group of 16 mayors called tonight for some "interim arrangement" that would permit Westinghouse Electric Corp. strikers to return to work pending final settlement of their contract dispute.

In a statement issued after a day-long series of meetings with company officials and leaders of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers and the independent United Electrical Workers, the mayors said:

"We strongly recommend continued negotiations, starting tomorrow and carried around the clock without interruption or recess in order to arrive at a final settlement.

Deadlock In 12th Week

"We urge continued vigorous activity on the part of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service."

The statement was signed by mayors or their representatives from 16 cities where Westinghouse plants are located. They had come to the conference, called by Mayor M. E. Sensenbrenner, of Columbus, Ohio, in an effort to seek a means of resolving the deadlock, now in its 12th week.

Asked for comment on the mayors' statement, a company spokesman said "we are taking the proposal under advisement."

Union Stand "Endorsed"

James B. Carey, president of the union, issued a statement expressing gratitude to the mayors. He said their statement "endorses" positions taken, by the union, including a proposal for round-the-clock bargaining until the strike is settled.

Mayor Sensenbrenner said the group of chief executives will "continue to serve as a permanent standing committee and will use every resource available to it to achieve an end to the strike."

Talks between Westinghouse representatives and the two unions are to resume in Philadelphia tomorrow, IUE President James Carey and a company representative will meet at the urging of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Tax-Free Farm Gasoline Backed By House Group

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The House Agriculture Committee gave unanimous support today to President Eisenhower's proposal that gasoline used on farms be free of the two-cents-a-gallon federal tax.

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) announced the committee took that stand at a meeting in which it was decided to put subcommittees to work on specific issues raised in Eisenhower's farm message yesterday.

He said the committee will not act as a group until the Senate does something—a bill the House passed last year for rigid price supports on farm products is before the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Cooley said the 1938 Agricultural Adjustment Act gives the secretary full authority to carry out what Eisenhower is asking for in the form of a soil bank under which farmers would get government cash or commodities in return for cutting down on unnecessary production.

Sen. Ives Believes Ike Will Run Again

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-NY) said today "we all know" President Eisenhower does not want to run for a second term but expressed belief the President would run nevertheless out of a sense of duty.

Ives, addressing the Women's National Republican Club, said: "I am inclined to think, contingent on his health and how he feels about it, he will decide to run again."

Ives said he disagreed with Rep. Cole (R-NY), who has said the President would not, and should not, run for a second term.

High Tide Floods Atlantic City Street

A truck is shown splashing through a flooded street in Atlantic City yesterday. Abnormally high tides whipped up by 50 mile-an-hour winds flooded many streets in the north end of the city. The storm first hit New Jersey and other parts of the East Coast Monday. The huge storm centered off the mid-Atlantic coast yesterday. (AP Photofax)

Joint Moroccan Action Charted By Spain, France

LARACHE, Spanish Morocco, Jan. 10 (AP)—Spain and France — both under nationalist pressure—moved today to reconcile their policies in Morocco. These policies have been a cause of tension between Madrid and Paris ever since the French exiled the Sultan more than two years ago.

The chief administrators of their North African protectorates met and agreed on joint action to suppress the rebellious Riff warriors opposing the French along the border between their territories.

Lt. Gen. Rafael Garcia Valino, Spanish high commissioner, and Andre Dubois, French resident general, conferred four hours at a hunting lodge near this town in southern Spanish Morocco.

Riff Question "Examined"

A communique issued afterwards said only that they "examined" the Riff question. But reliable informants said it was agreed that Spanish and French forces would cooperate in putting down the rebels.

The purpose of the conference, according to official announcement, was discussion of the future of Sultan Mohammed ben Youssef's "empire," which includes both the French and Spanish protectorates and the international zone of Tangier.

The Moroccan nationalists are demanding that their European protectors withdraw and leave Morocco united and comletely independent. The crucial question for both France and Spain is—how soon?

Recently At Odds

Only a short time ago bitter words were being exchanged between Spain and France on this subject.

Spain denounced the "illegality" of France's deposing and exiling Ben Youssef in 1953 and putting his aged relative, Moulay ben Arafa, on the throne. She was openly sympathetic to Ben Youssef's nationalist followers who finally forced France to bring him back.

France retorted with accusations that Spain aided and armed terrorists and guerrilla warriors who kept the French zone in turmoil.

Huge Atlantic Storm Puts Chill On Florida

Crop Damage Runs Into Millions

[By The Associated Press]

A great Atlantic storm—with the strength but not the fury of a hurricane—yesterday brought damaging cold to Florida. The rest of the East Coast got minor floods, high winds, and persistent rain.

No general relief was expected before the first of next week.

Florida crop damage ran into the millions of dollars.

So many Miamians turned on electric ovens and heaters against the cold that transformers were overloaded and power was knocked out in some sections of the city. The shortage of electricity shrunk pictures on television sets.

A gigantic ocean storm was blamed. Two thousand miles in diameter, it was centered off the mid-Atlantic coast about 250 miles at sea. Although it lacked the fury of a hurricane, it was described as three times as big as one.

The storm's circular motion acted like a revolving door. Cold northern air was scooped in and deposited in the Deep South. In reverse, mild Southern air was driven into the North.

High tides lashed the Northeast coast with more than hurricane force. Gale force winds and persistent rains that began Sunday in the Northeast caused minor floods from New Jersey to Maine. An ice jam burst a dam at Pepperell, Mass., but no serious damage was reported.

Gordon E. Dunn, chief storm forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau, said such a winter storm of this size and intensity occurs only once every five or 10 years.

One result of the freak storm was that Portland, Maine, with a low of 44 degrees was warmer than downtown Miami where a record Jan. 10 low of 42 degrees was recorded. It was as low as 31—below freezing—in some outlying Miami farm areas.

There was frost in the Everglades and schools were closed in some areas of southeast Florida. One farm official estimated damage to crops thus far at 10 million dollars.

The temperature was in the 20s and 30s throughout the Southeastern states and in the 50s in normally tropical Cuba.

Girl, 14, Locked In Church Plays "Silent Night"

BRADLEY BEACH, N. J., Jan. 10 (AP)—A 14-year-old girl who was accidentally locked in and spent the night in a church playing "Silent Night" on the organ to attract attention, was released this morning by a cleaning woman.

Priscilla Vecce had been missing since last night when she left her house without saying where she was going.

Priscilla said today she went to the Roman Catholic Church of the Ascension to pray, but because she was wearing slacks she thought she could not go into the downstairs sanctuary.

She went upstairs, she said, where it was completely dark and quiet and prayed. Then she was locked in. She went to the church organ.

"The only thing I know how to play is 'Silent Night' and I played it again and again, but nobody could hear me," she said.

Her mother said, "She could not have spent the night in a safer place."

Study Group Sees Newsprint Deficit For Years To Come

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP) — A Commerce Department study given to Congress today concludes that there is "a substantial world deficit in newsprint and an apparent substantial deficit for U.S. publishers for some years to come."

The study figured a deficit of 65,000 tons for U. S. publishers for 1956. This was based on estimate that 6,735,000 tons will be available and that needs are 6,700,000 tons for consumption plus 100,000 tons for rebuilding depleted inventories.

Donald Shook, deputy director of the forest products division of the department, presented the study to a House subcommittee which has been looking into the newsprint situation.

Chairman Klein (D-NY) said his group was concerned that the shortage "might be an indirect form of censorship, possibly drive some of these small newspapers out of business."

Klein said he thought "all agree we should avoid controlled prices or allocation of newsprint."

"But we certainly don't want to drive these small newspapers out of business either because the price (of newsprint) is so exorbitant or there isn't enough to go around," Klein added.

He suggested that in an emergency the bigger newspapers could cut down on their advertising to help assure enough newsprint to go around.

In answer to questions, Shook said the Commerce Department does not intend to ask for any special legislation this year in respect to newsprint.

"Is there any stimulus to production of newsprint the government can give?" Klein asked.

Shook said the federal government possibly could contribute to and intensify research into the reuse of waste paper.

He said also the Commerce Department had suggested to the Agriculture Department that if the administration's soil bank plan should go through, "perhaps in many areas, some requirement can be made to plant trees."

Krishna Menon Opposes H-Test

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Jan. 10 (AP)—India's V. K. Krishna Menon torday urged the United States to give up its plans for a new superbomb test in the Pacific. He appealed to the United States and Russia to ban such experimental blasts by mutual agreement.

"What do you expect to prove?" the Indian diplomat asked in commenting on reports that the United States is getting ready for more H-bomb tests. Wearing a brown bathrobe and light-colored pajamas, he gave an interview in his hotel room shortly before departing for London and New Delhi. He has been suffering an appendicitis attack but is well enough to travel.

"You know enough to destroy the world," Krishna Menon continued with a flash of the fire often seen in U.N. debates. "Both sides have enough destructive power now to destroy this planet. Do they want to destroy another planet? There is no end to the amount of power that can be generated for destructive purposes.

"In the interests of humanity, the United States and Russia should get together immediately and stop such tests."

Union Striker Held In Dynamite Blast

CHAPMAN, Ala., Jan. 10 (AP)—A union striker was arrested today and charged with planting a dynamite charge that injured 11 nonstrikers in an explosion at the W.T. Smith Lumber Co.

Sheriff Werth Thomas identified the man as Erwin Wiggins, 43.

Two of the lumber company employes injured in yesterday's blast of a makeshift stove remained in serious condition. Four other nonstrikers are in the hospital with injuries and five were released after treatment.

A. O. McKinney, assistant regional director of the International Woodworkers of America Union, said Wiggins is a member of the union.

Britain Orders More Soldiers To Middle East

LONDON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Prime Minister Eden today ordered more troops flown to the Middle East in a show of strength aimed at keeping the peace in the disturbed region.

The British acted after anti-British and anti-American rioting in Jordan by elements which oppose that Arab kingdom's joining the Baghdad Pact.

The War Office announcement called the move "a precautionary measure" to protect British citizens in the area—but British officials made plain the troops might be used to douse a possible flare-up anywhere, including Palestine.

Shuckburgh Flies To U.S.

The Eden government's top Mideast expert, Evelyn Shuckburgh, is flying to Washington tonight to coordinate over-all Mideast policy with the Eisenhower administration.

Shuckburgh will lay the groundwork for talks between Eden and President Eisenhower opening in Washington Jan. 30 on ways to counter the Russian thrust into the Middle East. New Western peace moves to end the Palestine dispute will be discussed, too.

Eden And Head Confer

Eden conferred at No. 10 Downing St., with War Minister Anthony Head just before the War Office announced that paratroops and ground reinforcements would be sent to bolster Britain's "Fire Brigade" garrison on Cyprus, the island base in the eastern Mediterranean.

These troops will beef up the 100,000-man garrison already on the British island colony, churned by strife and violence from Cypriots demanding union with Greece. Cyprus serves as headquarters for Britain's air and land forces in the Middle East, while the Royal Navy is based on Malta to the west.

West Germany Gets First U.S. Weapons

BONN, Germany, Jan. 10 (AP)—The first American weapons were delivered to the new West German army today.

The first arms delivered included pistols, rifles, bazooka rocket launchers, light machineguns and field signals equipment.

Ike, Advisors Plan To Seek Quick Action

President To Outline School Aid Program Tomorrow Morning

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP) — Eisenhower administration leaders agreed today to push for quick congressional action on the farm problem. They talked also of the need to get started on a big highway construction effort.

Democrats, who control Congress have also shown a desire to get going with farm legislation. Chairman Ellender (D-La) called his Senate Agriculture Committee to meet with Secretary Benson Thursday morning and with representatives of farm organizations Thursday afternoon. The House Agriculture Committee went to work in a preliminary meeting today.

In the meantime, President Eisenhower arranged to send his special message on federal aid to school construction to Congress Thursday morning. His next message will be the important one on the federal budget, next Monday.

No Talk Of Second Term

Eisenhower called the top Republican leaders of the Senate and House to the White House this morning on his second full day of work there in his convalescence from his heart attack.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate GOP leader, said the President looked fine. Knowland and Rep. Martin of Massachusetts, the House Republican leader, agreed there was no talk bearing on the question of whether Eisenhower will run again.

Knowland said the Republicans want action as soon as possible on the Eisenhower farm message, which went to Congress yesterday. He said the feeling of urgency was based on a desire to deal fairly with the farmers as a vital element of the economy, rather than to seek votes for November.

"There was general agreement," he said, "that the message was constructive and, if properly enacted, would meet the agricultural problems of the nation."

Wide Support For Soil Bank

A central feature of the program received bipartisan support. This was the idea of a soil bank, under which farmers would get cash or commodities from the government for cutting back on unnecessary production.

Democrats, including Sen. Humphrey of Minnesota, maintained that the soil bank idea actually originated among them.

However, the biggest objection raised to the Eisenhower program —by some Midwestern Republicans as well as many Democrats—was that it wouldn't act quickly enough to help farmers whose prices and income have been steadily dwindling. Rep. Hope (R-Kan), for instance, said the message held no chance of increased farm income for 1956 "when farmers need it so badly."

Red China Charges U.S. Air Intrusion

TOKYO, Wednesday, Jan. 11 (AP)—Red China asserted today that two U. S. Air Force planes "openly intruded" over Manchuria Monday in "a grave act of military provocation."

A Peiping broadcast declared the two planes crossed the Yalu River —the boundary with North Korea—and penetrated as deep as the area of Mukden, industrial city 120 miles from the border.

Peiping said that "after aircraft of the Chinese air force took off immediately in pursuit the two American military planes fled."

1,500-Mile Range Missile Army's Goal, Taylor Says

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor said today the Army will put "all we've got" into the effort to perfect a missile with 1,500-mile range.

The chief of staff also told a news conference that the Army "expects to spend more and more of its money" in the field of missiles. This field includes not only the program for the 1,500-mile, intermediate range rocket, but shorter range rockets and antiaircraft weapons.

Referring to the joint service project for development of a new rocket, Taylor said that "the Army, using Redstone, and in partnership with the Navy, is developing a medium missile — a 1,500 mile missile."

His reference was to a new bombardment rocket, named after the Redstone, Ala., Arsenal where it was designed. That missile now has a reported range of between 200 and 300 miles. Taylor's comment suggested that the Redstone design is serving only as a departure point for building a bigger, farther-reaching rocket.

Remembering that the Air Force also is at work on a long-range, 5,000-mile, intercontinental ballistics missile— as well as on rockets of lesser range — a reporter asked the army chief what services would use the Army missile. Taylor replied that "we are working on the principle that the nation needs the missile"—perhaps hinting that all services would use it.

There have been reports that the Air Force was not too happy to see the Army move into a field that has been considered primarily a responsibility of the air arm.

AEC Relaxes Curbs On Isotope Exports

Commission Also Moves To Simplify U. S. Distribution

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission today loosened up regulations on the export of radioactive isotope materials to friendly foreign countries. Shipments to the Soviet bloc will be strictly controlled.

The commission simultaneously announced two other actions:

1. Steps to "simplify" the distribution of radioactive isotopes for medical and other uses in the United States—essentially making larger quantities available under general licenses.

2. Revision of the basic price for thorium metal, presumably cheaper, for the guidance of prospective private users of the material in nuclear power reactors and other peacetime applications.

Thorium is a metal which can be converted into fissionable atomic fuel. The revised price is $43 per 1,000 grams, but the AEC declined to disclose the previous price.

The AEC said the new regulation on foreign distribution "sets up procedures by which scientists in other countries may more easily obtain U. S.-produced radioisotopes. It makes more conveniently available to them radioactive materials for use in medicine, agriculture, industry and the physical sciences.

"Scientists and research groups in other nations can now deal directly with production and distribution centers in this country."

The new rules, AEC said, eliminate these requirements which have applied before a foreign country could get any radioisotopes:

1. Appointment by foreign governments of special isotopes representatives in the United States—usually an embassy staff member.

2. Agreement by these special representatives to furnish reports, at AEC request, on the results of use of radioactive materials shipped to their countries.

Under the new regulation, "except for export to Soviet-bloc countries," manufacturers of radioactive materials can ship directly to persons abroad.

The AEC will keep tabs on "the kind, quantity and destination" of the exports by having licensed manufacturers report within 90 days after making shipments.

Materials which can be exported under the new regulation are essentially the same ones covered by the old rules. They are those having an atomic number from 3 to 83, which means that materials like potential hydrogen bomb ingredients, or fissionable materials such as uranium, would not be included.

Amman Curfew Relaxed Slightly

AMMAN, Jordan, Jan. 10 (AP)—The government today relaxed slightly the curfew in riot-torn Amman and moved to restore life in the capital to normal.

The curfew was imposed here, in the Jordan sector of Jerusalem, and in several other key spots four days ago during riots against the Baghdad Pact. The demonstrators attacked British and American offices. One person was reported killed and three wounded—none of them Americans.

The curfew was lifted for 2½ hours instead of the 2 hours on previous days. An official statement said efforts to restore gradually the capital's normal activities had been made at the request of the inhabitants.

A government spokesman reported two small disturbances today in east Jordan. He said two minor casualties resulted before order was restored.

(The spokesman's report was given after the Egyptian newspaper Al Gumhurriya in Cairo had said two British passengers were killed when demonstrators burned a car at Zerqa, a town 12 miles northeast of Amman. There was no official confirmation of the report.

Ike Due To Address GOP Dinners Via TV

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Elaborate arrangements are nearly complete for President Eisenhower to respond over a closed circuit telecast linking 53 cities in the nationwide "Salute to Eisenhower" dinners Jan. 20.

The dinner in Washington will be in the spotlight and Mrs. Howard A. Coffin, vice chairman of this event, said Eisenhower's response would be the high point of the cross-continental program. It will be in tribute to him as he begins his fourth year in the presidency.

The White House has not yet announced that Eisenhower will speak—or whether from the White House or the Sheraton-Park Hotel where the telecast will originate—but Republican leaders, especially those doing program-planning, say they are confident he will.

Dead Heiress' Mother Helped Plan Abortion

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10 (AP) — The grieving mother of a dead heiress disclosed publicly today she made the arrangements for an illegal abortion which an autopsy showed killed her daughter.

But Mrs. Gertrude Silver, weeping as she told her story for the first time, said her daughter — Mrs. Doris Jean Silver Ostreicher —demanded before the tragedy last Aug. 24 that " 'I want an abortion' " and " 'You're my parent and you've got to help me.' "

"She cried and said I had to help," Mrs. Silver related, barely controlling her composure. "I loved her. I said I would help."

Herman Silver, 52, food chain store executive, wept, too, as he sat beside his wife in the living room of their suburban Melrose Park home.

Mrs. Silver has been indicted as an accessory in the abortion death of her daughter. She also is charged with helping Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwartz commit the illegal operation that killed the bride of two months three days before her 24th birthday.

The beautiful brunette died in the Schwartzes' North Philadelphia apartment. The Silvers said today the Schwartzes were strangers to them.

The Schwartzes are scheduled to be tried on the abortion charge later this month. Mrs. Silver has indicated she will be a witness against them.

Doris eloped June 24 after a story-book romance with Earl Ostreicher, a Miami Beach, Fla., motorcycle policeman she met while visiting relatives in the South.

The Silvers said their daughter left her husband July 31 and that Doris urged the father to start divorce proceedings.

Record Yule Season Boosts Retail Sales

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Commerce Department estimated today that a record Christmas season pushed retail sales to almost 186 billion dollars in 1955.

This would be some 9 per cent higher than sales in 1954 totaling just over 170½ billion dollars.

The preliminary report on December retail trade, and for the year, said that December sales totaled approximately $19,400,000,000. This was about 5 per cent higher than December, 1954, sales, and 1 per cent higher than sales in November, 1955.

Gleason Thanks Judge For Plug

TRUMBULL, Conn., Jan. 10 (AP)—Town Court Judge John P. Evans received a letter today from TV comedian Jackie Gleason saying, "I hope some day to have the pleasure of paying a fine in your lovely town."

The letter expressed Gleason's appreciation of a plug for his show which Judge Evans gave from the bench recently.

The judge told an erring motorist that he ought to stay home Saturday nights and watch Gleason's show rather than go out on the highway and get in trouble.

Gleason read about it in the papers.

Huge Quake Recorded

PASADENA, Calif., Jan 10 (AP) — The largest earthquake in nearly a year was recorded today on the seismograph at Caltech. The epicenter was placed in the Southwest Pacific.

Dr. C. F. Richter said the shock had a magnitude of 7.7 on his scale which rates the biggest of all time at 8.6.

Ex-Con Takes Over Bus After Slaying

NEW YORK, Jan. (AP)—A young ex-convict, crazed by drink and the loss of his savings in a poker game, shot the dealer to death last night. Then he took over a public bus in a wild, bullet-spattered flight that ended against a cemetery wall.

Bus driver William Hiller's deliberate crash into the wall knocked Theodore Clement, 24, off balance. Hiller grappled with the crazed man until police came and subdued him.

There were no other passengers.

German Camera Drive

BRUNSWICK, Germany, Jan. 10 (AP)—The West German camera industry plans to boost its advertising abroad in 1956 to meet growing Japanese competition. This is the word from A. Oehme, director of the Voigtlaender camera plant.

He said of three million cameras produced in West Germany last year, 60 per cent were exported. The industry plans to concentrate on the American market.

MAN WITH A TALENT—Airman 1/C Serge de Gastyne is a talented young man of 25 with an Air Force job any enlisted man would envy. Assigned to the Air Force symphonic band at Bolling Air Force Base, he's been instructed to stay at home in Washington and do nothing but compose music. His first full symphony was played last week in Cincinnati. And one of his current aims is composition of a new Air Force song—something "real gusty." Makes No Difference Where She's Wed, Grace Kelly Says

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10 (AP)—Grace Kelly, movie queen and princess-to-be in real life, wants a large family and doesn't care where she gets married — just so it's in church.

The blonde beauty disembarked from the Santa Fe's Super Chief at nearby Pasadena today and met a battery of newsmen and photographers.

All wanted her to clarify a series of confusing statements as to the site of her upcoming marriage to Prince Rainier III of Monaco.

The chief of the Prince's private Cabinet had announced in Monte Carlo that the wedding would be held there in April. In Wilmington, Del., the Prince's private chaplain said the date and site were indefinite but that Rainier leaned towards a quiet wedding in Philadelphia. Miss Kelly's home town.

Miss Kelly's mother said bluntly: "Nothing's official and nothing's been decided."

But Grace herself said:

"It makes no difference."

She told reporters that it will be a nuptial Mass. Both are Roman Catholics.

Ex-Head Of CAA Says Superiors Criticized Plans

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Frederick B. Lee, former head of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, said today top officials of the Commerce Department found fault with his spending plans for improvement of U.S. airways facilities.

Lee said Commerce Undersecretary Louis Rothschild called him on the carpet about a CAA-approved five-year 250-million-dollar improvement program. Lee appeared before the Senate Aviation subcommittee.

Rothschild complained that the large increase in spending proposed by Lee was "a departure from policy" and had not been "adequately cleared" with Commerce Department leaders, Lee testified.

Lee's successor, Charles J. Lowen, told a New York audience today that while he was dissatisfied with the current rate of progress in air traffic control developments, "I must caution that these problems cannot be solved as fast as a hot typewriter can rattle out the words 'automatic' and 'billions.'"

Lowen also summoned top representatives of the airline and aircraft manufacturing industries, the airport operator groups and private and commercial pilots, along with military leaders, to a major industry-government conference here tomorrow on airport standards for the jet age.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Monroney (D-Okla), is seeking to learn whether Rothschild and Commerce Secretary Weeks acted improperly in firing Lee, and whether the CAA should be removed from Commerce Department control.

Corsets Banned During Lie Tests

CHICAGO, Jan. 10 (AP)—The 96 female employes of the Cook County (Chicago) Board of Election Commissioners were asked today not to wear corsets to work on specified days in the next couple of weeks.

The reason is that all members of the board's staff are being given lie detector tests in an effort to find out what happened to two missing vote registration cards. And corsets sometimes foul up such tests by interfering with the detector's measurement of the breathing rate.

State Employes Pay Hike Urged

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Standard Salary Board today recommended to Gov. McKeldin that all State employes be given graduated pay increases ranging from $85 to more than $700 per year.

James A. Downey, chairman, said if the plans are approved by McKeldin, the proposals will go before the State Legislature next month.

Along with the recommended pay boosts was a suggestion, previously approved by the governor, that employes in State institutions be paid overtime for work performed beyond a 40-hour per week limit. The present overtime cutoff is a 44-hour week.

The pay increases would range from 4.3 per cent for the highest paid employes to 10.9 per cent for those in the bottom rung of the pay scale.

Gov. McKeldin said in a Christmas Eve tax message he would put $4,600,000 into his budget for State salary increases and the costs of cutting the overtime limit from 44 to 40 hours for those working in hospitals, prisons, mental hospitals and other State institutions.

The White House has not yet announced that Eisenhower will speak—or whether from the White House or the Sheraton-Park Hotel where the telecast will originate—but Republican leaders, especially those doing program-planning, say they are confident he will.

Quits Treasury Post

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP) — H. Chapman Rose resigned today as undersecretary of the treasury, effective Jan. 31. He gave "personal responsibilities" as the reason.

Gleason Thanks Judge For Plug

TRUMBULL, Conn., Jan. 10 (AP)—Town Court Judge John P. Evans received a letter today from TV comedian Jackie Gleason saying, "I hope some day to have the pleasure of paying a fine in your lovely town."

The letter expressed Gleason's appreciation of a plug for his show which Judge Evans gave from the bench recently.

The judge told an erring motorist that he ought to stay home Saturday nights and watch Gleason's show rather than go out on the highway and get in trouble.

Gleason read about it in the papers.

Huge Quake Recorded

PASADENA, Calif., Jan 10 (AP) — The largest earthquake in nearly a year was recorded today on the seismograph at Caltech. The epicenter was placed in the Southwest Pacific.

Dr. C. F. Richter said the shock had a magnitude of 7.7 on his scale which rates the biggest of all time at 8.6.

Dead Heiress' Mother Helped Plan Abortion

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 10 (AP) — The grieving mother of a dead heiress disclosed publicly today she made the arrangements for an illegal abortion which an autopsy showed killed her daughter.

But Mrs. Gertrude Silver, weeping as she told her story for the first time, said her daughter — Mrs. Doris Jean Silver Ostreicher —demanded before the tragedy last Aug. 24 that "'I want an abortion'" and "'You're my parent and you've got to help me.'"

"She cried and said I had to help," Mrs. Silver related, barely controlling her composure. "I loved her. I said I would help."

Herman Silver, 52, food chain store executive, wept, too, as he sat beside his wife in the living room of their suburban Melrose Park home.

Mrs. Silver has been indicted as an accessory in the abortion death of her daughter. She also is charged with helping Mr. and Mrs. Milton Schwartz commit the illegal operation that killed the bride of two months three days before her 24th birthday.

The beautiful brunette died in the Schwartzes' North Philadelphia apartment. The Silvers said today the Schwartzes were strangers to them.

The Schwartzes are scheduled to be tried on the abortion charge later this month. Mrs. Silver has indicated she will be a witness against them.

Doris eloped June 24 after a story-book romance with Earl Ostreicher, a Miami Beach, Fla., motorcycle policeman she met while visiting relatives in the South.

The Silvers said their daughter left her husband July 31 and that Doris urged the father to start divorce proceedings.

Record Yule Season Boosts Retail Sales

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Commerce Department estimated today that a record Christmas season pushed retail sales to almost 186 billion dollars in 1955.

This would be some 9 per cent higher than sales in 1954 totaling just over 170½ billion dollars.

The preliminary report on December retail trade, and for the year, said that December sales totaled approximately $19,400,000,000. This was about 5 per cent higher than December, 1954, sales, and 1 per cent higher than sales in November, 1955.

Ex-Con Takes Over Bus After Slaying

NEW YORK, Jan. (AP)—A young ex-convict, crazed by drink and the loss of his savings in a poker game, shot the dealer to death last night. Then he took over a public bus in a wild, bullet-spattered flight that ended against a cemetery wall.

Bus driver William Hiller's deliberate crash into the wall knocked Theodore Clement, 24, off balance. Hiller grappled with the crazed man until police came and subdued him.

There were no other passengers.

German Camera Drive

BRUNSWICK, Germany, Jan. 10 (AP)—The West German camera industry plans to boost its advertising abroad in 1956 to meet growing Japanese competition. This is the word from A. Oehme, director of the Voigtlaender camera plant.

He said of three million cameras produced in West Germany last year, 60 per cent were exported. The industry plans to concentrate on the American market.

MAN WITH A TALENT—Airman 1/C Serge de Gastyne is a talented young man of 25 with an Air Force job any enlisted man would envy. Assigned to the Air Force symphonic band at Bolling Air Force Base, he's been instructed to stay at home in Washington and do nothing but compose music. His first full symphony was played last week in Cincinnati. And one of his current aims is composition of a new Air Force song—something "real gusty." His wife, Raylyn, looks on as he works at the piano in their home. (Story on page 3) (AP Photofax)

Makes No Difference Where She's Wed, Grace Kelly Says

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10 (AP)—Grace Kelly, movie queen and princess-to-be in real life, wants a large family and doesn't care where she gets married — just so it's in church.

The blonde beauty disembarked from the Santa Fe's Super Chief at nearby Pasadena today and met a battery of newsmen and photographers.

All wanted her to clarify a series of confusing statements as to the site of her upcoming marriage to Prince Rainier III of Monaco.

The chief of the Prince's private Cabinet had announced in Monte Carlo that the wedding would be held there in April. In Wilmington, Del., the Prince's private chaplain said the date and site were indefinite but that Rainier leaned towards a quiet wedding in Philadelphia, Miss Kelly's home town.

Miss Kelly's mother said bluntly: "Nothing's official and nothing's been decided."

But Grace herself said:

"It makes no difference."

She told reporters that it will be a nuptial Mass. Both are Roman Catholics.

Ex-Head Of CAA Says Superiors Criticized Plans

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Frederick B. Lee, former head of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, said today top officials of the Commerce Department found fault with his spending plans for improvement of U.S. airways facilities.

Lee said Commerce Undersecretary Louis Rothschild called him on the carpet about a CAA-approved five-year 250-million-dollar improvement program. Lee appeared before the Senate Aviation subcommittee.

Rothschild complained that the large increase in spending proposed by Lee was "a departure from policy" and had not been "adequately cleared" with Commerce Department leaders, Lee testified.

Lee's successor, Charles J. Lowen, told a New York audience today that while he was dissatisfied with the current rate of progress in air traffic control developments, "I must caution that these problems cannot be solved as fast as a hot typewriter can rattle out the words 'automatic' and 'billions.'"

Lowen also summoned top representatives of the airline and aircraft manufacturing industries, the airport operator groups and private and commercial pilots, along with military leaders, to a major industry-government conference here tomorrow on airport standards for the jet age.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Monroney (D-Okla), is seeking to learn whether Rothschild and Commerce Secretary Weeks acted improperly in firing Lee, and whether the CAA should be removed from Commerce Department control.

Corsets Banned During Lie Tests

CHICAGO, Jan. 10 (AP)—The 96 female employes of the Cook County (Chicago) Board of Election Commissioners were asked today not to wear corsets to work on specified days in the next couple of weeks.

The reason is that all members of the board's staff are being given lie detector tests in an effort to find out what happened to two missing vote registration cards. And corsets sometimes foul up such tests by interfering with the detector's measurement of the breathing rate.

State Employes Pay Hike Urged

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Standard Salary Board today recommended to Gov. McKeldin that all State employes be given graduated pay increases ranging from $85 to more than $700 per year.

James A. Downey, chairman, said if the plans are approved by McKeldin, the proposals will go before the State Legislature next month.

Along with the recommended pay boosts was a suggestion, previously approved by the governor, that employes in State institutions be paid overtime for work performed beyond a 40-hour per week limit. The present overtime cutoff is a 44-hour week.

The pay increases would range from 4.3 per cent for the highest paid employes to 10.9 per cent for those in the bottom rung of the pay scale.

Gov. McKeldin said in a Christmas Eve tax message he would put $4,600,000 into his budget for State salary increases and the costs of cutting the overtime limit from 44 to 40 hours for those working in hospitals, prisons, mental hospitals and other State institutions.

Airman-Composer Seeks "Gusty" Song For Fliers

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Even in the nation's capital, where astonishing careers are commonplace A.1.C. Serge de Gastyne stacks up as something pretty unusual.

In his 25 years he has been: A teen-age leader against the Nazis in the French underground; a young man who yearned to be an atomic scientist; a private who married the general's daughter, and a composer good enough to have his music played by the Cincinnati Symphony.

Even his job will startle former enlisted men. He's assigned to the Air Force Symphonic Band at Bolling Air Field, with instructions to stay at home and compose like crazy.

Yet Airman de Gastyne, Marquis de St. Maur, Count de Gastyne and Viscount de Mountauriant — to use his full title—hasn't been grounded by all this. He's small and lively, and he grins quickly and laughs loudly.

De Gastyne started composing largely by accident. During the Nazi occupation, he sometimes amused himself by playing the piano. When he tired of the only music available, he made up his own.

After the war was over, De Gastyne came to this country to study atomic science. But the dean of music at the University of Portland heard him play some of his original melodies, and persuaded him to study music in Oregon.

Along about the time of the Korean War, the draft board began taking an interest in young De Gastyne.

Assigned to the Sampson Band School, De Gastyne talked the commanding officer into letting him compose a musical panorama, "Conquest of the Air." And since he wasn't too sure of his English, he shrewdly got the general's daughter, Raylyn, to help him with the words.

Within a year, they were married.

Well, his first full symphony, "L'Ile Lumiere," was played last week in Cincinnati. Pianist Arthur Rubinstein said, "incredibly gifted." Critics seemed equally impressed, wallowing in such words as "remarkable," "attractive" and "ingenious."

De Gastyne has several other ideas in mind, including a new Air Force song. The old Army Air Corps "Into The Wild Blue Yonder" business, it seems, won't do.

"We need something more forceful," De Gastyne said. "You take the Reds' army marching song" — and here he broke off to sing a few bars of it. "You see? Real gusty."

"But our song" — and he hummed again — "it sounds like a bunch of marionettes. I've tried several ideas, but they were no good."

He's going to keep at it, though, until he finds something real gusty.

What do you do about it—when you meet interesting people you'd like to know better?

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

It's Your Move

One of the most winning sentiments one person can express to another is simply, "I'd like to know you better." Sometimes it can be spoken, often it's made clear in other ways, but the compliment is heart-warming.

How many more friends would you have if, instead of waiting for this encouragement from others, you'd take the initiative yourself? When you meet an attractive person, do you know how to further the acquaintance gracefully, or do you hold back for no god reason at all?

Over agressiveness never succeeds with those who are most worthwhile to konw. Too much restraint, on the other hand, may mean missing valuable friendships. It often takes no more than a clear sign that you're interested to reveal that the other person is equally interested in you.

You must go beyond conventional polite words to start the deepening of an acquaintance. Spend a little more time than is customary with the person who interests you when you meet her —or him. Try to vary the conversation enough from the usual to spark responses on a favorite subject. Then you can say cordially that you'd love to pursue the subject at another time, and may you call her? And make an appointement if you've mentioned it—the remark shouldn't be made unless it's sincere. If the person is a man, of course, you'll hope that after you've gracefully expressed interest in talking to him again that he will call you.

Another meeting at your instigation may be most enjoyable if it includes a mutual friend. And you can always ask those who are hardly more than slight acquaintances to be your guests if other guests include people they know. Your own good taste will suggest other ways of getting to know those who interest you better, but just be sure you act on them and don't wait for everyone to come first to you. The world is full of wonderful people, and there's no reason that you should miss knowing your share.

Heifer Project Became International In Giving As Well As Receiving In '55

NEW WINDSOR, Md., Jan. 10 (AP)—Heifer Project Inc., conceived as an American project to help farmers in other lands, became international in giving as well as receiving in 1955.

Donors in Canada, Holland, Panama, and Switzerland joined American givers in the interfaith effort to improve the lot of farmers in war-ruined and agriculturally undeveloped countries.

The people of Holland flew 60,120 duck eggs to Korea for hatching. These are Khaki-Kampbell ducks, a breed that is hardy, lays a large number of edible eggs, and can find feed in the marshy regions of Korea.

Swiss churchmen sent 50 prebred milk goats to refugees now living in Northern Greece. These goats will live and produce milk in mountainous regions where other types of cattle can't survive.

Some farmers in the United States also received help from the project. Negro and white farmers in Mississippi received 41 cattle and two goats. The farmers, former sharecroppers, became owners of small cotton farms but are in danger of losing their farms because of falling cotton prices. Under the direction of Prentiss Institute, a Negro school, they are now changing over to general farming.

In its annual review of its activities, Heifer Project reported that it shipped 895 cattle, 231 goats, 62,550 chicks, 63,480 hatching eggs and 150 pigs to 13 different countries last year.

Distribution of the livestock or poultry is made on the basis of need, ability to give proper care, and a promise to pass on the first-born offspring of the gifts to someone else in need.

Farmers in Angola, Austria, India, Ecuador, Germany, Greece, Italy, Japan, Korea, Mexico, Pakistan, Puerto Rico and the United States received help under the program.

It was the first time that any shipments were made by the project to Angola, India or Pakistan.

India received six Jersey bulls for use in a nationwide artificial insemination program. The bulls will be crossed with native Sindhi cattle. The breeding plan was developed at the U.S. Agricultural Experiment Station at Beltsville, Md., and resulted in an excellent hot weather mild producing cow.

School Blaze Believed Arson

POCOMOKE CITY, Md., Jan. 10 (AP)—"We definitely believe it to be arson," State's Attorney Daniel Prettyman said today during an investigation of the Sunday fire at the Stephen Long Elementary School for Negroes.

Prettyman made his statement after conferring with Henry Onley, fire marshal.

The eight-room school was ruined by the fire. The 250 children will return to classes tomorrow at three other schools in Worcester County.

Prettyman and police continued to question John Bonneville, 70-year-old janitor of the school, and Wilbur Milbourne, 27. Prettyman said Bonneville had been in the school an hour before the fire started and that Milbourne "acted suspiciously" at the blaze.

However, Prettyman said investigators were not ruling out someone else having set the fire.

School Bus Upsets; No One Injured

COLESVILLE, Md., Jan. 10 (AP)—A Montgomery County school bus driver and six children escaped injury today when a bus overturned on an icy road.

The bus overturned on its right side against a bank on Notley Road south of Sherwood Forest Drive.

The bus driver and the children escaped through an emergency door in the rear. All were returned to their homes by police.

The bus was headed for the Sandy Spring Negro Elementary School. Police said the driver, Mrs. Shirley Taylor, reported she applied the brakes lightly as she approached a downgrade. She said the bus began to slide, hit a dirt bank, and rolled over on its right side.

Anne Arundel County Commissioners Decline Underwater Gift

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 10 (AP) — The Anne Arundel County Commissioners have declined a gift of three and eleven-sixteenth acres of land from the Federal Government.

It's under water.

Rep. Herbert C. Bonner (D-NC) informed the commissioners by letter that his House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, "upon finding (this property) has no commercial value the site is to be donated to the pertinent local political unit having jurisdiction over the area."

But the commissioners said it wasn't going to be donated to them.

"What are we going to do with land that is under water?" they asked.

The property, a former Coast Guard Lighthouse known as Greenbury Point, is at the mouth of the Severn River.

Prisoner Released Two Years Early

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10 (AP)—William Leek, 21, was freed from prison today two years ahead of the time set by a circuit judge in Hagerstown.

Two years ago, Circuit Judge Joseph D. Mish sentenced Leek to three years in the House of Correction for destroying property at the state reformatory in Breathedsville.

Mrs. Goldie Miller, attorney for Leek, argued the sentence was illegal because just before that the law had been changed to make the maximum penalty one year and $500 fine.

Judge Herman M. Moser agreed and ordered Leek freed after he served one year in addition to his original reformatory sentence.

Judge Mish has since died.

Crash Injuries Fatal

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10 (AP)—Norman L. Knopp, 18, died today of injuries in an automobile accident Nov. 26. The car Knopp was driving went off Route 165 north of Harrettsville and overturned.

Arrested Fugitives Face Car Theft Quiz

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10 (AP)—Three men arrested this morning are to be returned to Rockville for questioning about stealing a car and then held for Virginia authorities as prison fugitives.

The three were arrested after trying to run away from a new car reported stolen from a Rockville garage Sunday night.

They were identified as Austin J. White Jr., 26, of Washington, D. C., Raymond Epps, 26, of Newport News, Va., and Thurmond Baker, 27, of Rockville.

In one out of every six families in the United States, either the husband or wife has been previously divorced.

Abraham Lincoln was the tallest President.

Martinsburg Airport Appropriation Upped

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Jan. 10 (AP)—Bradley D. Nash, deputy assistant secretary of the Air Force, encouraged voter approval of a $175,000 bond issue today by announcing the federal government plans to spend four million instead of three million dollars expanding the municipal airport.

The work will start in April if voters approve the bonds Feb. 7 to buy 200 acres of land needed for the expansion.

Nash said purchase and transfer of the land to the federal government is the only remaining detail before work can begin.

Originally, the government planned to spend two million dollars on extension of a runway and one million for buildings required when the West Virginia National Air Guard moved to Martinsburg from Charleston.

Nash said the federal appropriation has been increased by one million.

Heifer Project Became International In Giving As Well As Receiving In '55

NEW WINDSOR, Md., Jan. 10 (AP)—Heifer Project Inc., conceived as an American project to help farmers in other lands, became international in giving as well as receiving in 1955.

Donors in Canada, Holland, Panama, and Switzerland joined American givers in the interfaith effort to improve the lot of farmers in war-ruined and agriculturally undeveloped countries.

The people of Holland flew 60,120 duck eggs to Korea for hatching. These are Khaki-Kampbell ducks, a breed that is hardy, lays a large number of edible eggs, and can find feed in the marshy regions of Korea.

Swiss churchmen sent 50 prebred milk goats to refugees now living in Northern Greece. These goats will live and produce milk in mountainous regions where other types of cattle can't survive.

Some farmers in the United States also received help from the project. Negro and white farmers in Mississippi received 41 cattle and two goats. The farmers, former sharecroppers, became owners of small cotton farms but are in danger of losing their farms because of falling cotton prices. Under the direction of Prentiss Institute, a Negro school, they are now changing over to general farming.

In its annual review of its activities, Heifer Project reported that it shipped 895 cattle, 231 goats, 62,550 chicks, 63,480 hatching eggs and 150 pigs to 13 different countries last year.

Distribution of the livestock or poultry is made on the basis of need, ability to give proper care, and a promise to pass on the first-born offspring of the gifts to someone else in need.

Farmers in Angola, Austria, India, Ecuador, Germany, Greece, Italy, Japan, Korea, Mexico, Pakistan, Puerto Rico and the United States received help under the program.

It was the first time that any shipments were made by the project to Angola, India or Pakistan.

India received six Jersey bulls for use in a nationwide artificial insemination program. The bulls will be crossed with native Sindhi cattle. The breeding plan was developed at the U.S. Agricultural Experiment Station at Beltsville, Md., and resulted in an excellent hot weather mild producing cow.

School Blaze Believed Arson

POCOMOKE CITY, Md., Jan. 10 (AP)—"We definitely believe it to be arson," State's Attorney Daniel Prettyman said today during an investigation of the Sunday fire at the Stephen Long ' Elementary School for Negroes.

Prettyman made his statement after conferring with Henry Onley, fire marshal.

The eight-room school was ruined by the fire. The 250 children will return to classes tomorrow at three other schools in Worcester County.

Prettyman and police continued to question John Bonneville, 70-year-old janitor of the school, and Wilbur Milbourne, 27. Prettyman said Bonneville had been in the school an hour before the fire started and that Milbourne "acted suspiciously" at the blaze.

However, Prettyman said investigators were not ruling out someone else having set the fire.

School Bus Upsets; No One Injured

COLESVILLE, Md., Jan. 10 (AP)—A Montgomery County school bus driver and six children escaped injury today when a bus overturned on an icy road.

The bus overturned on its right side against a bank on Notley Road south of Sherwood Forest Drive.

The bus driver and the children escaped through an emergency door in the rear. All were returned to their homes by police.

The bus was headed for the Sandy Spring Negro Elementary School. Police said the driver, Mrs. Shirley Taylor, reported she applied the brakes lightly as she approached a downgrade. She said the bus began to slide, hit a dirt bank, and rolled over on its right side.

Prisoner Released Two Years Early

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10 (AP)—William Leek, 21, was freed from prison today two years ahead of the time set by a circuit judge in Hagerstown.

Two years ago, Circuit Judge Joseph D. Mish sentenced Leek to three years in the House of Correction for destroying property at the state reformatory in Breathedsville.

Mrs. Goldie Miller, attorney for Leek, argued the sentence was illegal because just before that the law had been changed to make the maximum penalty one year and $500 fine.

Judge Herman M. Moser agreed and ordered Leek freed after he served one year in addition to his original reformatory sentence.

Judge Mish has since died.

Crash Injuries Fatal

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10 (AP)—Norman L. Knopp, 18, died today of injuries in an automobile accident Nov. 26. The car Knopp was driving went off Route 165 north of Harrettsville and overturned.

Anne Arundel County Commissioners Decline Underwater Gift

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 10 (AP) — The Anne Arundel County Commissioners have declined a gift of three and eleven-sixteenth acres of land from the Federal Government.

It's under water.

Rep. Herbert C. Bonner (D-NC) informed the commissioners by letter that his House Merchant Marine and Fisheries Committee, "upon finding (this property) has no commercial value the site is to be donated to the pertinent local political unit having jurisdiction over the area."

But the commissioners said it wasn't going to be donated to them.

"What are we going to do with land that is under water?" they asked.

The property, a former Coast Guard Lighthouse known as Greenbury Point, is at the mouth of the Severn River.

Congress Back On Job In Poetical Mood

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP) — A cheering note today about the new Congress: It's back on the job in a poetical mood.

Verses blossomed in the first issue of the "Congressional Record" in which legislators had a chance to insert letters, editorials or speeches that appealed to them.

The honor of batting first for the Congressional Poetry Club of 1956 goes to Martha Herzog of Marion, Ind. She visited Hawaii, was deeply impressed, and so told her congressman, Rep. John V. Beamer (R-Ind), in 18 stanzas.

The windup, or kicker, stanza will give you the idea:

"Let's use consideration!
Let's end the lengthy debate!
Extend heart and hand to Hawaii,
And make her our forty-ninth state!"

It's nice to see Miss Herzog on the job, for versifying has been slithering downhill, politically, in recent years.

Once a party would no more think of entering a campaign without a poet laureate than a modern party would do without a television coach. Consider the poem ground out for William Henry Harrison in 1840, running for the presidency against Martin Van Buren. It included these practically immortal words:

"Little Van, Van, Van is a used up man."

This worked nicely, and Van Buren was beaten. Horace Greeley had less luck against U. S. Grant in 1872, even though his poet cranked out these words to be sung to the tune of "Yes, My darling Daughter:"

"Mother, may I go out to swim?
Yes, my dear, go freely.
Put on your white hat, your old white coat,
And vote for Horace Greeley."

Grant won, easily.

In recent years the habit has been sloughed off, although students of the "record" still occasionally find poetical oases.

In the past year Talbert Dick, a Des Moines patent attorney, wrote a 54-line, rhymed protest against H. R. 7416, which Rep. Paul Cunningham (R-Iowa) placed in the record. H. R. 7416 calls for an increase in Patent Office fees, and lawyer Dick registered his protest by writing a poem reciting the history of invention.

Possibly the most difficult writing job was done by Horace C. Carlisle of Winston-Salem, N. C., whose work was introduced by Rep. Patrick J. Hillings (R-Calif). Carlisle wrote his poem so the first letters of each line spelled out, in capitals, the poem's subject: Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Clifford Hall, state auditor of Delaware, wrote one that appealed to Rep. Harris B. McDowell Jr. (D-Del). Its title: "Ode to the White House Squirrels," and it dealt with the alleged order banning same from President Eisenhower's putting green. A couple of lines:

"So please, little squirrels, get you back in your beds,
Before you get shipped—to the Siberian Reds."

One poetry loving senator, Matthew M. Neely (D-WVa), got so carried away he wrote a poem himself. Neely turned poet after hearing a broadcast by the news commentator, Eric Sevareid. Neely's poem, as gravely recorded in the "Record:"

"Mr. Sevareid, bless you and the Columbia Broadcasting system!
May you both live a thousand years.
To sort of keep things lively in this vale of human tears;
And may I live a thousand, too—
No, a thousand less a day.
For I shouldn't like to be on earth to hear that either of you had passed away."

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—Offenbach's opera-buffe, "La Perichole," never before produced at the Metropolitan Opera, has been added to the production schedule for the 1956-57 season.

Cole Says Ike Shouldn't Run

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Rep. Cole (R-NY) said today "it is not in the best interest of the country" that President Eisenhower seek reelection to a second term.

Cole, former chairman of the joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee and high ranking Republican member of the House Armed Services Committee, said:

"It is not fair to Dwight Eisenhower to appeal to his sense of duty by urging him to run again."

Cole, asserting he was speaking not as "Republican partisan," said he felt confident his words would be "heard with understanding."

His remarks were prepared for inclusion in today's record of the proceedings of the House.

"I speak in opposition," Cole said, "to those who would urge a President of admittedly uncertain health to seek a second term. . . ."

Asking what is the "limit of a man's patriotic duty," Cole continued:

"Does the superior quality of his leadership condemn him forever to its burdens?

"Will the nation not be content with 41 years of a man's life in public service or do we demand all of it?"

Mental Health Fund

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Joint Commission on Mental Illness has received a $250,000 government grant for the first phase of a three-year study of ways to improve mental health.

The commission said Congress has authorized an additional $500,000 in grants through the Public Health Service, conditioned to some extent on added financial support from other sources.

The commission was organized by 20 leading medical and other organizations interested in the mental health field.

Russia To Return Porkkala To Finland

HELSINKI, Finland, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Russians notified Premier Urho Kekkonen today they will return the Porkkala military base area to Finland between Jan. 20 and Jan. 25.

Porkkala was leased to Russia for 50 years under terms of the 1944 Finnish-Russian peace treaty. The Russians announced during talks in Moscow last September they were giving up the base.

Ceres, the first known asteroid, was discovered in Sicily during 1800.

Mr. and Mrs. John Park will entertain in compliment to their son, Rev. John S. Park, and his fiancee, Miss Mary Jane Friend, with a party Friday night. It will be held following the wedding rehearsal, and will be at their home, 122 Virginia Avenue.

Miss Friend, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanton R. Friend, Friendsville, will become the bride of Rev. Park Saturday. The wedding ceremony is to be solemnized at 2 p. m. in Melvin Methodist Church with Rev. B. F. Hartman officiating.

Members of the bridal party are Miss Dorothy Streett, maid of honor; Miss Anna Lee Park, sister of the prospective bridegroom, bridesmaid; and Annie Marie Friend, her sister's junior bridesmaid. Elementary Principals Will Discuss Cafeteria Problems

Plans for the annual spring entertainment of the school patrols were discussed and a Nominating committee appointed by Miss Catherine Thomas at the meeting of the Elementary Principals Association, Monday night. The meeting was held at Central YMCA following a dinner.

The Cumberland patrol generally is entertained with a parade, lunch and movie at Allegany High School.

The Nominating committee, composed of Miss Kathryn Longeridge, chairman, Mrs. Florence Liller and Alfred Benna will report at the next meeting, at which time election will be held. Earle Bracey is chairman for the meeting committee.

It was announced that January 20 all elementary principals will meet with Mrs. Gladys Eaton, cafeteria supervisor; Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools; Miss Winifred Greene, Miss Mildred Willison and Miss Jane Botsford, supervisors of elementary education, to discuss problems of the cafeteria. The meeting will be held at 2 o'clock at the Board of Education building.

Miss Alma Logsdon offered the invocation for the dinner. ...AND THERE I WAS, IN THE BASEMENT!

"Last month, my husband came home early one Monday, and there I was, in the basement, doing my regular weekly wash.

"Of course, there was water all over the place, wet clothes were piled in the baskets and I was looking like anything but a sweet young housewife.

"Well, after he saw what I went through every week, I asked him to carry the clothes up the steps and out to the line—just like I usually have to do. That did it!

"Next day we saw the new electric washers and dryers, and the following Monday I used them to do my laundry.

"What a blessing! Try to get your husband to come home early some washday . . . maybe he'll understand then why you dread Mondays and get you a wonderful automatic washer and an electric dryer."

Motorist Charged With Manslaughter

Robert Scott Alexander, 33, Midland, has been indicted by the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter by motor vehicle in the death of Mary M. Cuthbertson, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Cuthbertson, Gilmore.

The child died in Miners Hospital at Frostburg on November 14 from injuries sustained two days previously when she was struck by a car on State Route 36 near her home.

Authorities said she was struck about 5:50 p. m. on November 12 as she was returning to her home from the store. Police said she was hit by Alexander's car as she crossed the highway at a point where it curves.

The child was struck by the left front fender of Alexander's machine. An autopsy performed at Memorial Hospital here disclosed she died from a brain injury, according to Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner.

Magistrates Elect Saturday

Two Cumberland magistrates have been nominated for state office by the nominating committee of Trial Magistrates Association of Maryland, Inc., which will hold its election and installation of officers in Baltimore Saturday.

J. Milton Dick has been selected for vice president and Donald W. Mason as trustee by the committee. The election will be held at the annual banquet of the association at the Lord Baltimore Hotel beginning at 6 p. m.

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin will address the association and dancing will follow the election and banquet.

Most of Allegany's trial magistrates plan to attend the affair and Trial Magistrates Court in the County Building on Union Streett will be closed all day Saturday.

Magistrate Morris Baron said, however, that Juvenile Court will remain open to handle routine matters although Baron indicated he intended to go to Baltimore for the meeting.

Judges Planning To Attend Judicial Meet In Baltimore

Members of the Fourth Judicial Circuit of Maryland will attend the annual judicial conference in Baltimore on January 19 and 20.

Chief Judges George Henderson and Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris of the local court and Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley of Garrett County will be among the 43 jurists who will attend.

Associate Judge D. Kenneth McLaughlin of Hagerstown will not attend the session as he will be on vacation, according to Judge Henderson.

The two-day conference will be featured by a number of panel discussions. Judge Henderson will participate on the panel which will discuss assignment of civil trials.

Speakers will include Dr. Manfred S. Guttmacher, chief medical officer for the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City, and Chief Judge Horace E. Stern of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

Presiding at the conference will be Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune of the Maryland Court of Appeals.

M.P. Says Schedule Prevented Stop Here

Mayor Roy W. Eves last week received a letter from W. M. F. Vane, M. P., expressing regret he was unable to visit Cumberland during his recent visit to the United States.

A member of the House of Commons, he explained the schedule drawn up for him and his wife was so tightly drawn they could not deviate from the route.

The Cumberland County legislator had planned to come here during a 1955 visit to help Cumberland celebrate its Bicentennial.

Contact Basins Being Built At Filter Plant

The George F. Hazelwood Company has started excavation for two large contact basins at the filtration plant at Lake Gordon, George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company, reported yesterday.

The fluorination process of city water will probably not get underway until they are completed this summer, he said.

The equipment that will put the fluorine in the water has been finished for quite some time, and is awaiting final approval by the boards of Health of Pennsylvania and Maryland.

That approval is expected when representatives of the two boards of health visit here Tuesday.

The mixing basins will each be 45 feet in diameter and will be 24 feet deep. Ten feet will be above ground.

When they are completed, the water will be drawn from the lake into the two basins. There the water will be mixed by mechanical means and all heavy sediment removed and fluorine added.

Next it will go into the filtration plant and then into the clear well for storage prior to being let into the main going to the city.

The present raw water basin that the mixing basins will replace will be utilized as a secondary clear well.

The fluorinator has been designed by Hitchcock. Several safety features have been included, such as a concrete drainoff and a plastic container for the rubber drums of fluorine.

Fluorine, which is used to combat tooth decay, is added to the proportion of one part of fluorine to 1,000,000 parts of water.

Employment Sets December Record

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The government reported today employment in December hit a record level for the month at 64,165,000 jobs.

The total was down about 640,000 from November. Usual seasonal cutbacks in farming and construction outweighed normal holiday gains in retail trades and the postal service.

The 64,165,000 jobs were still about 2½ million more than in December 1954.

The record for any month is 65,489,000, set last August.

Unemployment rose only slightly in December, increasing to 2,427,000. This was 411,000 fewer than in December 1954.

City Crews Work All Night Keeping Thoroughfares Open

City Street Department crews remained on duty all Monday night keeping main thoroughfares and bus routes open following the sleet and snow, Andrew Heller, street superintendent, reported.

Heller said four city trucks and men were first summoned about 4:15 p. m. Monday. Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz explained that the intermittent fall of sleet and then snow made the all-night work necessary.

City crews had to be extra careful in dispersing salt on streets because of the type of precipitation. Salt can damage street surfaces, he explained.

Heller said cinders and salt were used by crews where necessary. The situation was reported "under control" early yesterday morning.

Motorist Charged With Manslaughter

Robert Scott Alexander, 33, Midland, has been indicted by the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter by motor vehicle in the death of Mary M. Cuthbertson, nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Cuthbertson, Gilmore.

The child died in Miners Hospital at Frostburg on November 14 from injuries sustained two days previously when she was struck by a car on State Route 36 near her home.

Authorities said she was struck about 5:50 p. m. on November 12 as she was returning to her home from the store. Police said she was hit by Alexander's car as she crossed the highway at a point where it curves.

The child was struck by the left front fender of Alexander's machine. An autopsy performed at Memorial Hospital here disclosed she died from a brain injury, according to Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner.

Magistrates Elect Saturday

Two Cumberland magistrates have been nominated for state office by the nominating committee of Trial Magistrates Association of Maryland, Inc., which will hold its election and installation of officers in Baltimore Saturday.

J. Milton Dick has been selected for vice president and Donald W. Mason as trustee by the committee. The election will be held at the annual banquet of the association at the Lord Baltimore Hotel beginning at 6 p. m.

Governor Theodore R. McKeldin will address the association and dancing will follow the election and banquet.

Most of Allegany's trial magistrates plan to attend the affair and Trial Magistrates Court in the County Building on Union Streett will be closed all day Saturday.

Magistrate Morris Baron said, however, that Juvenile Court will remain open to handle routine matters although Baron indicated he intended to go to Baltimore for the meeting.

Contact Basins Being Built At Filter Plant

The George F. Hazelwood Company has started excavation for two large contact basins at the filtration plant at Lake Gordon, George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the Evitts Creek Water Company, reported yesterday.

The fluorination process of city water will probably not get underway until they are completed this summer, he said.

The equipment that will put the fluorine in the water has been finished for quite some time, and is awaiting final approval by the boards of Health of Pennsylvania and Maryland.

That approval is expected when representatives of the two boards of health visit here Tuesday.

The mixing basins will each be 45 feet in diameter and will be 24 feet deep. Ten feet will be above ground.

When they are completed, the water will be drawn from the lake into the two basins. There the water will be mixed by mechanical means and all heavy sediment removed and fluorine added.

Next it will go into the filtration plant and then into the clear well for storage prior to being let into the main going to the city.

The present raw water basin that the mixing basins will replace will be utilized as a secondary clear well.

The fluorinator has been designed by Hitchcock. Several safety features have been included, such as a concrete drainoff and a plastic container for the rubber drums of fluorine.

Fluorine, which is used to combat tooth decay, is added to the proportion of one part of fluorine to 1,000,000 parts of water.

Judges Planning To Attend Judicial Meet In Baltimore

Members of the Fourth Judicial Circuit of Maryland will attend the annual judicial conference in Baltimore on January 19 and 20.

Chief Judges George Henderson and Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris of the local court and Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley of Garrett County will be among the 43 jurists who will attend.

Associate Judge D. Kenneth McLaughlin of Hagerstown will not attend the session as he will be on vacation, according to Judge Henderson.

The two-day conference will be featured by a number of panel discussions. Judge Henderson will participate on the panel which will discuss assignment of civil trials.

Speakers will include Dr. Manfred S. Guttmacher, chief medical officer for the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City, and Chief Judge Horace E. Stern of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

Presiding at the conference will be Chief Judge Frederick W. Brune of the Maryland Court of Appeals.

M.P. Says Schedule Prevented Stop Here

Mayor Roy W. Eves last week received a letter from W. M. F. Vane, M. P., expressing regret he was unable to visit Cumberland during his recent visit to the United States.

A member of the House of Commons, he explained the schedule drawn up for him and his wife was so tightly drawn they could not deviate from the route.

The Cumberland County legislator had planned to come here during a 1955 visit to help Cumberland celebrate its Bicentennial.

Employment Sets December Record

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The government reported today employment in December hit a record level for the month at 64,165,000 jobs.

The total was down about 640,000 from November. Usual seasonal cutbacks in farming and construction outweighed normal holiday gains in retail trades and the postal service.

The 64,165,000 jobs were still about 2½ million more than in December 1954.

The record for any month is 65,489,000, set last August.

Unemployment rose only slightly in December, increasing to 2,427,000. This was 411,000 fewer than in December 1954.

City Crews Work All Night Keeping Thoroughfares Open

City Street Department crews remained on duty all Monday night keeping main thoroughfares and bus routes open following the sleet and snow, Andrew Heller, street superintendent, reported.

Heller said four city trucks and men were first summoned about 4:15 p. m. Monday. Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz explained that the intermittent fall of sleet and then snow made the all-night work necessary.

City crews had to be extra careful in dispersing salt on streets because of the type of precipitation. Salt can damage street surfaces, he explained.

Heller said cinders and salt were used by crews where necessary. The situation was reported "under control" early yesterday morning.

Local Witnesses Summoned For Hearing

A number of local witnesses, including two employed by the city, have been summoned to Hagerstown today for the start of a $125,000 damage suit resulting from the death of three persons in a local apartment dwelling three years ago.

The suit for support of four minor children was filed by Mrs. Mabel Johnson of near Parsons, W. Va., against Abraham Feldstein, building owner of this city, after three persons died of carbon monoxide poisoning.

The jury trial before Judge Kenneth McLaughlin in Washington County Circuit Court, is scheduled to get under way at 9:30 a. m.

Earlier, it was said at least 20 local witnesses were to be summoned. The two city employes called are City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and Lester Bolinger of the engineering department.

Mrs. Johnson filed the suit against Feldstein in behalf of her four children, Catherine, Alma, Martha and Marvin Junior Bohon, following the death of their father, Marvin Paul Bohon, November 18, 1952, in the gas-filled apartment. The children were 12, 7, 10 and 4 respectively at the time their father died.

Dead along with Bohon were his second wife, Flora Ellen Wandless Bohon, and her sister, Pearl E. Wandless. Bohon and Mrs. Johnson were divorced and each remarried prior to the mishap.

Bohon, his wife and her sister had moved into the Feldstein apartment building at 44 North Centre Street the day before all were found dead there on the evening of November 18, 1952.

Although the suit was filed in Allegany County Circuit Court the case was removed to Washington County for trial. Four other suits which also were filed against Feldstein as a result of the deaths were settled out of court.

City To Invest Idle Funds In US Securities

Part of the proceeds of the sale of the $750,000 Water Improvement Bonds of 1955 issue plus idle monies in all other funds where it is deemed advisable are going to be invested in U.S. securities by the city.

The Mayor and Council authorized City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson to make the move Monday at the request of Finance Commissioner John J. Long who said money will be available to the city as needed but while idle can be drawing a good interest rate.

Interest realized from the investment goes back into the bond fund, Gibson explained.

And he added: "Short term government securities yield such splendid percentage it has made it possible for those with funds to invest to realize a good return on their money."

It is estimated the present investment, the amount of which is yet to be figured, will yield about 2.4 per cent interest.

This is not the first time the city has been in a position to invest its funds until needed.

At the present time there is $900,000 of the $2,000,000 Sewage treatment plant bond issue invested.

Of that amount, $500,000 is in Treasury certificates of indebtedness at 2 per cent which is due August 15, 1956.

The other $400,000 is in Treasury bills and tax anticipation securities due March 23, 1956 at 2 per cent.

Gibson said that since the sewage bond issue was sold last year, about $800,000 has been paid out in connection with the construction contract and there is $300,000 in cash remaining in that bond fund.

Monday's action by council, marks the first time that idle monies in all funds, where possible, is to be invested, it was pointed out.

Board Will Hear Zoning Appeals

Two cases are scheduled to be heard by the City Board of Zoning Appeals Thursday at 8 p. m. in City Hall.

Earl L. Harper, 35 Race Street, has applied to use Lots 1 and 2 at the corner of South and Fourth streets as a temporary parking place for cars and trucks. The property is situated in a Residential B zoning district and is owned by Mrs. Stanley Burke, 10 Fifth Street.

The other hearing is in the application of Clyde S. Slider to build a one-story dwelling, 33 feet by 30 feet, on the lot at 811 Louisiana Avenue, which is 50 feet by 120 feet. The foundation is to be of concrete block, walls of brick and roof of asphalt shingles.

Lewine Will Attend Jewish Conference

Sander Y. Lewine, 125 South Mechanic Street, will be a delegate to the national conference on the Middle Eastern crisis, scheduled January 17 and 18 at the Shoreham Hotel in Washington.

The conference, sponsored by the 16 major American Jewish organizations, will discuss American policy toward Israel and the entire Middle East in light of the recent Czech-Egyptian arms deal and Soviet Russia's intrusion in that area.

Resident Urges Pedestrian Light

A letter received by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday concerning the traffic lights at the intersection of Greene Street and the new Cumberland-Ridgeley bridge will be turned over to Police Commissioner William V. Keegan of Cumberland.

The letter was sent to the board by John J. Mitchell, 118 Winton Place, who made a number of suggestions for improving the situation which he terms "hazardous." He said a traffic light for pedestrians should be placed to protect persons using the sidewalks adjacent to the Riverside Park section.

The board also received a letter from the Montgomery County Council inviting the commissioners to attend a conference January 19 on industrial and commercial development plans.

Men Of LaSalle To Sponsor Bazar

The annual bazar of the Men of LaSalle will be planned at a meeting of the organization Thursday at 8 p. m. in Carroll Hall, Norman F. Geatz Jr., president, reported.

The bazar will be held January 31 and February 1 and 2 in SS. Peter and Paul Parish Hall.

Geatz said proceeds will go toward the purchase of athletic equipment for LaSalle High School.

Brotemarkle Submits Low Bid For Bridge Project

The S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company, Inc., this city, was the apparent low bidder on the contract to build the new intersection of Route 36 with Route 40 one mile west of Cumberland.

The State Roads Commission opened bids yesterday in Baltimore on the project that calls for the intersection to be just east of the Western Maryland Railway main bridge.

In addition to a bridge across Braddock Run, the job calls for supplementary work necessary such as a retaining wall.

The bids were as follows:

Brotemarkle, $180,819; George Construction Company, this city, $192,699; David Goldberg and Son, of Uniontown, $219,160, and the John D. Sheetz Construction Company, Halethorpe, Md., $248,462.

The project is the first under a proposed relocation and modernization of the Mt. Savage Road toward Corriganville.

The new bridge will be constructed at a point just below the Western Maryland Railway Bridge and will run to the east of the railroad.

The new intersection will eliminate the low and dangerous underpass of the road under the Western Maryland Railway at Homewood Addition.

The bridge will be single span and will be made of steel beams. It will be about 61 feet long with a roadway ranging from 52 feet to 72 feet wide.

The job also entails a concrete retaining wall over Braddock Run.

The other hearing is in the application of Clyde S. Slider to build a one-story dwelling, 33 feet by 30 feet, on the lot at 811 Louisiana Avenue, which is 50 feet by 120 feet. The foundation is to be of concrete block, walls of brick and roof of asphalt shingles.

Lewine Will Attend Jewish Conference

Sander Y. Lewine, 125 South Mechanic Street, will be a delegate to the national conference on the Middle Eastern crisis, scheduled January 17 and 18 at the Shoreham Hotel in Washington.

The conference, sponsored by the 16 major American Jewish organizations, will discuss American policy toward Israel and the entire Middle East in light of the recent Czech-Egyptian arms deal and Soviet Russia's intrusion in that area.

Resident Urges Pedestrian Light

A letter received by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday concerning the traffic lights at the intersection of Greene Street and the new Cumberland-Ridgeley bridge will be turned over to Police Commissioner William V. Keegan of Cumberland.

The letter was sent to the board by John J. Mitchell, 118 Winton Place, who made a number of suggestions for improving the situation which he terms "hazardous." He said a traffic light for pedestrians should be placed to protect persons using the sidewalks adjacent to the Riverside Park section.

The board also received a letter from the Montgomery County Council inviting the commissioners to attend a conference January 19 on industrial and commercial development plans.

Men Of LaSalle To Sponsor Bazar

The annual bazar of the Men of LaSalle will be planned at a meeting of the organization Thursday at 8 p. m. in Carroll Hall, Norman F. Geatz Jr., president, reported.

The bazar will be held January 31 and February 1 and 2 in SS. Peter and Paul Parish Hall.

Geatz said proceeds will go toward the purchase of athletic equipment for LaSalle High School.

Brotemarkle Submits Low Bid For Bridge Project

The S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company, Inc., this city, was the apparent low bidder on the contract to build the new intersection of Route 36 with Route 40 one mile west of Cumberland.

The State Roads Commission opened bids yesterday in Baltimore on the project that calls for the intersection to be just east of the Western Maryland Railway main bridge.

In addition to a bridge across Braddock Run, the job calls for supplementary work necessary such as a retaining wall.

The bids were as follows:

Brotemarkle, $180,819; George Construction Company, this city, $192,699; David Goldberg and Son, of Uniontown, $219,160, and the John D. Sheetz Construction Company, Halethorpe, Md., $248,462.

The project is the first under a proposed relocation and modernization of the Mt. Savage Road toward Corriganville.

The new bridge will be constructed at a point just below the Western Maryland Railway Bridge and will run to the east of the railroad.

The new intersection will eliminate the low and dangerous underpass of the road under the Western Maryland Railway at Homewood Addition.

The bridge will be single span and will be made of steel beams. It will be about 61 feet long with a roadway ranging from 52 feet to 72 feet wide.

The job also entails a concrete retaining wall over Braddock Run.

Mass Higher Education Could Become Joke, College Head Says

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 10 (AP)—A college president said today mass education may reach the point where it will be "simpler—and cheaper—just to confer the bachelor's degree on all who apply at a given age and have managed to stay out of jail."

Goodrich C. White, president of Emory University, acknowledged that he spoke jokingly but told the Assn. of American Colleges convention "there are trends, nonetheless, which justify the question."

White and Russell Kirk, editor of the Conservative Review, spoke at a convention session on "Liberal Education: Scholarship and Teaching."

White told the representatives of 714 colleges that they should be concerned not so much with "why Johnny can't read" as with "why John, grown up, doesn't read, even though he holds a bachelor's degree."

"Often," he said, "This college graduate is constrained to admit—or to boast—that he hasn't read a book in years . . . to disavow any interest that might mark him as a highbrow."

The basic problem of American education, White said, is:

"How can we reconcile without sacrificing either, the democratic ideal of schooling for all with the ideal of excellence for those capable of attaining it?

The answer, he said, lies in the question "do we believe in education" for its own sake.

White conceded that "higher skill level accelerated economic progress and national security" are desirable products of education.

"But," he asked, "would we abandon education if it guaranteed none of these things?

"We would need scientists in the future if there were no Russia, if there were no threat anywhere to the peace of the world . . . because science is one of the great adventures of the human mind and spirit."

Kirk told the educators that the idea of private moral worth is giving way to "utilitarian" theories and called on the colleges to help prevent moral worth from being "consigned to the kingdom of the fairies."

The two great American principles apparent today, Kirk said, are that "a man must be judged by what he does and the chief qualification for a job is the ability to perform it."

"The fact that a Communist professor is not serving in the Red army does not entitle him to immunity from criticism," Kirk declared.

Muscovites Cheer "Porgy And Bess"

MOSCOW, Jan. 10 (AP)—An overflow Russian audience wept, cheered and stood up and applauded for 8½ minutes tonight at Moscow's opening performance of "Porgy and Bess."

It was another warm Soviet reception for the touring American troupe that gave its first performance in Russia at Leningrad on Dec. 26.

Most Russians couldn't follow the dialogue of the opera by George Gershwin and Dubose Heyward, but the music and color of the moving Negro tale hit home.

As the lights went on at the end, everyone in the audience stood up, many of them with tear-stained faces.

Scores of Communist militia held off thousands of onlookers who overflowed the sidewalks outside Stanislavsky Theater, where Porgy and Bess will play for seven nights.

Empire Sheath Makes Fashion News

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—The soft, gently fitted, short-jacketed suit and the stemlike empire sheath made news at the opening day of a crowded week of spring fashion openings yesterday. In attendance were some 200 fashion editors representing newspapers from all over the United States and abroad.

The newly feminine look in Easter suits highlights the Paul Parnes collection, dedicated to a softening of the severe silhouette. Suits here have slim skirts, short jackets, dressmaker touches and tender spring colors in addition to the perennial navy. A case in point is a pale yellow glen plaid worsted suit, with easily fitted hipbone - length jacket, a yellow velvet collar, slot-seam bands and rhinestone button trim. Shoulders are natural, sleeves are cuffed and bracelet length, the skirt is slim and the effect ladylike.

Jo Copeland does new tricks with the popular empire silhouette, with bib effects, belts just beneath the bustline, contrasting tops and draped bodices. Miss Copeland believes that a good dress deserves a double life, and so shows at least half of her collection with matchmates in the form of cropped jackets, brief capes, stoles and a few full-length coats.

She adds movement to the sheath silhouette by means of floating back panels, godets, tiered flounces and back blousing. This designer stars silk in all weaves and textures throughout the collection, and shows a number of costumes in unusual tawny tones ranging from beige through yellow and orange to russet.

Harry Frechtel also likes the softly tailored short jacket suit for spring, but shows the boxy cardigan and the semifitted jacket too. Although most skirts are slim, Frechtel shows a few prophetic costumes with fuller skirts and fitted jackets, featuring printed blouses matched to jacket linings.

Canada, Like U. S., In Midst Of Boom

Most Americans have been too busy with their own affairs and too flushed with their own prosperity to give more than a passing glance to what has been happening in the neighbor nation to the north. If they do look now, they will find a scene little different from the one at home. Canada, too, is in the midst of a tremendous boom.

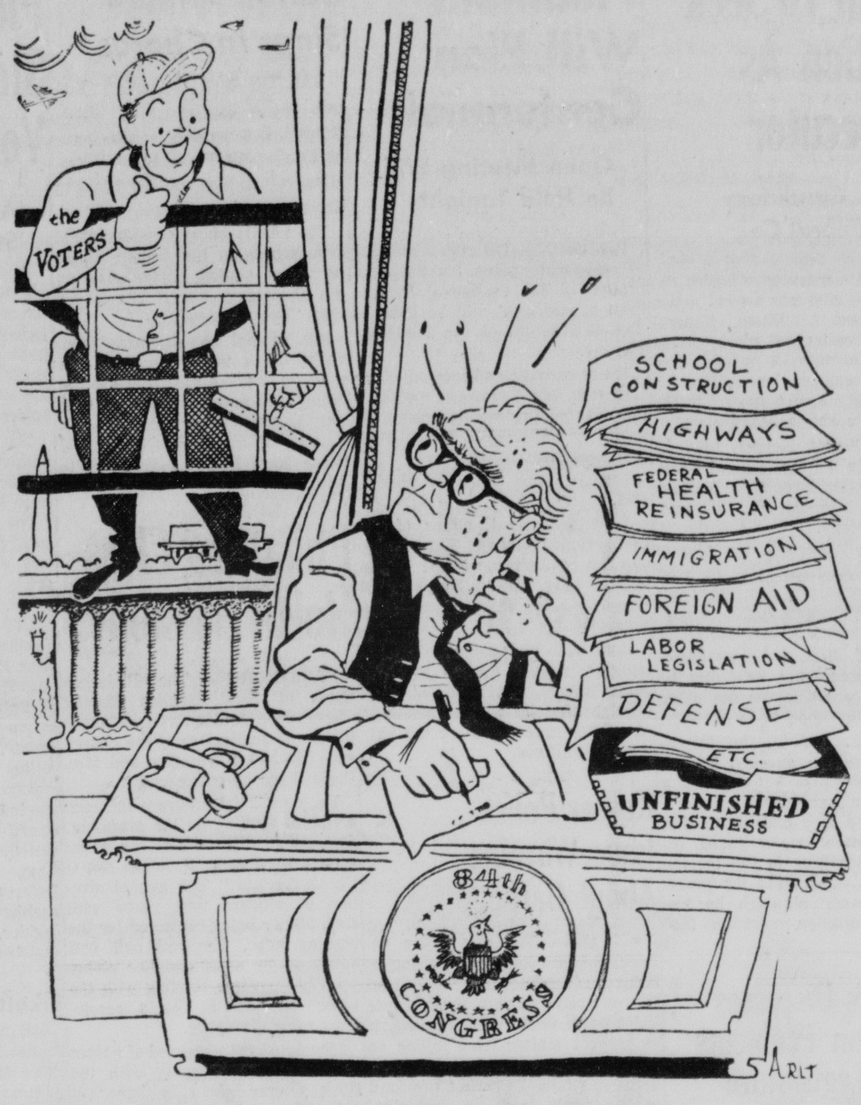
In the last 12 months, according to a report issued by Clarence D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, Canadians have seen the greatest rise in physical production in their history. The gross national product — the total of all goods and services produced — rose 10 per cent in 1955 to a total of $26 billion. No other nation of 16 million population can approach this record.

As Mr. Howe puts it, the expansion stems largely "from increasing world dependence on Canada as a source of industrial materials. Although Canadian industrial production is increasing, it is the raw materials of the country's forests, fields and mines that are the chief source of her wealth.

In that respect, Canada has lived up to the hopes of the men who founded the dominion better than her one-time partner, the American colonies that became the United States. Both were settled originally in the hope that they would serve as prime sources of raw materials and rich markets for the mother country's manufactured goods.

It is interesting to note that Canada shares one problem with the United States. She is also saddled with vast surpluses of unsold wheat. But the inhabitants of the countries of the New World are fortunate that they must worry over difficulties brought on by abounding plenty, instead of the problem of too many people and too little bread.

"Hot?—No, It's Fine Out Here!"



White House Friends Backed Change In Rules On Game Refuge Oil Drilling

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — If a Senate committee ever digs deep enough it will find some interesting White House friends in the background of the oil lease recently given to the Frankfort Oil Company to drill in the Lacassine Wildlife Refuge, hitherto barred from oil exploration.

Among them are two high officials of Seagrams whisky, one of them Ellis Slater, very close to Eisenhower. Slater was one of only three Ike intimates who traveled with the President on his plane when he flew from Key West to Washington on Sunday.

The Lacassine waterfowl refuge in the tidelands oil area of southern Louisiana is one of the federal reserves set aside by the Interior Department under an act of Congress to protect wildlife. It dates back to 1935 and is considered one of the most important bird refuges in the country. Hitherto these refuges have not been open to oil drilling, though repeated attempts were made by the oil companies to acquire leases.

In the case of the Lacassine refuge, four attempts were made to drill for oil while Oscar Chapman, Democrat, was secretary of the interior, the last application having been made by E. A. McKenna on October 2, 1952, just a month before Eisenhower was elected.

His application was rejected by Chapman on the ground that oil prospecting and drilling would injure the purpose for which Congress had set aside the refuge.

Generous Doug McKay

Some months passed, and with the Eisenhower administration now in office, McKenna applied again, June 10, 1953. This time he appealed direct to Secretary of the Interior "Generous Doug" McKay.

At that time conservation group, worried over possible changes by the new administration, made various representations to the Interior Department, and although several oil leases for game refuges were prepared and on the desk of Orme Lewis, assistant secretary of the interior, no oil leases were actually signed during 1953-54.

The pressure of the conservationists was too great.

Meanwhile independent oil man McKenna decided he was not influential enough to budge the Interior Department. So he interested the Frankfort Oil Company, a subsidiary Seagrams Distillers, one of the big three of the liquor business.

Seagrams was a $20,000 contributor to the Republican National Committee in 1948; also a heavy contributor to the Democrats. Three Seagrams directors and officials have also been friendly with Eisenhower.

Ellis Slater, president of Frankfort Distillers, is a leading member of the Augusta, Ga., golf club that built the little winter White House for the President. He is a frequent golfer with Ike, has attended his exculsive stag dinners, visited the President in Denver on Labor Day, again in Denver on September 14, played bridge with him in Key West on January 5 and was one of three intimate friends who flew back to Washington with him on January 8.

Frank Schwengel, president of Seagrams and a long list of Seagrams subsidiaries, is a retired major general who first knew the President when they served in World War I.

Jay Gould, executive vice president of Frankfort Distillers, was invited by Eisenhower to visit him in Denver, September 14.

Inside Lobbying

After the Seagrams-Frankfort officials took over McKenna's oil applications, things began to move.

First McKenna called at the Interior Department on July 7, 1955, with various officials to introduce them.

Then on September 30, 1955, the Frankfort people moved in full force. They were so confident of success that they submitted an operation plan for oil drilling in the Lacassine game refuge. They seemed to have assurances from other sources that their plan would be adopted.

Career officials in the Fish and Wildlife Service were flabbergasted. They had served through many years when their chiefs above had steadfastly made their decisions on the basis of recommendations down below. But now the opposite was true. Things were being decided at an extremely high level. There were even reports of calls from Sherman Adams in the White House.

Gen. Frank Schwengel, the very top man in Seagrams, now called personally at the Interior Department. He visited only the top brass.

Officials down below still resisted, but it was obvious they were being by-passed. In November, Gen. Schwengel, not content with the progress, called again. This time he got what he wanted.

About one week later the Interior Department OK'd the oil prospecting plans of the Frankfort Oil Company for 12,000 acres of the Lacassine game refuge, near the Gulf of Mexico in south central Louisiana. This is not far from the coveted tidelands oil area that the federal government and the state of Louisiana are squabbling over in the courts.

Almost simultaneously, Secretary McKay came up with new regulations authorizing oil and gas leasing on 252 of the other 264 game refuges. All 252 were opened to oil drilling.

Speed Up Leases

The new rules were a complete surprise to game-refuge experts in the Fish and Wildlife Service, who never saw them until they were sprung at a meeting of McKay's advisory committee on conservation.

The regulations were signed by "Generous Doug" McKay on the same day, and minutes later Harry J. Donohue, Interior Department special assistant, was on the telephone, issuing orders to Earl Thomas, assistant director of the Bureau of Land Management. The bureau, said Donohue, was to place the pending oil-gas applications for game refuges ahead of all other business. In other words, get the leases issued pronto!

At that point the Frankfort-Seagrams group was the only applicant with an approved operating plan, so its leases were the only ones involved. It took only two working days to process them, and they were finally issued on December 6 with a back date to December 1.

NOTE — Congress passed the first Wildlife Refuge Act under President Teddy Roosevelt and with the inspiration of the famous conservationist, Gifford Pinchot. Each game refuge is authorized by Congress; unless it is a gift by the state or a private individual.

3 Significant Items In Ike's Remarks To Press

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — There were three very significant pieces of news in that conference which President Eisenhower had with the reporters who interrogated him at Key West.

First, the President is in a flexible state of mind about running—whatever inclinations he has are tentative and can be changed.

Second, no final decision has been reached by the President whether or not to run.

Third, the President is open to persuasion on all the arguments, factors and recommendations that may hereafter be presented to him both by the doctors and his personal advisers on public affairs.

This all adds up to the conclusion that, since the President is the soul of candor, he would have told the American people if he had already reached a decision—he wouldn't try to be "coy about it," as he expressed it. The exact words of the question and answer on this point were:

Open To Argument

Reporter: "I find myself somewhat confused as to whether you have made up your mind at this time on whether you will run for a second term?"

The President: "No. My mind at this moment is not fixed. If it were, I would say so right here this second. But my mind is not fixed to such an extent that it can't be changed."

Plainly there is a hint here that the President himself is disinclined to run but that he is open to argument as to why he should run. If Mr. Eisenhower were thinking about what the doctors might say of an unfavorable nature later on, he wouldn't have referred to it as a topic on which he would have the freedom to change his mind either way.

What the President's reply most likely means is that he hasn't heard anything definite thus far from the doctors and realizes that he himself will have to make up his own mind.

There are some indications that the President as yet has not thought through all the implications of the decision he has to make. It is that there is no sure way he can prevent the "unexpected" from happening even if he decides to serve the fourth year of his term. After conceding that his health would be an important factor in his eventual decision about running for a second term, he said:

Many Precautions Ahead

"Now it is not merely what the doctors say to someone else, what the doctors say to me, it is a very critical thing to change governments in this country at a time that it is unexpected. We accustom ourselves and so do foreign governments—changing our government every four years — but always something happens that is untoward when a government is changed at other times. It is a rather startling thing. They tell me that even some disturbance in the stock market at the time I got sick —I didn't know it till six weeks later—they told me there was."

But if Mr. Eisenhower wants to be sure the country is protected against sudden change in the middle of a term, there are many precautions that he has to take in the next 12 months. Maybe he must not take so many airplane rides. Maybe he must not swing a golf club too vigorously. Maybe he will have to avoid the stress and strain of any controversy in public office.

For obviously there is no way Mr. Eisenhower can safeguard the nation against a sudden change in government between now and January 20, 1957—more than a year hence. The logic of what he said could be applied to a recently discussed suggestion that, being a forthright individual, Mr. Eisenhower—if he felt incapacitated to perform his full duties—would resign. Incidentally, there is a law on the statute books which provides that a president may submit his resignation at any time to the secretary of state, who then notifies the vice president.

Decision By March

The converse is also plausible. For, if Dwight Eisenhower feels well enough to serve the fourth year of his term, why wouldn't he endeavor to serve a second term?

So the President will have to answer it all himself—and he has promised to take everything into account, the arguments for and against — and by March at the latest will give his answer.

If the decision announced is negative, the Republican National Convention can still formally ask him to run, especially if by August his health has shown considerable improvement. The world situation at that time could well have a powerful influence on any final judgment both the convention and the President might render.

Colonialism

One of the most unpopular words in the currency of all languages is colonialism. The impression is being given that colonialism is all bad and that the people of all colonies suffered from their oppressors; that no benefits whatsoever were gained through the great enterprise of establishing and maintaining colonies.

For instance, in Burma, Nikita Khrushchev said:

"The colonialists convinced the oppressed peoples that the colonial peoples are unable to administer their countries. This lie was extensively inculcated into the minds of the peoples in order to hold them in submission. But are not the Burmese just as gifted as, say, the Russians or the British? Peoples are not divided into capable or incapable ones. If they are given equal chances, they will achieve success in their development. (Stormy applause)"

Stormy applause, indeed! What about Latvia, Lithuania, Poland? Are they not suffering from the worst kind of colonialism? What about Hungary or Czechoslovakia? And if the Burmese were as capable as the British, why did they never develop into a powerful state as little England did under Elizabeth I?

But these questions were not asked in Burma. They are never asked because when the British, the French, the Dutch control some weak or backward nation, it is called colonialism; but when the Russians seize such a great country as Hungary or East Germany, it is called liberation. Does the change of words change the facts? It does if one goes by words not by facts, and so many do just that.

In this same speech in Burma, Khrushchev said:

". . . If you need assistance, tell us and we will help you. We will help you with engineers, and we will share our experience with you . . ."

Of course, the United States has been doing all that and more through the Point Four program, but we are shy and reticent. Therefore, we get no credit for what we are doing. We still blow balloons up into the air and circulate pamphlets telling how wicked the Russians are but Khrushchev makes the world his hustings and delivers campaign arguments at every whistle stop in every country that lets him in. He promises heaven on earth and absorbs countries into the Soviet Universal State as though by osmosis, without firing a shot. Therefore, what he practices is not colonialism because Khrushchev and Bulganin are not Clive and Raffles. They are just two Marxists who make stump speeches on liberation and against colonialism.

So Khrushchev said:

"I address the generals, officers, and soldiers of the Union of Burma with a friendly wish for a further technical perfection. We, in the same way as you, are compelled to maintain armed forces. We bring them up in the spirit of love for the Motherland and in the spirit of being ready for self-sacrifice should this be required in the interests of defending our Motherland against the encroachment of foreign invaders."

What armed forces? Who has been trying to invade either Soviet Russia or Burma? Does one need any facts? Not these days! One needs only to use the telling words, false though they be. We Americans do not use the telling words. Our words have no hate in them, no vilification. We say that we believe in democracy but we do not say that we are capitalists, for the right of a man to keep and use his earnings, at his own risk and judgment, to gain or to lose in free competition with others.

No! We do not say that. What we say is democracy which no one defines so that there can be no mistake as to what we are talking about.

Others demand to know whether colonialism is democracy. We do not dare tell the wonderful story of the Western contribution to the weak and backward peoples of Asia and Africa, peoples who are even today adding to our woes and our costs of life.

When John Foster Dulles goes to Congress for more foreign aid, someone might ask him about that—what about what we have done for such a people like the Chinese from 1840 to 1945? And they accuse us, a people who have never taken an inch of their soil, of being colonialists. The time has come to give the lie to this accusation of colonialism.

Red Plot Of Patience

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (INS)—The range of television station WATV, Channel 13 in our town, is—like the range of all the others — limited by the hard facts of a straight electronic beam, the sneaky curvature of the earth, and the refusal of set owners 60 or 70 miles away to erect skyscraping TV antennae.

But a recent WATV show, Harry Sperber's "Foreign Press Report," reached the captive descendants of Genghis Khan in central southern Russia. Sperber, who gives us a sensible rundown on the Communist conspiracy every Saturday at 6:30 p. m., is a former New York sportswriter who wound up with the American team at Nuernberg trials and has been hot on the trial of Russkys and their villainy ever since. He should have a network show.

Sperber's words reached Turkestan and those among the Turkestani, Kirgisi and Tartars, who listen to Radio Free Europe. RFE picked up his program to let that forlorn place far behind the iron curtain know that we know what is happening there.

Plot Of Patience

We hear so much these days about the possibility of a lightning-like Russian attack via an intercontinental ballistics missile or some such that we tend to overlook the almost incredible patience of the Red plot. Sperber's outline of what is happening to ancient Turkestan is a case in point.

When the Reds took over that particular place their doctrine of atheism collided with the intensely religious spirit of these people, who truly lived by the Koran. Their Koran was written in the Tartar language but in Arabic script. It had been thus for a thousand years. Some 20-million people were involved. The Reds couldn't kill them all. So they ingeniously let the older people go on with their reading of the Koran and decreed that all other books, newspapers and periodicals would thereafter appear in Latin script. Only such works as Moscow wanted these people to read were published. The young were obliged to learn the new letters and urged to ignore the old. The Koran continued to be printed in Arabic but bit by bit it became a language the growing generations no longer knew or cared to. In time the familiar Cyrillian or Russian alphabet, replaced the Latin.

The Koran is no longer read by the young; its gentle lessons and its stories of Moses and Christ and the Prophets go ignored. A nation half the size of the United States has been successfully brainwashed. It took a quarter of a century but the Reds made it. The Koran and all it taught dies out a bit more with the death of every old person.

Yes, No, Maybe?

In his long-awaited news conference, the first since his heart attack, the President didn't say yes, didn't say no, and didn't even say maybe. Most significantly, he said that on the one hand there was the duty of running but on the other hand he spoke of his great fear of being unable to complete a second term.

The latter would be bad for the country, he remarked in the deadly serious vein that has come over him since his attack.

Bob Clark of INS took a poll of the 14 White House correspondents in attendance at the news conference. Eleven guessed Ike would not run again. The other three must be horse players in eternal search for a 100-to-1 shot.

Frank Hague is reported to have left millions. It just goes to show you what thrift can do, especially if you stay mayor of Jersey City at six or seven thousand dollars a year for 30 years.

Women Of Courage

A dear, dear friend named Oma Faris is dead after giving Death for the past year a battle it will never forget. She was the wife of the best newspaperman I know. And the sister of another great newspaper man, the late Steve Early. And the sister-in-law of the late George R. Holmes, who did so much to make Washington correspondence a profession rather than a trade. I didn't see Oma at the end. I wish I had. I would have asked her to leave me an ounce of her incredible courage, for it would have endowed me abundantly for life.

Childhood Feeding Problem Usually Not Serious

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Feeding problems are common in childhood but are not as serious as most parents believe. I doubt if anyone has ever heard of a youngster who starved to death because of refusal to eat, or who died prematurely because he turned down spinach, turnips, or poached eggs.

These dilemmas usually are solved by using common sense rather than argument or force. Physicians specializing in child care — through experience — have learned many tricks in handling such cases. The answer to one of the most frequent questions of this nature came to my attention recently.

It appeared in the Queries and Minor Notes section of the Journal of the American Medical Association. A Pennsylvania physician inquired about a 4½-year-old girl who would not eat unless fed. The parents were concerned about malnutrition and were disinclined to follow the advice given that the child feed herself.

The unnamed authority who answered the question agreed with the family physician that there was no danger of malnutrition and that Mom and Dad should let the child alone so that she would feed herself. He also believed that the parents might be playing a role and suggested: "Change the place of eating, change the dishes, and change the person who serves her."

The tyke should be told that things would be different from now on. Initially she was to be offered her favorite foods and those easiest to eat, including raw fruits and vegetables. Meanwhile she must learn to cut soft foods like well cooked meats, potatoes, and carrots, with a dull edged knife.

A noticeable change would take place if the youngster ate at kindergarten or nursery school with other children. Many of these boys and girls grow up emotionally when separated from Mother's apron strings because association with youngsters their own age permits them to join in the give and take of such companionship.

Feeding problems are more prevalent among toddlers between 1 and 2 years. They have graduated from the bottle and find walking and exploring more fun than eating. In addition, the little one in this age group is beginning to have a mind of his own and he strives for recognition. He soons learns that food makes an excellent bargaining agent.

Children grow weary of certain foods and may go on strike against milk, for example. When this occurs, the parents should not use threat or force. Rather than insisting, "You can't leave the table until you drink your milk," try making a glass of milk hard to get.

Meanwhile, employ strategy. A child this age does not realize that milk can be consumed in other ways. Put it in cereals, custards, and soups. The nutritional aspects of milk are the same whether it is taken from a glass, disguised in other foods, or eaten as cheese or ice cream.

LIGHT ON RINGWORM

REPLY

Ultraviolet is one of several treatments for ringworm, but it is far from the best. Other more effective remedies usually are prescribed.

FEARS SENILITY

REPLY

There is no evidence that softening of the brain is inherited. Meanwhile, avoid obesity and fatty foods, and live a life of moderation.

Try And Stop Me!

Samuel Hopkins Adams, 84-year-old author of "It Happened One Night," "Flaming Youth," and other best-sellers, had a grandfather who actually helped build the Erie Canal. This grandfather also had a friend whose wife in nearby Troy invented the linen collar. He disliked, however, newfangled railway trains, and didn't hold out much hope of success for a "feller named Eastman" who had invented "some kind of darn fool picture box" up Rochester way.

A Brooklyn, N. Y., police station house had an irate caller who reported that kids persisted in ringing his doorbell and asking if he had any empty boxes. "Any reason they should pick on you?" asked the lieutenant.

"None I can think of," said the complainant, "unless it's my occupation." Seems he's an undertaker.

Canada, Like U. S., In Midst Of Boom

Most Americans have been too busy with their own affairs and too flushed with their own prosperity to give more than a passing glance to what has been happening in the neighbor nation to the north. If they do look now, they will find a scene little different from the one at home. Canada, too, is in the midst of a tremendous boom.

In the last 12 months, according to a report issued by Clarence D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, Canadians have seen the greatest rise in physical production in their history. The gross national product — the total of all goods and services produced — rose 10 per cent in 1955 to a total of $26 billion. No other nation of 16 million population can approach this record.

As Mr. Howe puts it, the expansion stems largely "from increasing world dependence on Canada as a source of industrial materials. Although Canadian industrial production is increasing, it is the raw materials of the country's forests, fields and mines that are the chief source of her wealth.

In that respect, Canada has lived up to the hopes of the men who founded the dominion better than her one-time partner, the American colonies that became the United States. Both were settled originally in the hope that they would serve as prime sources of raw materials and rich markets for the mother country's manufactured goods.

It is interesting to note that Canada shares one problem with the United States. She is also saddled with vast surpluses of unsold wheat. But the inhabitants of the countries of the New World are fortunate that they must worry over difficulties brought on by abounding plenty, instead of the problem of too many people and too little bread.

White House Friends Backed Change In Rules On Game Refuge Oil Drilling

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — If a Senate committee ever digs deep enough it will find some interesting White House friends in the background of the oil lease recently given to the Frankfort Oil Company to drill in the Lacassine Wildlife Refuge, hitherto barred from oil exploration.

Among them are two high officials of Seagrams whisky, one of them Ellis Slater, very close to Eisenhower. Slater was one of only three Ike intimates who traveled with the President on his plane when he flew from Key West to Washington on Sunday.

The Lacassine waterfowl refuge in the tidelands oil area of southern Louisiana is one of the federal reserves set aside by the Interior Department under an act of Congress to protect wildlife. It dates back to 1935 and is considered one of the most important bird refuges in the country. Hitherto these refuges have not been open to oil drilling, though repeated attempts were made by the oil companies to acquire leases.

In the case of the Lacassine refuge, four attempts were made to drill for oil while Oscar Chapman, Democrat, was secretary of the interior, the last application having been made by E. A. McKenna on October 2, 1952, just a month before Eisenhower was elected.

His application was rejected by Chapman on the ground that oil prospecting and drilling would injure the purpose for which Congress had set aside the refuge.

Generous Doug McKay

Some months passed, and with the Eisenhower administration now in office, McKenna applied again, June 10, 1953. This time he appealed direct to Secretary of the Interior "Generous Doug" McKay.

At that time conservation group, worried over possible changes by the new administration, made various representations to the Interior Department, and although several oil leases for game refuges were prepared and on the desk of Orme Lewis, assistant secretary of the interior, no oil leases were actually signed during 1953-54.

The pressure of the conservationists was too great.

Meanwhile independent oil man McKenna decided he was not influential enough to budge the Interior Department. So he interested the Frankfort Oil Company, a subsidiary Seagrams Distillers, one of the big three of the liquor business.

Seagrams was a $20,000 contributor to the Republican National Committee in 1948; also a heavy contributor to the Democrats. Three Seagrams directors and officials have also been friendly with Eisenhower.

Ellis Slater, president of Frankfort Distillers, is a leading member of the Augusta, Ga., golf club that built the little winter White House for the President. He is a frequent golfer with Ike, has attended his exculsive stag dinners, visited the President in Denver on Labor Day, again in Denver on September 14, played bridge with him in Key West on January 5 and was one of three intimate friends who flew back to Washington with him on January 8.

Frank Schwengel, president of Seagrams and a long list of Seagrams subsidiaries, is a retired major general who first knew the President when they served in World War I.

Jay Gould, executive vice president of Frankfort Distillers, was invited by Eisenhower to visit him in Denver, September 14.

Inside Lobbying

After the Seagrams-Frankfort officials took over McKenna's oil applications, things began to move.

First McKenna called at the Interior Department on July 7, 1955, with various officials to introduce them.

Then on September 30, 1955, the Frankfort people moved in full force. They were so confident of success that they submitted an operation plan for oil drilling in the Lacassine game refuge. They seemed to have assurances from other sources that their plan would be adopted.

Career officials in the Fish and Wildlife Service were flabbergasted. They had served through many years when their chiefs above had steadfastly made their decisions on the basis of recommendations down below. But now the opposite was true. Things were being decided at an extremely high level. There were even reports of calls from Sherman Adams in the White House.

Gen. Frank Schwengel, the very top man in Seagrams, now called personally at the Interior Department. He visited only the top brass.

Officials down below still resisted, but it was obvious they were being by-passed. In November, Gen. Schwengel, not content with the progress, called again. This time he got what he wanted.

About one week later the Interior Department OK'd the oil prospecting plans of the Frankfort Oil Company for 12,000 acres of the Lacassine game refuge, near the Gulf of Mexico in south central Louisiana. This is not far from the coveted tidelands oil area that the federal government and the state of Louisiana are squabbling over in the courts.

Almost simultaneously, Secretary McKay came up with new regulations authorizing oil and gas leasing on 252 of the other 264 game refuges. All 252 were opened to oil drilling.

Speed Up Leases

The new rules were a complete surprise to game-refuge experts in the Fish and Wildlife Service, who never saw them until they were sprung at a meeting of McKay's advisory committee on conservation.

The regulations were signed by "Generous Doug" McKay on the same day, and minutes later Harry J. Donohue, Interior Department special assistant, was on the telephone, issuing orders to Earl Thomas, assistant director of the Bureau of Land Management. The bureau, said Donohue, was to place the pending oil-gas applications for game refuges ahead of all other business. In other words, get the leases issued pronto!

At that point the Frankfort-Seagrams group was the only applicant with an approved operating plan, so its leases were the only ones involved. It took only two working days to process them, and they were finally issued on December 6 with a back date to December 1.

NOTE — Congress passed the first Wildlife Refuge Act under President Teddy Roosevelt and with the inspiration of the famous conservationist, Gifford Pinchot. Each game refuge is authorized by Congress; unless it is a gift by the state or a private individual.

3 Significant Items In Ike's Remarks To Press

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — There were three very significant pieces of news in that conference which President Eisenhower had with the reporters who interrogated him at Key West.

First, the President is in a flexible state of mind about running—whatever inclinations he has are tentative and can be changed.

Second, no final decision has been reached by the President whether or not to run.

Third, the President is open to persuasion on all the arguments, factors and recommendations that may hereafter be presented to him both by the doctors and his personal advisers on public affairs.

This all adds up to the conclusion that, since the President is the soul of candor, he would have told the American people if he had already reached a decision—he wouldn't try to be "coy about it," as he expressed it. The exact words of the question and answer on this point were:

Open To Argument

Reporter: "I find myself somewhat confused as to whether you have made up your mind at this time on whether you will run for a second term?"

The President: "No. My mind at this moment is not fixed. If it were, I would say so right here this second. But my mind is not fixed to such an extent that it can't be changed."

Plainly there is a hint here that the President himself is disinclined to run but that he is open to argument as to why he should run. If Mr. Eisenhower were thinking about what the doctors might say of an unfavorable nature later on, he wouldn't have referred to it as a topic on which he would have the freedom to change his mind either way.

What the President's reply most likely means is that he hasn't heard anything definite thus far from the doctors and realizes that he himself will have to make up his own mind.

There are some indications that the President as yet has not thought through all the implications of the decision he has to make. It is that there is no sure way he can prevent the "unexpected" from happening even if he decides to serve the fourth year of his term. After conceding that his health would be an important factor in his eventual decision about running for a second term, he said:

Many Precautions Ahead

"Now it is not merely what the doctors say to someone else, what the doctors say to me, it is a very critical thing to change governments in this country at a time that it is unexpected. We accustom ourselves and so do foreign governments—changing our government every four years — but always something happens that is untoward when a government is changed at other times. It is a rather startling thing. They tell me that even some disturbance in the stock market at the time I got sick —I didn't know it till six weeks later—they told me there was."

But if Mr. Eisenhower wants to be sure the country is protected against sudden change in the middle of a term, there are many precautions that he has to take in the next 12 months. Maybe he must not take so many airplane rides. Maybe he must not swing a golf club too vigorously. Maybe he will have to avoid the stress and strain of any controversy in public office.

For obviously there is no way Mr. Eisenhower can safeguard the nation against a sudden change in government between now and January 20, 1957—more than a year hence. The logic of what he said could be applied to a recently discussed suggestion that, being a forthright individual, Mr. Eisenhower—if he felt incapacitated to perform his full duties—would resign. Incidentally, there is a law on the statute books which provides that a president may submit his resignation at any time to the secretary of state, who then notifies the vice president.

Decision By March

The converse is also plausible. For, if Dwight Eisenhower feels well enough to serve the fourth year of his term, why wouldn't he endeavor to serve a second term?

So the President will have to answer it all himself—and he has promised to take everything into account, the arguments for and against — and by March at the latest will give his answer.

If the decision announced is negative, the Republican National Convention can still formally ask him to run, especially if by August his health has shown considerable improvement. The world situation at that time could well have a powerful influence on any final judgment both the convention and the President might render.

In his long-awaited news conference, the first since his heart attack, the President didn't say yes, didn't say no, and didn't even say maybe. Most significantly, he said that on the one hand there was the duty of running but on the other hand he spoke of his great fear of being unable to complete a second term.

The latter would be bad for the country, he remarked in the deadly serious vein that has come over him since his attack.

Bob Clark of INS took a poll of the 14 White House correspondents in attendance at the news conference. Eleven guessed Ike would not run again. The other three must be horse players in eternal search for a 100-to-1 shot.

Frank Hague is reported to have left millions. It just goes to show you what thrift can do, especially if you stay mayor of Jersey City at six or seven thousand dollars a year for 30 years.

Women Of Courage

A dear, dear friend named Oma Faris is dead after giving Death for the past year a battle it will never forget. She was the wife of the best newspaperman I know. And the sister of another great newspaper man, the late Steve Early. And the sister-in-law of the late George R. Holmes, who did so much to make Washington correspondence a profession rather than a trade. I didn't see Oma at the end. I wish I had. I would have asked her to leave me an ounce of her incredible courage, for it would have endowed me abundantly for life.

Childhood Feeding Problem Usually Not Serious

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Deilen

Feeding problems are common in childhood but are not as serious as most parents believe. I doubt if anyone has ever heard of a youngster who starved to death because of refusal to eat, or who died prematurely because he turned down spinach, turnips, or poached eggs.

These dilemmas usually are solved by using common sense rather than argument or force. Physicians specializing in child care — through experience — have learned many tricks in handling such cases. The answer to one of the most frequent questions of this nature came to my attention recently.

It appeared in the Queries and Minor Notes section of the Journal of the American Medical Association. A Pennsylvania physician inquired about a 4½-year-old girl who would not eat unless fed. The parents were concerned about malnutrition and were disinclined to follow the advice given that the child feed herself.

The unnamed authority who answered the question agreed with the family physician that there was no danger of malnutrition and that Mom and Dad should let the child alone so that she would feed herself. He also believed that the parents might be playing a role and suggested: "Change the place of eating, change the dishes, and change the person who serves her."

The tyke should be told that things would be different from now on. Initially she was to be offered her favorite foods and those easiest to eat, including raw fruits and vegetables. Meanwhile she must learn to cut soft foods like well cooked meats, potatoes, and carrots, with a dull edged knife.

A noticeable change would take place if the youngster ate at kindergarten or nursery school with other children. Many of these boys and girls grow up emotionally when separated from Mother's apron strings because association with youngsters their own age permits them to join in the give and take of such companionship.

Feeding problems are more prevalent among toddlers between 1 and 2 years. They have graduated from the bottle and find walking and exploring more fun than eating. In addition, the little one in this age group is beginning to have a mind of his own and he strives for recognition. He soons learns that food makes an excellent bargaining agent.

Children grow weary of certain foods and may go on strike against milk, for example. When this occurs, the parents should not use threat or force. Rather than insisting, "You can't leave the table until you drink your milk," try making a glass of milk hard to get.

Meanwhile, employ strategy. A child this age does not realize that milk can be consumed in other ways. Put it in cereals, custards, and soups. The nutritional aspects of milk are the same whether it is taken from a glass, disguised in other foods, or eaten as cheese or ice cream.

TOMORROW: Overexertion during cold weather.

LIGHT ON RINGWORM

T. D. writes: Will ultraviolet light cure ringworm of the skin?

REPLY

Ultraviolet is one of several treatments for ringworm, but it is far from the best. Other more effective remedies usually are prescribed.

BREAK THE ROUTINE

H. C. writes: How can I get out of a rut. I can't afford to go to a psychologist.

REPLY

Ruts are manmade and are never too deep to crawl out of, provided the individual is willing to take the initiative. Try new approaches to your work and recreation.

HAPPY LANDING

C. T. writes: I had a stroke a year ago and feel fine except that my blood pressure is 200. Can I fly to Miami for the winter?

REPLY

Your physician, who knows your physical condition, is better able to answer this question than I am. As a rule, hypertension is not a bona fide reason for giving up air travel because the majority of commercial liners are pressurized.

KIDNEY DISEASE

F. S. writes: What is the most common cause of kidney trouble?

REPLY

Infection.

NOT VALVULAR

R. T. writes: What is functional murmur?

REPLY

One appearing in an otherwise normal heart. There are various ways in which functional murmurs can be differentiated from those caused by a deformity of the valve (leakage).

FEARS SENILITY

Mrs. Z. writes: What causes premature senility? Both my parents became this way in their early 60s and I'm worried now that I have reached my 40s.

REPLY

There is no evidence that softening of the brain is inherited. Meanwhile, avoid obesity and fatty foods, and live a life of moderation.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellan will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

Samuel Hopkins Adams, 84-year-old author of "It Happened One Night," "Flaming Youth," and other best-sellers, had a grandfather who actually helped build the Erie Canal. This grandfather also had a friend whose wife in nearby Troy invented the linen collar. He disliked, however, newfangled railway trains, and didn't hold out much hope of success for a "feller named Eastman" who had invented "some kind of darn fool picture box" up Rochester way.

A Brooklyn, N. Y., police station house had an irate caller who reported that kids persisted in ringing his doorbell and asking if he had any empty boxes. "Any reason they should pick on you?" asked the lieutenant.

"None I can think of," said the complainant, "unless it's my occupation." Seems he's an undertaker.

Educator Tells Frostburg Club Of Australia

Fulbright Scholar Visited "Down Under"

FROSTBURG — Dr. Dorothy G. Howard, chairman of the English Department of State Teachers College, who returned last summer after having served as an American Fulbright Research Scholar with the University of Melbourne, Melbourne, Australia, was the speaker at Monday's meeting of the Frostburg Rotary Club at Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Dr. Howard was introduced by Dr. John Dunkle, a former president of the college.

As an American Fulbright Research Scholar, Dr. Howard spent nine and one half months in Australia from July 4, 1954, to April 15, 1955. The Fulbright program is a plan for a peacetime cultural exchange between the United States and allied countries of World War II.

Every Fulbright Research Scholar sent from the United States is commissioned by the State Department in Washington with two responsibilities: One, to carry out a research study in a specialized field and second, to act as ambassador of good will from the American people. As a research scholar sponsored by the School of Education, University of Melbourne, Dr. Howard's task was collecting and studying the traditional play customs of Australian children.

This undertaking took her to all six of the Australian states where she visited schoolgrounds and classrooms of government and non-government schools, visited in homes where there were children; visited old people and wrote to them about the play customs of their childhood; talked to educators, parents, librarians, ethnologists and anthropologists, and ministers of churches. The results of this study were described briefly in "The Journal of Education" March, 1955, published by the Victorian Institute of Educational Research, in Victoria, Australia and the entire study is now being organized for publication in magazine articles and book form in the United States.

"Australia and the United States of America have a common heritage in language, literature and law," Dr. Howard said. "Australian history from earliest colonial days has been linked directly or indirectly with American history. Our common plight in World War II drew us closer together than we had ever been before; and since World War II, Australians are looking more and more to the United States for leadership in developing their vast continent into a self-sufficient powerful nation."

She continued, "As the result of World War II experience, Australians realize the necessity of becoming a powerful nation as in their own right, as soon as possible. Therefore they have passed new immigration laws and are bringing in migrants as fast as they can assimilate them, according to set plans which include subsidy to migrants from England, Europe and America."

"Australia is a rich, expanding country almost as large as the United States and possibly as wealthy in minerals as we are."

"American capital and American scientific skill are now being sought by the Australians to hasten their national development. The Australian Treasury Department estimates the present capital value of American firms in Australia at $350,000,000.

"In cultural development the Australians also are looking more and more toward America. Under the Fulbright program about 50 Australians came to the United States in 1954 and about the same number of Americans were awarded Fulbright grants to work in Australia. These grants cover fields such as engineering, medicine, education, the arts, anthropology, geology and others."

Dr. Howard closed by saying: "As your ambassador of good will, I worked hard and did my best. But, I am glad to be home again."

Mahoney Files His Candidacy For U.S. Senate

ANNAPOLIS, Jan. 10 (AP)—George P. Mahoney plunked down his $270 filing fee today and signed the papers officially making him a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate.

The 52-year-old paving contractor from Baltimore, making his fourth bid for Statewide office since 1950, took care of the formalities with James P. Brock, administrative assistant to the Secretary of State.

Mahoney, unsuccessful in the 1952 Senate race and the 1950 and 1954 gubernatorial primaries, became the second Democrat to declare himself for the seat now held by Republican Sen. John Marshall Butler.

Andrew J. Easter, Baltimore-Washington draftsman, took the plunge early last year.

Butler has announced he will seek renomination but has not filed. Already in the Republican race are Henry J. Laque, Linthicum junk dealer, and D. John Markey, retired Army general from Frederick who lost narrow decisions to Democrat Herbert R. O'Conor in 1946 and to Butler in 1950.

Even as Mahoney was filing, word came from Baltimore that supporters of Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro were intensifying their efforts to get him into the race soon.

George Hofferbert, former Collector of Internal Revenue, acknowledged a petition was being circulated among City Council members urging the mayor to drop the other shoe. He has done everything but formally announce his candidacy.

Frostburg Women Raise $450 For GOP

FROSTBURG—The "Thank You, Mr. President" campaign in Frostburg resulted in collection of $450, Mrs. Noel Speir Cook, director, reported last night.

Members of the Women's Republican Club of Frostburg last Wednesday made a house to house canvass of Republican homes in the Frostburg vicinity, and Mrs. Cook said the money, totaling $450, has been forwarded to Republican State Central Committee headquarters in Baltimore.

In other activity, the club, meeting last Wednesday night, voted to send Mrs. Cook and Miss Katherine Close, club president, to the "Salute to Eisenhower" dinner at the Lord Baltimore Hotel in Baltimore on January 20. Funds for this event, a $100-a-plate affair, were appropriated from the club treasury, Mrs. Cook said. She added that there is no connection between this event and the "Thank You, Mr. President" campaign for funds.

William H. Lemmert, board president, also received an invitation from J. G. Jackson, secretary of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland, to attend a meeting at the Fort Cumberland Hotel at 8 p. m. January 17 to stress the importance to the entire state of the port of Baltimore.

Sentinels Top Bruce High In 68-66 Thriller

Campers Beat Beall, 52-49; Valley High Downs Indians, 73-58

W.M.I. STANDINGS

Valley	2	0	Fort Hill	1	1
Allegany	2	0	Beall	0	2
Bruce	1	1	Mt. Savage	0	2

Valley High School's Black Knights and Allegany High's Campers moved into a tie for first place in the W.M.I. League by scoring victories last night but Bruce High of Westernport was knocked off the rung when Fort Hill High's Sentinels edged the Bulldogs in a 68-66 thriller on the Fort Hill court.

Coach Gene Shaw's Allegany floormen notched their second win of the league campaign by beating Beall High School in the Mountain City by the score of 52 to 49 while Coach John Meyers' Valley hoopsters made it 2-0 by handing Mt. Savage its second setback on the Mt. Savage court by the score of 73-58.

Malone's Fouls Decide

Two foul goals scored by Harold Malone after the final whistle broke a 66-66 tie and gave Fort Hill its initial win of the league season. Galen McGregor's two free throws with seconds left to play knotted the count at 66-all.

McGregor and Ronnie Detwiler led the Fort Hill attack with 18 and 15 markers while Gene Dawson was Bruce's top scorer with 17, followed by Riggins and Devore with 13 each. Ronnie Moreland played a nice floor game and scored four goals for the winners.

The score was tied six times in this battle—at 2, 29, 31,35, 55 and 66—and the lead changed hands eleven times.

Clarence "Pooch" Lewis of Fort Hill fouled out with one minute to play in the second period.

Fort Hill's Jayvees defeated Bruce in the preliminary game, 56-42.

Three Score 60 Points

John Johnson, Robert "Cokie" Robertson and "Butch" Young tallied 60 of Valley's 73 points in the game at Mt. Savage. And that was enough to trim the Indians. Johnson set the pace with 25 tallies, Robertson followed with 20 and Young had 15. Charley Luman and George Bishields had 18 and 17, respectively for the losers.

Bill Clauson of Mt. Savage left the game via the personal foul route with one minute remaining in the final period.

Win At Foul Line

Beall outscored Allegany from the field, 16 to 14, but the Campers pitched in 24 of 38 free throws to put the game on ice at Frostburg. The Mountaineers meshed 17 of 30 shots at the foul line.

Beall took a 4-0 lead at the start of the game but Allegany forged ahead 12-11 at the quarter and stayed out in front the remainder of the game.

Kenny Johnson sparked the Campers' attack with 18 points while Thompson and Parker headed Beall with 13 and 11 markers. Carl Brown was ejected on personal fouls 4½ minutes before the final whistle.

Allegany's Jayvees topped Beall in the opener, 74-23.

"Sweet Tatum" Pie Appears On Menu

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Jan. 10 (AP)—"Sweet Tatum" pie appeared on a cafe menu here today in honor of Jim Tatum, the University of North Carolina's new football coach.

It was announced yesterday that Tatum had resigned at Maryland effective Jan. 31 to take the post. Today, the talk here was of nothing but Tatum's signing. Tatum played his college football at North Carolina.

Restaurant owner George Livas said his "Sweet Tatum" pie sold well at 15 cents a cut.

Milton Julian, a haberdasher, noting that Sunny Jim wore a big, gray, Texas-type 10-gallon hat on his visit here last week, placed an order for three dozen just like it.

Julian said he will place "Welcome, Tatum" labels on the hatbands and expects quick sales.

Nine Dodgers In Fold

BROOKLYN, Jan. 10 (AP)—Bob Wilson and Gino Cimoli, two rookie outfielders from Montreal of the International League, today signed their 1956 Brooklyn Dodger contracts. Including Sandy Koufax, bonus pitcher who will be finishing the second part of his two-year contract, the latest signings bring the Dodger total to nine.

Wilson batted .317 and Cimoli .306 at Montreal. Both are right-handed hitters. They will be tossed into the left field battle with Sandy Amoros, Jackie Robinson, Junior Gilliam, Dick Williams, Bert Hamric and George Shuba at the Vero Beach, Fla., training camp.

Aptly named horses. A yearling filly by Wolf Bait has been named Red Riding Hood and now is at Hialeah Park in Florida.

The deadline for Baseball's Hall of Fame voting is January 23.

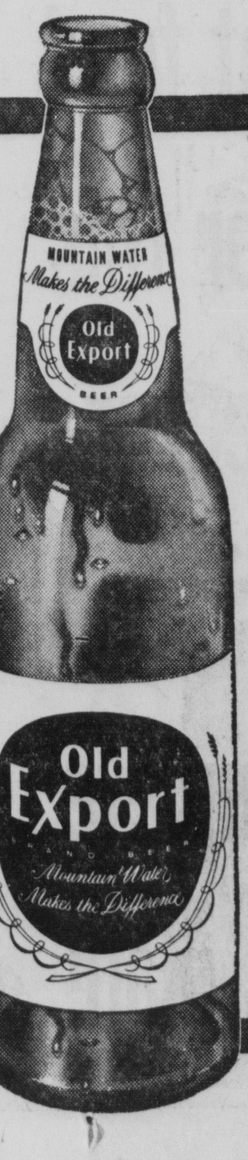
I ALWAYS ASK FOR Old Export* IT'S ALL BEER!



...says Joseph E. Mackert
420 Franklin St., Cumberland
Printer, Cumberland Times-News

"I prefer Old Export for a very simple reason. It tastes better! It isn't just another of the light, dry beers that you find today. Of course, I'd guess you'd say it is light and dry, but it goes beyond this. Best way I can think of to describe Old Export is that it's real beer. Beer just the way I like it. The way most people want a beer to be. Plus the fact you can depend on its quality. You know you're getting your money's worth every time. It's real beer . . . ALL beer!"

The taste for real beer never changes. And there's only one way to brew a real beer. There's nothing secret or mysterious about it. But it does take more than just choice, select ingredients. It takes time. Lots of time. And it takes patience and skill. The latter two you can only learn from experience (we've been brewing beer for more than 66 years). You'll see what we mean when you try Old Export. For your own pleasure, make it soon.

* ALL (ôl), adj.—means everything.

IT'S ALL BEER—ALL-WAYS!

Sentinels Top Bruce High In 68-66 Thriller

Campers Beat Beall, 52-49; Valley High Downs Indians, 73-58

Valley	2	0	Fort Hill	1	1
Allegany	2	0	Beall	0	2
Bruce	1	1	Mt. Savage	0	2

Valley High School's Black Knights and Allegany High's Campers moved into a tie for first place in the W.M.I. League by scoring victories last night but Bruce High of Westernport was knocked off the rung when Fort Hill High's Sentinels edged the Bulldogs in a 68-66 thriller on the Fort Hill court.

Coach Gene Shaw's Allegany floormen notched their second win of the league campaign by beating Beall High School in the Mountain City by the score of 52 to 49 while Coach John Meyers' Valley hoopsters made it 2-0 by handing Mt. Savage its second setback on the Mt. Savage court by the score of 73-58.

Malone's Fouls Decide

Two foul goals scored by Harold Malone after the final whistle broke a 66-66 tie and gave Fort Hill its initial win of the league season. Galen McGregor's two free throws with seconds left to play knotted the count at 66-all.

McGregor and Ronnie Detwiler led the Fort Hill attack with 18 and 15 markers while Gene Dawson was Bruce's top scorer with 17, followed by Riggins and Devore with 13 each. Ronnie Moreland played a nice floor game and scored four goals for the winners.

The score was tied six times in this battle—at 2, 29, 31,35, 55 and 66—and the lead changed hands eleven times.

Clarence "Pooch" Lewis of Fort Hill fouled out with one minute to play in the second period.

Fort Hill's Jayvees defeated Bruce in the preliminary game, 56-42.

Three Score 60 Points

John Johnson, Robert "Cokie" Robertson and "Butch" Young tallied 60 of Valley's 73 points in the game at Mt. Savage. And that was enough to trim the Indians. Johnson set the pace with 25 tallies, Robertson followed with 20 and Young had 15. Charley Luman and George Bishields had 18 and 17, respectively for the losers.

Bill Clauson of Mt. Savage left the game via the personal foul route with one minute remaining in the final period.

Win At Foul Line

Beall outscored Allegany from the field, 16 to 14, but the Campers pitched in 24 of 38 free throws to put the game on ice at Frostburg. The Mountaineers meshed 17 of 30 shots at the foul line.

Beall took a 4-0 lead at the start of the game but Allegany forged ahead 12-11 at the quarter and stayed out in front the remainder of the game.

Kenny Johnson sparked the Campers' attack with 18 points while Thompson and Parker headed Beall with 13 and 11 markers. Carl Brown was ejected on personal fouls 4½ minutes before the final whistle.

Allegany's Jayvees topped Beall in the opener, 74-23.

"Sweet Tatum" Pie Appears On Menu

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., Jan. 10 (AP)—"Sweet Tatum" pie appeared on a cafe menu here today in honor of Jim Tatum, the University of North Carolina's new football coach.

It was announced yesterday that Tatum had resigned at Maryland effective Jan. 31 to take the post. Today, the talk here was of nothing but Tatum's signing. Tatum played his college football at North Carolina.

Restaurant owner George Livas said his "Sweet Tatum" pie sold well at 15 cents a cut.

Milton Julian, a haberdasher, noting that Sunny Jim wore a big, gray, Texas-type 10-gallon hat on his visit here last week, placed an order for three dozen just like it.

Julian said he will place "Welcome, Tatum" labels on the hatbands and expects quick sales.

Nine Dodgers In Fold

BROOKLYN, Jan. 10 (AP)—Bob Wilson and Gino Cimoli, two rookie outfielders from Montreal of the International League, today signed their 1956 Brooklyn Dodger contracts. Including Sandy Koufax, bonus pitcher who will be finishing the second part of his two-year contract, the latest signings bring the Dodger total to nine.

Wilson batted .317 and Cimoli .306 at Montreal. Both are right-handed hitters. They will be tossed into the left field battle with Sandy Amoros, Jackie Robinson, Junior Gilliam, Dick Williams, Bert Hamric and George Shuba at the Vero Beach, Fla., training camp.

Aptly named horses. A yearling filly by Wolf Bait has been named Red Riding Hood and now is at Hialeah Park in Florida.

The deadline for Baseball's Hall of Fame voting is January 23.

The loss was Ridgeley's second against three wins in the conference.

I ALWAYS ASK FOR Old Export * IT'S ALL BEER!

420 Franklin St., Cumberland
Printer, Cumberland Times-News

"I prefer Old Export for a very simple reason. It tastes better! It isn't just another of the light, dry beers that you find today. Of course, I'd guess you'd say it is light and dry, but it goes beyond this. Best way I can think of to describe Old Export is that it's real beer. Beer just the way I like it. The way most people want a beer to be. Plus the fact you can depend on its quality. You know you're getting your money's worth every time. It's real beer . . . ALL beer!"

The taste for real beer never changes. And there's only one way to brew a real beer. There's nothing secret or mysterious about it. But it does take more than just choice, select ingredients. It takes time. Lots of time. And it takes patience and skill. The latter two you can only learn from experience (we've been brewing beer for more than 66 years). You'll see what we mean when you try Old Export. For your own pleasure, make it soon.

* ALL (ôl), adj.—means everything.

IT'S ALL BEER—ALL-WAYS!

White Sox Invite Tommy Richards To Advance Camp

Carlos Hurler Is Northern Loop's 1955 Strikeout King

Won 17, Fanned 208, Had 2.59 ERA For 6th Place Superior, Wis.

TOMMY RICHARDS

Strikeout king and 17-game winner in the Class "C" Northern League last year, Tommy Richards, 20-year-old right-hander of Carlos, Allegany county, has been invited to go to the Chicago White Sox advance camp which gets under way February 20, at Tampa, Fla., according to Don Unferth, assistant publicity director of the American League club.

The advance camp is for "best prospects" and Tampa is the spring training base of the Pale Hose.

Richards is currently on the roster of the Colorado Springs Club of the Class "A" Western League.

Pitching for the sixth place Superior (Wis.) Blues of the Northern League in 1955, the Carlos lad compiled a fine record, which resulted in his promotion to Class "A" for this year.

Fanned 208 Batsmen

He appeared in 31 games, twenty of which were complete. He won 17 games while losing only 10 for a second division club. Tommy hurled 222 innings and allowed 155 hits while fanning 208 batsmen and walking 139.

Richards' earned run average of 2.59 was third in the league while he topped the circuit in strikeouts and tied for second place in number of victories scored.

Making his debut in organized ball with the Dubuque (Iowa) Class "D" affiliate of the White Sox in 1954, Richards started the campaign as a third baseman but switched to the mound and won eight while losing six games for the Packers.

Signed As Infielder

White Sox Scout Harry Postove, Norfolk, Va., signed Richards in October 1953 after the latter had won 11 games and lost three for Beall High School's Bi-State Conference co-champions and posted a 6-5 record for the Frostburg Demons of the Bi-State League. Tommy, however, was signed and given a $1,000 bonus on the strength of his flashy performances as third baseman for the Demons. And it was at the hot corner that he made his minor league debut at Dubuque.

Beall's Ace Of 1953

In 1953 with Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's Beall High team, Richards toiled on the rubber in 14 of the 16 games played by the Mountaineers, was the loop's strikeout king with 123 victims and won the last five games of the season to enable the Frostburg school to tie Hyndman High for championship honors, each team having won 12 games and lost four. He was the third best hitter in the league, having garnered 23 hits in 51 official at bats in 16 games for an average of .451.

Richards played American Legion junior baseball with Midland Post teams for several seasons and broke in as a pitcher at Beall with a 1-0 record in 1952 when Enordo "Moose" Arone, southpawed the Mountaineers to the title with an 11-1 mark.

Ted Lyons Was Teacher

Last year Richards went into spring training with the Superior Blues at Hollywood, Fla., where he learned many of the finer points about pitching from Ted Lyons, one-time major league mound greats who was voted into Baseball's Hall of Fame last year.

Tommy is 6 feet tall and now tips the beam at 180 pounds. He was graduated from Beall High School in June, 1953. He makes his home during the off season with his parents, Wilbert and Goldie Richards at Carlos, three miles from Frostburg.

Hale Comes To Terms

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10 (AP)—Bob Hale, the most amazing hitter on the Baltimore Orioles last season, came to terms today for 1956.

Rizzuto Is First Yankee To Sign

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—Little Phil Rizzuto, the oldest New York Yankee in point of service, became the first member of the American League champions to sign his 1956 contract when he agreed to terms today.

No terms were announced but it was believed that the 37-year-old shortstop, now reduced to part-time duty, accepted a sizable cut that reduced his salary to $25,000.

Rizzuto, in his 12th active season with the Yankees in 1955, appeared in 81 games, but completed hardly half of them. He went to bat a mere 143 times and wound up with a .259 batting average, 14 points below his lifetime mark of .273.

The pros are eyeing Rod (Hot Rod) Hundley, the West Virginia cage scoring ace. He's a clown on the court and would attract plenty of fans.

Hahn Applies For Maryland Coaching Job

Fort Hill's Mentor Seeks Gridiron Post Vacated By Tatum

William P. "Bill" Hahn, who helped build University of Maryland football teams from 150 miles away, now wants to coach the Terps.

Bill Hahn

Coach of Fort Hill High School championship teams, Hahn has applied for the top coaching spot at Maryland, made vacant by Jim Tatum's move to North Carolina.

Hahn, during Tatum's reign, is believed to have sent more players to Maryland than any scholastic coach in the state. Seven former Fort Hill gridders were on Maryland's 1955 squad.

Two Fort Hill graduates became captains of the Terps, Fred Davis in 1949 and John Alderton in 1952.

In Hahn's eleven years at Fort Hill, the school's football teams have won 85 games, lost 11 and tied six. Since he got out of the Navy in 1946, Fort Hill teams have won the city championship or tied for it.

Hahn's teams use the split-T, as did Tatum.

A native of Tucker County, W. Va., Hahn was a three-sports star at Shepherd College. He's married and has two sons.

Hahn coached at Piedmont, Ridgeley and Spencer, W. Va., before taking over the reins at Fort Hill in 1942.

His application went to University of Maryland president Dr. Wilson Elkins by letter.

Others seeking the top spot are Tommy Mont, formerly of Cumberland, and now Maryland backfield coach, and Bob Ward, line coach and former All-America at Maryland.

Hahn has the full support of the Fort Hill Boosters Club which will recommend Hahn for the post in a letter to Dr. Elkins.

Busher Fantasy, the Maine Chance Farm's top candidate for the Flamingo race, owes his life to a ladies' beauty cream. Elizabeth Arden, owner of the stable, nursed Busher Fantasy's mother back to health with the cream after she was badly burned and scared in a stable fire.

Stuckenschneider Is Signed By Nats

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Washington Senators today signed a pitcher who—if he makes the grade in professional baseball—is going to drive radio announcers—and headline writers crazy. His name: Victor H. Stuckenschneider.

It's pronounced shtoo-ken-shny-der.

The Senators represented themselves as being delighted with the fellow. He's a graduate of the University of Utah and in the past two years, pitching for the Army team at Ft. Sill, Okla., he won 21 games, including a no hitter. He lost 3.

Stuckenschneider was signed by Art Baker, Senators' scout in the Rocky Mountain area, and was assigned to the club's double A farm club at Chattanooga, Tenn.

In three years pitching for the University of Utah, this fellow won 16 games and lost 4. He's 24 years old, weighs 180 pounds and stands 6 feet 1.

White Sox Invite Tommy Richards To Advance Camp

Won 17, Fanned 208, Had 2.59 ERA For 6th Place Superior, Wis.

TOMMY RICHARDS

Strikeout king and 17-game winner in the Class "C" Northern League last year, Tommy Richards, 20-year-old right-hander of Carlos, Allegany county, has been invited to go to the Chicago White Sox advance camp which gets under way February 20, at Tampa, Fla., according to Don Unferth, assistant publicity director of the American League club.

The advance camp is for "best prospects" and Tampa is the spring training base of the Pale Hose.

Richards is currently on the roster of the Colorado Springs Club of the Class "A" Western League.

Pitching for the sixth place Superior (Wis.) Blues of the Northern League in 1955, the Carlos lad compiled a fine record, which resulted in his promotion to Class "A" for this year.

Fanned 208 Batsmen

He appeared in 31 games, twenty of which were complete. He won 17 games while losing only 10 for a second division club. Tommy hurled 222 innings and allowed 155 hits while fanning 208 batsmen and walking 139.

Richards' earned run average of 2.59 was third in the league while he topped the circuit in strikeouts and tied for second place in number of victories scored.

Making his debut in organized ball with the Dubuque (Iowa) Class "D" affiliate of the White Sox in 1954, Richards started the campaign as a third baseman but switched to the mound and won eight while losing six games for the Packers.

Signed As Infielder

White Sox Scout Harry Postove, Norfolk, Va., signed Richards in October 1953 after the latter had won 11 games and lost three for Beall High School's Bi-State Conference co-champions and posted a 6-5 record for the Frostburg Demons of the Bi-State League. Tommy, however, was signed and given a $1,000 bonus on the strength of his flashy performances as third baseman for the Demons. And it was at the hot corner that he made his minor league debut at Dubuque.

Beall's Ace Of 1953

In 1953 with Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's Beall High team, Richards toiled on the rubber in 14 of the 16 games played by the Mountaineers, was the loop's strikeout king with 123 victims and won the last five games of the season to enable the Frostburg school to tie Hyndman High for championship honors, each team having won 12 games and lost four. He was the third best hitter in the league, having garnered 23 hits in 51 official at bats in 16 games for an average of .451.

Richards played American Legion junior baseball with Midland Post teams for several seasons and broke in as a pitcher at Beall with a 1-0 record in 1952 when Enordo "Moose" Arone, southpawed the Mountaineers to the title with an 11-1 mark.

Ted Lyons Was Teacher

Last year Richards went into spring training with the Superior Blues at Hollywood, Fla., where he learned many of the finer points about pitching from Ted Lyons, one-time major league mound greats who was voted into Baseball's Hall of Fame last year.

Tommy is 6 feet tall and now tips the beam at 180 pounds. He was graduated from Beall High School in June, 1953. He makes his home during the off season with his parents, Wilbert and Goldie Richards at Carlos, three miles from Frostburg.

Hahn Applies For Maryland Coaching Job

Fort Hill's Mentor Seeks Gridiron Post Vacated By Tatum

Bill Hahn

William P. "Bill" Hahn, who helped build University of Maryland football teams from 150 miles away, now wants to coach the Terps.

Coach of Fort Hill High School championship teams, Hahn has applied for the top coaching spot at Maryland, made vacant by Jim Tatum's move to North Carolina.

Hahn, during Tatum's reign, is believed to have sent more players to Maryland than any scholastic coach in the state. Seven former Fort Hill gridders were on Maryland's 1955 squad.

Two Fort Hill graduates became captains of the Terps, Fred Davis in 1949 and John Alderton in 1952.

In Hahn's eleven years at Fort Hill, the school's football teams have won 85 games, lost 11 and tied six. Since he got out of the Navy in 1946, Fort Hill teams have won the city championship or tied for it.

Hahn's teams use the split-T, as did Tatum.

A native of Tucker County, W. Va., Hahn was a three-sports star at Shepherd College. He's married and has two sons.

Hahn coached at Piedmont, Ridgeley and Spencer, W. Va., before taking over the reins at Fort Hill in 1942.

His application went to University of Maryland president Dr. Wilson Elkins by letter.

Others seeking the top spot are Tommy Mont, formerly of Cumberland, and now Maryland backfield coach, and Bob Ward, line coach and former All-America at Maryland.

Hahn has the full support of the Fort Hill Boosters Club which will recommend Hahn for the post in a letter to Dr. Elkins.

Stuckenschneider Is Signed By Nats

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The Washington Senators today signed a pitcher who—if he makes the grade in professional baseball—is going to drive radio announcers—and headline writers crazy. His name: Victor H. Stuckenschneider.

It's pronounced shtoo-ken-shny-der.

The Senators represented themselves as being delighted with the fellow. He's a graduate of the University of Utah and in the past two years, pitching for the Army team at Ft. Sill, Okla., he won 21 games, including a no hitter. He lost 3.

Stuckenschneider was signed by Art Baker, Senators' scout in the Rocky Mountain area, and was assigned to the club's double A farm club at Chattanooga, Tenn.

In three years pitching for the University of Utah, this fellow won 16 games and lost 4. He's 24 years old, weighs 180 pounds and stands 6 feet 1.

Horsemen Ask Governor For Earlier Dates

Urge Jan. 21 Start For Charles Town

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Jan. 10 (AP)—The Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Assn. urged Gov. William C. Marland today to have Charles Town's request to start racing Jan. 21 reconsidered.

The West Virginia Racing Commission refused the unprecedented early start and instead authorized Feb. 4. This later start would have Charles Town operating the same time in March as Bowie in Maryland.

Bruce Campbell, president of the horsemen's association in the two states, said a meeting of 200 yesterday had resolved to ask Marland to reconsider the Jan. 21 date.

Campbell said he had wired the governor these "pertinent facts":

1. Fears regarding the hardships to horsemen, jockeys and public due to weather could be experienced as well in February and March. Furthermore, all three groups would be well protected by the stewards who in the past have called off racing when weather conditions became hazardous.

2. All records show that when Charles Town has run in opposition to nearby tracks, the mutuel play has been off about 50 per cent.

3. The commission is further jeopardizing the mutuel play by making it advantageous for horses to be shipped south rather than wait for the Feb. 4 date. There are about 800 horses there now ready for immediate racing.

4. Charles Town is better equipped for winter racing than ever before with a track drier, snow blower and adequately heated clubhouse, grandstand and paddock.

Satterfield Favored

CHICAGO, Jan. 10 (AP)—Dynamite-fisted Bob Satterfield is an 8-5 favorite over improving Johnny Holman in their nationally-televised heavyweight bout at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night (10 p.m. EST-ABC).

These two veteran Chicagoans, persistent members of the "I wanna fight Marciano" crowd, have impressive knockout records.

Bill Grieve Retires As Major Umpire

CHICAGO, Jan. 10 (AP)—The retirement of Umpire Bill Grieve was announced today by Will Harridge, president of the American League.

Grieve, 55, had been an American League arbiter for 18 seasons. He officiated in the 1941, 1948 and 1953 World Series and the 1941 and 1949 All-Star games.

Grieve, who lives in Yonkers, N.Y., served in the Eastern League and American Assn. before joining the American League umpiring staff. The staff's full complement numbers 16.

Harridge said that two minor league umpires, yet to be designated, probably will be given trials during spring training in Florida for replacement of Grieve.

Perez was confident of defending the crown he won from Japan's Yoshio Shirai at Tokyo, Nov. 25, 1954. He stopped Shirai in a return bout, May, 31, 1955 also at Tokyo.

Horsemen Ask Governor For Earlier Dates

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Jan. 10 (AP)—The Horsemen's Benevolent Protective Assn. urged Gov. William C. Marland today to have Charles Town's request to start racing Jan. 21 reconsidered.

The West Virginia Racing Commission refused the unprecedented early start and instead authorized Feb. 4. This later start would have Charles Town operating the same time in March as Bowie in Maryland.

Bruce Campbell, president of the horsemen's association in the two states, said a meeting of 200 yesterday had resolved to ask Marland to reconsider the Jan. 21 date.

Campbell said he had wired the governor these "pertinent facts":

1. Fears regarding the hardships to horsemen, jockeys and public due to weather could be experienced as well in February and March. Furthermore, all three groups would be well protected by the stewards who in the past have called off racing when weather conditions became hazardous.

2. All records show that when Charles Town has run in opposition to nearby tracks, the mutuel play has been off about 50 per cent.

3. The commission is further jeopardizing the mutuel play by making it advantageous for horses to be shipped south rather than wait for the Feb. 4 date. There are about 800 horses there now ready for immediate racing.

4. Charles Town is better equipped for winter racing than ever before with a track drier, snow blower and adequately heated clubhouse, grandstand and paddock.

Satterfield Favored

CHICAGO, Jan. 10 (AP)—Dynamite-fisted Bob Satterfield is an 8-5 favorite over improving Johnny Holman in their nationally-televised heavyweight bout at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night (10 p.m. EST-ABC).

These two veteran Chicagoans, persistent members of the "I wanna fight Marciano" crowd, have impressive knockout records.

Perez Defends Title Tonight

BUENOS AIRES, Jan. 10 (AP)—Flyweight Champion Pascual Perez of Argentina matches his whirlwind style against challenger Leo Espinosa of the Philippines tomorrow night in a 15-round title fight, the first world championship match ever held in Buenos Aires.

Fans queued up in a block-long line outside Luna Park today to buy standing room tickets. Promoters predicted a sellout crowd of 25,000.

Perez was confident of defending the crown he won from Japan's Yoshio Shirai at Tokyo, Nov. 25, 1954. He stopped Shirai in a return bout, May. 31, 1955 also at Tokyo.

Clingerman's first place team with a record of 29-7 entertains the Hi-Dee Club and the runner-up Frostburg American Legion (26-10) plays host to Pocahontas in tonight's top matches in the Allegany County Ladies' Shuffleboard League.

In other matches the Frostburg Eagles play at Golden Nugget, Cas Taylor's at Green's Chevrolet, Stadium Inn at Woodmen of the World and Purple Heart Club at Cresaptown.

St. Vincent's Plays Bobcats Saturday Night In Frostburg

St. Vincent College's basketball team will play Frostburg State Teachers College in Frostburg Saturday night at 8 o'clock instead of at Latrobe, Pa., as originally scheduled, Kenneth, athletic director at the Frostburg school announced last night.

The Pennsylvania school asked for the change.

Frostburg will play at Latrobe on February 8.

Television And Radio

by John Crosby

Blueprints Are Exciting

The Zeckendorf plan to build a $100,000,000 Palace of Progress all over Pennsylvania Station has now been abandoned as too small, parochial and cheap for such supermen as Mr. Zeckendorf and Billy Rose. Now we are regaled with plans for a half billion dollar project which will sprawl all over 40 acres of the west side and will include everything from a helioport to a massive television city.

We may never see the buildings, Zeckendorf's proposals having a way of slipping quietly into limbo, but, by George, the man's headlines are as baroque and grandiose as anything Michaelangelo ever dreamed up. I would not lay you even six to five that the thing will go up. The city would have to back the thing to the hilt and so far Mayor Wagner has said only that the plan is "bold and exciting" which may be the understatement of the year.

Still, I devoutly hope something comes of it all. New York needs a television city and it needs one fairly soon if we are not inexorably to lose television to the West Coast, otherwise known as Hollywood. Already the pull to the Coast has become very great. New York-trained producers and directors, including a lot of guys who had much rather live in New York, come back from the Coast, slavering over the facilities. You can hardly blame them. Los Angeles sprawls horizontally; New York rears vertically; and television leans toward the horizontal position.

The quest for space, horizontal space, in New York has been endless. But this is not a town given to much spare real estate lying around fallow. If Mr. Zeckendorf and Mr. Rose have managed to locate 40 acres of accessible Manhattan which isn't already dotted with 40 story buildings, then let's, for Heaven sakes, grab it and build a television city all over it.

The industry has grown so rapidly and continues to grow so rapidly that it could absorb every bit of Mr. Zeckendorf's dream palace the day he got it finished. Once we got even a reasonable proportion of TV under one roof here in New York, the pull to the Coast would diminish somewhat.

It'll never cease altogether. After all, Radio City went up here — and radio moved to the coast. Motion pictures started out in New Jersey — and then went West. Television started here and already a distressing amount of it has gone West. If New York wants to hang on to television, it's going to have to fight for it and fight with big, bold, imaginative plans — whether they are Zeckendorf's or somebody else's.

No network contemplates moving all of its shows to Hollywood, any more than all of radio ever moved out there. But what could happen is that the big shows — the spectaculars, the big dream shows, the important shows — would all go West. And this, I think, would be a tragedy not only for the city but for the country at large which gets most of its television from us now.

New York, God knows, has its crotchets, its sometimes irritating mannerisms, and even its share of provincialism, but it is a cosmopolitan city and it has a diversity of cultures and ideas and people that is terribly lacking in Hollywood. Hollywood might argue that New York television is not better than Hollywood television (though on the average I think it is) but it can hardly dispute that it is different. And that's the crux of the matter. It's bad enough for the whole nation to be serviced from only two centers — I've always wished it would get around the rest of the country more — but it would be much worse if it came from only one, especially from a one-industry town like Hollywood.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10 (INS) — Bob Hope weekended in Paris, and he cables from there saying he is very excited about an offer he has had to return to the Broadway stage for Max Gordon.

Max is planning to produce a series of Wilson Mizner stories with music by Irving Berlin and the book by George Kaufman and Samuel Behrman.

There never was a character like Mizner, whose stories are still told with relish by all who knew him. Bob has said he only wants to do one picture a year, and that he yearns to return to the stage, so it seems likely he will accept this offer.

Tony Quinn is such a good actor I'm sure he'll be excellent in "Step Down to Terror" for Producer Sidney Harmon and Director Harry Horner. But here again we have one of those super-sensational stories centered around a merciless killer (Tony) for whom the women fall like autumn leaves. I thought there was a movement afoot to soft pedal these yarns, but as long as audiences pay to see 'em, I guess they'll be produced.

This will be an independent which United Artists will release. U.A. resigned from the producers association in order to release the sensational "Man With the Golden Arm."

When he completes "Step Down to Terror," Tony goes to Europe to make "Hunchback of Notre Dame" with that luscious lady, Lollobrigida.

Grace Kelly has rented a house in the Pacific Palisades not far from Debbie and Eddie. She lived for a time in Gayland Hauser's house in fashionable Beverly Hills. She was only in her Palisades home a short time before she went east and got herself engaged to Prince Rainier III.

I was interested to hear that Aristotle Onassis, Greek shipping magnate (the one who backed Elsa Maxwell's famous yachting trip) owns a big interest in Monte Carlo from which Rainier receives his spending money. Maybe with Grace in Monaco, Monte Carlo will gain back its prestine glory which it never completely regained after the war.

The date Tom Neal had with oil heiress Elsinore Machris in Palm Springs was only the beginning of a series of dates for them. Neal is turning all his so-called charm on Elsinore whose marriage to Ray Galliland broke up after a series of quarrels.

Neal was much in the headlines at the time he and Franchot Tone battled for the affections of Barbara Payton. He put Tone in the hospital.

Personally, I hardly can believe that Elsinore, who does so many wonderful things for charity (particularly the City of Hope), can be serious about Neal, who I'm afraid, might be another heartbreak for her.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Fess Parker slipped off to Mexico for a short rest before he starts "Westward Ho, the Wagons." Rumor was around that he had eloped but this isn't true.

Breakfast after church at the Beverly Hills Hotel. Talked with Alex Guinness, his charming wife and his son. He won $800 in Las Vegas, but his wife lost a costly coat — so it probably about evens up.

At La Rue for dinner I stopped and talked with Andy Russell and his Mexican wife Valia, who were with the Harry Jamisons. They went on later to hear Peggy King at the Mocambo.

Nan and Frankie Laine arrived in town one day and the next night took off for Las Vegas for Fran-

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

HE RUFFED TOO SOON

MANY declarers, on finding a side-suit singleton in the dummy along with a few trumps, make a mad dash to use those trumps as ruffers. In doing so—before the time is really ripe—they are apt to find that they have neglected other plays that carry higher priorities. Here's a typical example:

South dealer:
North-South vulnerable.

	♠ 10 8 3 ♥ Q 6 2 ♦ A Q 9 7 5 4 ♣ 9
♠ A J ♥ — ♦ K 10 8 ♣ K Q 10 7 6 5 3 2	N W E S	♠ 6 5 4 2 ♥ J 10 7 5 3 ♦ J 2 ♣ J 4
	♠ K Q 9 7 ♥ A K 9 8 4 ♦ 6 3 ♣ A 8

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	2 ♣	2 ♦	Pass
2 ♠	3 ♣	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

Since there was actually no defense against the four-heart contract (if played properly), West might well have gone on to the sacrifice contract of five clubs, which could not have been punished severely. It must be admitted, however, that West's actual course turned out better.

South captured the opening lead of the club king and promptly ruffed his losing club on the table. Then he led a spade to the king. West won and shifted to the eight of diamonds. South gave this some thought, but he concluded that even if he lost another spade trick (to the jack), he would be safe if trumps broke, whereas if he took the diamond finesse and it lost, a diamond return might be ruffed. Acting on this analysis, South put up dummy's diamond ace and then led the heart queen. He was in for a shock when West showed out in trumps, and another shock when the second spade finesse lost to West. The contract was now hopeless; South could not avoid losing at least one trump trick and the diamond king.

Declarer's real error was in ruffing his low club too soon—much earlier than was wise or necessary. If he had led a trump to dummy's queen at Trick 2 he would have seen the break and could have set his sights accordingly. Then, even if he misguessed the spade jack and lost two tricks in that suit, he could salvage the contract by taking the diamond finesse (which would now be revealed as vital) and handling the trump suit correctly.

The quest for space, horizontal space, in New York has been endless. But this is not a town given to much spare real estate lying around fallow. If Mr. Zeckendorf and Mr. Rose have managed to locate 40 acres of accessible Manhattan which isn't already dotted with 40 story buildings, then let's, for Heaven sakes, grab it and build a television city all over it.

The industry has grown so rapidly and continues to grow so rapidly that it could absorb every bit of Mr. Zeckendorf's dream palace the day he got it finished. Once we got even a reasonable proportion of TV under one roof here in New York, the pull to the Coast would diminish somewhat.

It'll never cease altogether. After all, Radio City went up here — and radio moved to the coast. Motion pictures started out in New Jersey — and then went West. Television started here and already a distressing amount of it has gone West. If New York wants to hang on to television, it's going to have to fight for it and fight with big, bold, imaginative plans — whether they are Zeckendorf's or somebody else's.

No network contemplates moving all of its shows to Hollywood, any more than all of radio ever moved out there. But what could happen is that the big shows — the spectaculars, the big dream shows, the important shows — would all go West. And this, I think, would be a tragedy not only for the city but for the country at large which gets most of its television from us now.

New York, God knows, has its crotchets, its sometimes irritating mannerisms, and even its share of provincialism, but it is a cosmopolitan city and it has a diversity of cultures and ideas and people that is terribly lacking in Hollywood. Hollywood might argue that New York television is not better than Hollywood television (though on the average I think it is) but it can hardly dispute that it is different. And that's the crux of the matter. It's bad enough for the whole nation to be serviced from only two centers — I've always wished it would get around the rest of the country more — but it would be much worse if it came from only one, especially from a one-industry town like Hollywood.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 10 (INS) — Bob Hope weekended in Paris, and he cables from there saying he is very excited about an offer he has had to return to the Broadway stage for Max Gordon.

Max is planning to produce a series of Wilson Mizner stories with music by Irving Berlin and the book by George Kaufman and Samuel Behrman.

There never was a character like Mizner, whose stories are still told with relish by all who knew him. Bob has said he only wants to do one picture a year, and that he yearns to return to the stage, so it seems likely he will accept this offer.

Tony Quinn is such a good actor I'm sure he'll be excellent in "Step Down to Terror" for Producer Sidney Harmon and Director Harry Horner. But here again we have one of those super-sensational stories centered around a merciless killer (Tony) for whom the women fall like autumn leaves. I thought there was a movement afoot to soft pedal these yarns, but as long as audiences pay to see 'em, I guess they'll be produced.

This will be an independent which United Artists will release. U.A. resigned from the producers association in order to release the sensational "Man With the Golden Arm."

When he completes "Step Down to Terror," Tony goes to Europe to make "Hunchback of Notre Dame" with that luscious lady, Lollobrigida.

Grace Kelly has rented a house in the Pacific Palisades not far from Debbie and Eddie. She lived for a time in Gayland Hauser's house in fashionable Beverly Hills. She was only in her Palisades home a short time before she went east and got herself engaged to Prince Rainier III.

I was interested to hear that Aristotle Onassis, Greek shipping magnate (the one who backed Elsa Maxwell's famous yachting trip) owns a big interest in Monte Carlo from which Rainier receives his spending money. Maybe with Grace in Monaco, Monte Carlo will gain back its prestine glory which it never completely regained after the war.

The date Tom Neal had with oil heiress Elsinore Machris in Palm Springs was only the beginning of a series of dates for them. Neal is turning all his so-called charm on Elsinore whose marriage to Ray Galliland broke up after a series of quarrels.

Neal was much in the headlines at the time he and Franchot Tone battled for the affections of Barbara Payton. He put Tone in the hospital.

Personally, I hardly can believe that Elsinore, who does so many wonderful things for charity (particularly the City of Hope), can be serious about Neal, who I'm afraid, might be another heartbreak for her.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Fess Parker slipped off to Mexico for a short rest before he starts "Westward Ho, the Wagons." Rumor was around that he had eloped but this isn't true.

Breakfast after church at the Beverly Hills Hotel. Talked with Alex Guinness, his charming wife and his son. He won $800 in Las Vegas, but his wife lost a costly coat — so it probably about evens up.

At La Rue for dinner I stopped and talked with Andy Russell and his Mexican wife Valia, who were with the Harry Jamisons. They went on later to hear Peggy King at the Mocambo.

Nan and Frankie Laine arrived in town one day and the next night took off for Las Vegas for Fran-

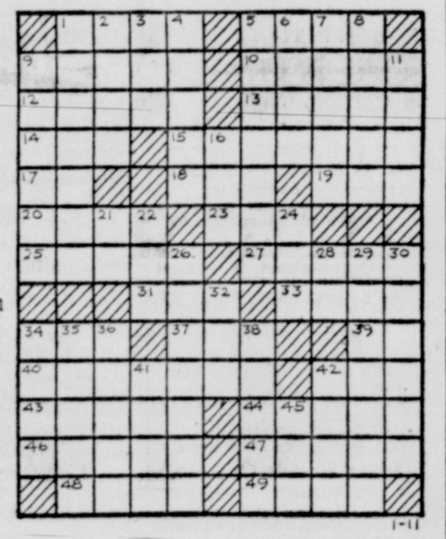
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

Q A A Z , K E N N E V V W Z O M K E V N S K U E T F K S K A O H U Q U A X A M M — I E I A .

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: A MAN WHO HAS NO OFFICE TO GO TO . . . IS A TRIAL OF WHICH YOU CAN HAVE NO CONCEPTION—SHAW.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

HE RUFFED TOO SOON

MANY declarers, on finding a side-suit singleton in the dummy along with a few trumps, make a mad dash to use those trumps as ruffers. In doing so—before the time is really ripe—they are apt to find that they have neglected other plays that carry higher priorities. Here's a typical example:

South dealer:
North-South vulnerable.

North: ♠ 10 8 3 ♥ Q 6 2 ♦ A Q 9 7 5 4 ♣ 9
West: ♠ A J ♥ — ♦ K 10 8 ♣ K Q 10 7 6 5 3 2
East: ♠ 6 5 4 2 ♥ J 10 7 5 3 ♦ J 2 ♣ J 4
South: ♠ K Q 9 7 ♥ A K 9 8 4 ♦ 6 3 ♣ A 8

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	2 ♣	2 ♦	Pass
2 ♠	3 ♣	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

Since there was actually no defense against the four-heart contract (if played properly), West might well have gone on to the sacrifice contract of five clubs, which could not have been punished severely. It must be admitted, however, that West's actual course turned out better.

South captured the opening lead of the club king and promptly ruffed his losing club on the table. Then he led a spade to the king. West won and shifted to the eight of diamonds. South gave this some thought, but he concluded that even if he lost another spade trick (to the jack), he would be safe if trumps broke, whereas if he took the diamond finesse and it lost, a diamond return might be ruffed. Acting on this analysis, South put up dummy's diamond ace and then led the heart queen. He was in for a shock when West showed out in trumps, and another shock when the second spade finesse lost to West. The contract was now hopeless; South could not avoid losing at least one trump trick and the diamond king.

Declarer's real error was in ruffing his low club too soon—much earlier than was wise or necessary. If he had led a trump to dummy's queen at Trick 2 he would have seen the break and could have set his sights accordingly. Then, even if he misguessed the spade jack and lost two tricks in that suit, he could salvage the contract by taking the diamond finesse (which would now be revealed as vital) and handling the trump suit correctly.

William C. Gurtler and Robert C. Gurtler vs. George H. Gurtler and Eugene T. Gurtler. Address — Panama. Address—Cumb., Md. No. 24394 Equity.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The object of this suit is to procure a partition of real estate owned by the parties hereto as tenants in common.
The Bill states that William T. Gurtler and Harriet E. Top Issues Major Losers In Orderly Market Decline

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—Leading issues were among the major losers today as the stock market staged an orderly decline.

Selling was apparent from the opening bell, but a recovery movement in late afternoon lifted most shares from their lows of the day. Losses at the close ranged to around three points.

The market's performance today was regarded as a follow-through to yesterday's decline, the worst since Oct. 10. Analysts were just about unanimous in attributing the downtrend to uncertainty among investors on whether President Eisenhower would stand for re-election. Some suggested that profit-taking also was a factor.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed at $176.00, down 90 cents. The industrials lost $1.60, the rails 30 cents and the utilities 20 cents. Yesterday's decline of $2.40 was the sharpest in three months.

Volume came to 2,640,000 shares against 2,700,000 yesterday.

Oldest state capital in the United States is Santa Fe, N .M., founded by the Spanish in 1609.

Chicago Board Of Trade

CHICAGO, Jan. 10 (AP) — Grains went through another indecisive session on the Board of Trade today.
While dealings were fairly active, price changes did not extend to any substantial figure. Corn firmed early, losing some of its gain later. Toward the finish wheat developed a little strength.
Soybeans sold under the previous close all day, reflecting profit taking after yesterday's advance. Rye gained in sympathy with Wheat. Oats were a shade easier.
Closing futures:
Wheat: Mar 2.11¼-⅛; May 2.08; Jly 1.99⅛-98⅝; Sep 2.01¼.
Corn: Mar 1.30⅝-½; May 1.34-34⅛; Jly 1.37⅜-¼; Sep 1.36⅜-¾.

U.S. Plans To Extend Range Of Missile Proving Ground

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The United States expects to conclude in about a month a new agreement with the British stretching this country's proving ground farther into the South Atlantic so the Air Force can test a new long-range guided missile.
The new missile, called the "snark", which is nearly ready for its first full scale tests, is built to travel beyond the present 1,000-mile confines of the proving ground, which runs from Florida to near Puerto Rico.
The U. S.-British agreement for expanding the area has been under negotiation since last month. It would give the United States permission to set up observation and guidance stations on the Windward Island of St. Lucia. This is about 500 miles southeast of the last American instrument post in Puerto Rico.
The United States now has agreements with the British, involving use of points in the Bahama Islands, and with the Dominican Republic. These permitted the setting up of nine observation and guidance stations along the range.
The United States plans eventually to extend the range at least as far as Ascension Island in the South Atlantic, nearly 5,000 miles from Florida.
The long-range proving ground base in Florida has been operating actively for several years testing new missiles. The launching site is at Cocoa, near the mouth of the Banana River.

Woman's Claim She's Vanderbilt's Widow Dismissed By Court

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., Jan. 10 (AP)—A surrogate judge yesterday dismissed the claim of Mrs. Dora Blowers that she is the widow of millionaire William K. Vanderbilt, who died in 1944.
Mrs. Blowers, 57, Livingston, N. J., contended she married Vanderbilt at Stamford, Conn., Dec. 30, 1925, under the name of Arthur Blowers.
The woman said her husband disclosed his "true identity" two years later. She also said her three children were fathered by Vanderbilt.
The Guarantee Trust Co., of New York City, executors of the Vanderbilt's 35-million-dollar estate, contested the suit.
Surrogate Edgar F. Hazleton, in dismissing Mrs. Blowers' suit for a widow's share in the estate, termed her story a series of "fantastic fabrications."

Navy Will Ask More Funds For Aircraft

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas said today that Congress will be asked next week to provide greatly increased money for Navy aircraft.
Thomas said also the Navy hopes to start on an atomic-powered aircraft carrier within two years.
The secretary told a news conference that Navy requests for aircraft buying in the defense budget that will go to Congress next week will be about 2 billion dollars, compared to the 750-million-dollar airplane provision in the current budget.
Thomas described the atomic-powered small cruiser, which will be included in the defense budget for the year starting July 1, "as a progressive step."
He said the exact size of this first surface vessel to be powered by atomic energy has not been determined.

Top Issues Major Losers In Orderly Market Decline

NEW YORK, Jan. 10 (AP)—Leading issues were among the major losers today as the stock market staged an orderly decline.

Selling was apparent from the opening bell, but a recovery movement in late afternoon lifted most shares from their lows of the day. Losses at the close ranged to around three points.

The market's performance today was regarded as a follow-through to yesterday's decline, the worst since Oct. 10. Analysts were just about unanimous in attributing the downtrend to uncertainty among investors on whether President Eisenhower would stand for re-election. Some suggested that profit-taking also was a factor.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed at $176.00, down 90 cents. The industrials lost $1.60, the rails 30 cents and the utilities 20 cents. Yesterday's decline of $2.40 was the sharpest in three months.

Volume came to 2,640,000 shares against 2,700,000 yesterday.

Oldest state capital in the United States is Santa Fe, N .M., founded by the Spanish in 1609.

U.S. Plans To Extend Range Of Missile Proving Ground

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—The United States expects to conclude in about a month a new agreement with the British stretching this country's proving ground farther into the South Atlantic so the Air Force can test a new long-range guided missile.
The new missile, called the "snark", which is nearly ready for its first full scale tests, is built to travel beyond the present 1,000-mile confines of the proving ground, which runs from Florida to near Puerto Rico.
The U. S.-British agreement for expanding the area has been under negotiation since last month. It would give the United States permission to set up observation and guidance stations on the Windward Island of St. Lucia. This is about 500 miles southeast of the last American instrument post in Puerto Rico.
The United States now has agreements with the British, involving use of points in the Bahama Islands, and with the Dominican Republic. These permitted the setting up of nine observation and guidance stations along the range.
The United States plans eventually to extend the range at least as far as Ascension Island in the South Atlantic, nearly 5,000 miles from Florida.
The long-range proving ground base in Florida has been operating actively for several years testing new missiles. The launching site is at Cocoa, near the mouth of the Banana River.

Woman's Claim She's Vanderbilt's Widow Dismissed By Court

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., Jan. 10 (AP)—A surrogate judge yesterday dismissed the claim of Mrs. Dora Blowers that she is the widow of millionaire William K. Vanderbilt, who died in 1944.
Mrs. Blowers, 57, Livingston, N. J., contended she married Vanderbilt at Stamford, Conn., Dec. 30, 1925, under the name of Arthur Blowers.
The woman said her husband disclosed his "true identity" two years later. She also said her three children were fathered by Vanderbilt.
The Guarantee Trust Co., of New York City, executors of the Vanderbilt's 35-million-dollar estate, contested the suit.
Surrogate Edgar F. Hazleton, in dismissing Mrs. Blowers' suit for a widow's share in the estate, termed her story a series of "fantastic fabrications."

Navy Will Ask More Funds For Aircraft

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10 (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Charles S. Thomas said today that Congress will be asked next week to provide greatly increased money for Navy aircraft.
Thomas said also the Navy hopes to start on an atomic-powered aircraft carrier within two years.
The secretary told a news conference that Navy requests for aircraft buying in the defense budget that will go to Congress next week will be about 2 billion dollars, compared to the 750-million-dollar airplane provision in the current budget.
Thomas described the atomic-powered small cruiser, which will be included in the defense budget for the year starting July 1, "as a progressive step."
He said the exact size of this first surface vessel to be powered by atomic energy has not been determined.

Date Of Special Port Session Still In Doubt

Jan. 23 Date Has 'Fighting Chance'

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10 (AP)—The latest answer to whether there will be a special session of the Maryland Legislature this month is still "Maybe."

Dr. Carl N. Everstine, director of the Department of Legislative Reference, said today work was progressing on a port authority bill for which the special session has been set up tentatively.

Everstine said the New York law firm drafting the bill will send a few pages of it to Baltimore "in the next couple of days."

Strong doubts have been expressed whether the bill can be prepared in time for the special session.

Gov. McKeldin and legislative leaders have set Jan. 23 as the target date for the start of the meeting. The regular, 30-day Legislature is scheduled to open Feb. 1, but the attorney general has said constitutional technicalities would prohibit consideration of the port bill at that time.

Everstine, who visited New York last weekend for a conference with the bill drafters, said upon his return there was only a slim chance they could complete their task in time.

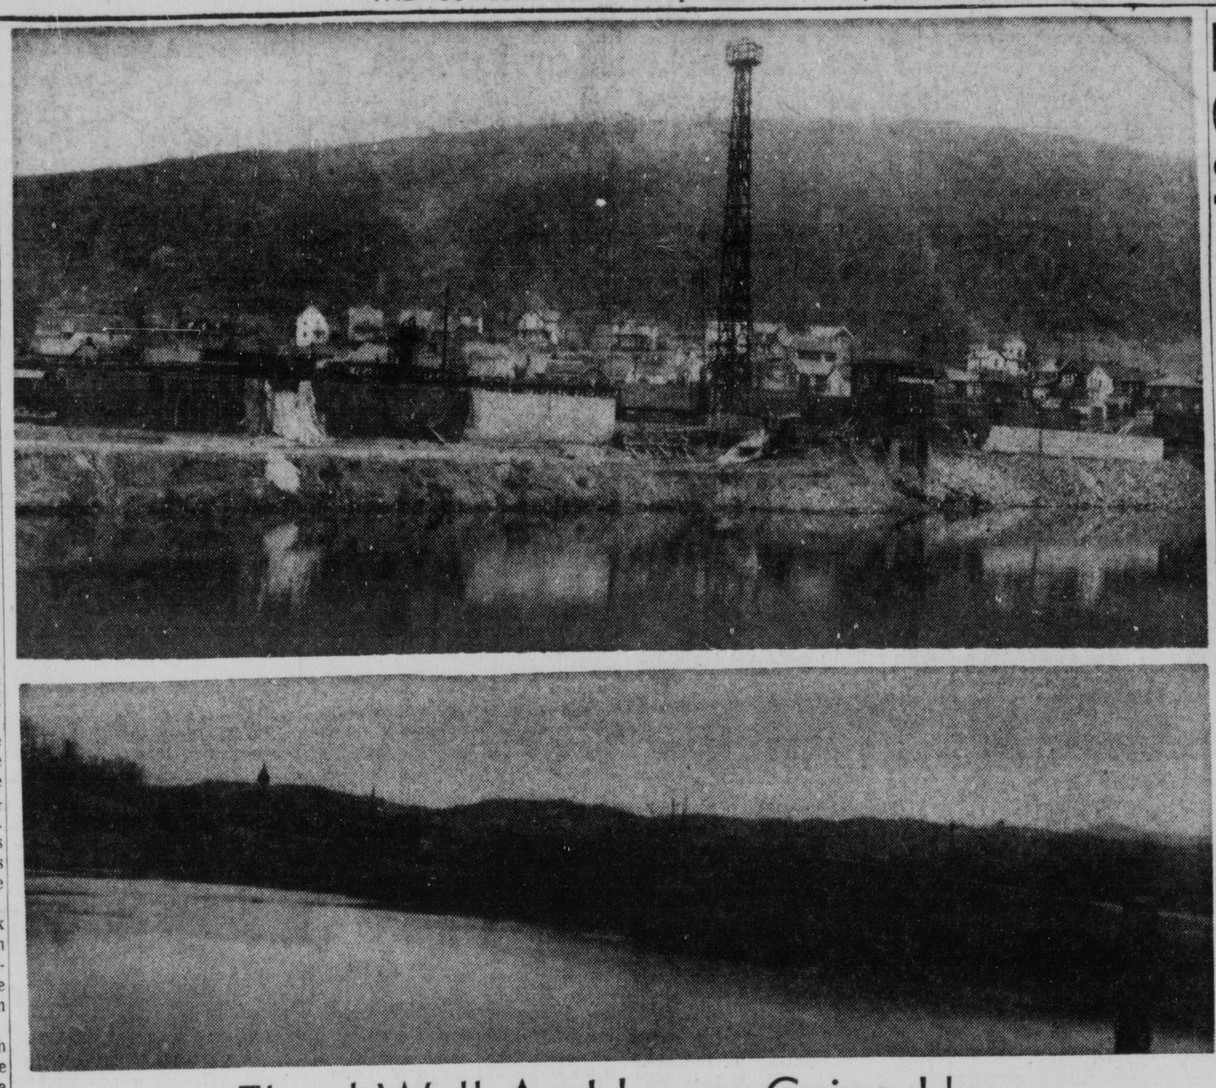
After a telephone check with them today, he reported some progress—enough to produce "a fighting chance" the session will be held.

"I'd say right now it is not so improbable as it was 10 days ago," he said.

Although McKeldin has not set a deadline for completion of the draft, an aide said the governor would like to give "at least a few days" of notice to legislators before calling a special session.

The governor and members of a Joint Port Commission have been anxious to obtain immediate legislative consideration of a bill to give Baltimore's port business a shot in the arm.

The bill being drafted would set up a five-member authority to improve and promote port facilities in Maryland. The authority's operations would be financed by a fourth-of-a-penny-a-gallon gasoline tax.



Flood Wall And Levee Going Up

In spite of poor construction weather, E. J. Albrecht Company crews have completed about half of the concrete flood wall in Ridgeley, seen at top, covered to protect it from freezing. Other crews have virtually completed about 1,000 feet of earth levees planned by the Corps of Engineers in Ridgeley. The portion of levee seen here is still to get a layer of topsoil and then will be seeded to protect the surface from erosion. Similar levee work is being done to protect homes on the West Side.

First AFL-CIO Contract Is Signed Here

Highway Pact To Be Effective Sunday

The first Western Maryland labor agreement recognizing the merger of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations was signed here recently and goes into effect this Sunday.

The contract covering road and bridge work in Western Maryland is between the Maryland and D. C. Road Builders and the Road and Highway Council of Maryland, AFL-CIO.

Signing the pact were officials of Teamsters Local 543, Carpenters Local 1024 and Laborers Local 616, for the unions, and officials of the S. T. Brotemarkle Company, the Cumberland Contracting Company, George F. Hazelwood Company, George Brothers Construction Company and the Hout Construction Company.

Recognizes Merger

Operating Engineers Local 37-B, the fourth union which furnishes labor directly to road builders, signed a separate agreement some time ago.

All of the locals involved in the pact are AFL craft unions, but the agreement bears the seal of the AFL-CIO, in accordance with instructions forwarded to the locals.

Provisions become effective on work bid in after Sunday and continues until December 31, and jobs will be concluded under wage rates in effect when awarded, but not beyond June 30, 1957.

Includes Health Plan

The pact also included a five-cent-an-hour increase for workers in the lowest brackets, bringing the minimum rate to $1.625 an hour, and payments of 7½ cents an hour, beginning May 1, for a health and welfare plan.

Hours of work are to be 7 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. with a half-hour lunch period, unless a change in hours is mutually agreed upon. The work week is to be Monday through Friday and time and a half is to be paid after 10 hours a day or 40 hours a week.

No premium pay is provided for shift work Monday through Friday, but men employed on shift work will get a 30-minute lunch period without loss of pay.

Police Look For Missing Bedford Boys

Pennsylvania State Police in Bedford have broadcast a 13-state alarm for two teen-age boys who have been reported missing from their homes since 5:30 p. m. Saturday.

The youngsters, seventh and eighth grade students at Bedford Township Elementary School, were said to have been trapping in the vicinity of the Juniata River.

Police and firemen dredged the river and a posse scoured the area during the last two days in search of Ross Bender, 12, of RD 2, Bedford, and Frederick Paul Price, 14, of RD 1, Bedford.

Police said the Bender boy is 4 feet, 8 inches tall, weighs 70 pounds, has black hair and brown eyes, was wearing a brown top coat and blue dungarees. He was bare headed and had on brown high top shoes.

The Price youngster is five feet tall, weighs 80 pounds, has blonde hair, brown eyes, was wearing a green jacket, blue dungarees and black boots. He has a lame left foot and also was bareheaded.

Icy Conditions Ease As Warm Rain Hits Area

Garrett County Has 4 Inches Of Snow

Rising temperatures and intermittent warm rain yesterday and early this morning helped thaw much of the ice glaze and snow which blanketed the tri-state area Monday and made travel conditions so hazardous.

Bus runs both east and west of Cumberland once more were on a normal schedule, with traffic reported moderate throughout most of the area yesterday.

The thermometer in Cumberland rose from a low of 24 to 41 last night about 6 o'clock and continued to rise during the night as the warm rains, which began yesterday afternoon, caused snow and ice to melt and turn to slush. The rains were expected to continue today.

R. E. Golden, local weather bureau observer, reported 1.3 inches of snow and sleet fell Monday and early yesterday morning with .30 inches of melted precipitation recorded at Constitution Park.

State Police in Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia reported highways still very wet, but added that much of the icy conditions on the roads had dissipated. However, some bad spots were reported in the mountains and motorists traveling any distance were asked to continue the use of chains on their cars.

Garrett County was in the midst of the sleet storm which has been moving steadily west since early Monday. Four inches of snow was reported in Oakland with the temperature about 23 degrees. Several minor motor mishaps were reported, but no injuries were noted.

R. W. Weber, weather observer at Oakland, said the low yesterday was 16 degrees there, and that a steady freezing rain had fallen most of the day on top of the snow. Travel conditions to the west of Frostburg were becoming steadily worse.

Two inches of snow was reported at Knobley Mountain near Keyser on Route 40.

Streets and sidewalks in Keyser and highways in the area were glazed with ice and covered with snow following Monday's storm. Both Keyser High and Elementary schools classes were dismissed Monday at noon because of the bad road conditions. The roads began to clear up somewhat with yesterday's warm rain.

Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company officials noted that no serious damage was done telephone cables despite the icy conditions.

Rev. Carey Will Accept Barton Church's Call

Plans To Serve One Congregation

Rev. E. Ellwood Carey, who has been dividing his pastoral duties between Southminster Presbyterian Church in South Cumberland and First Presbyterian Church in Barton, has accepted a call to Barton as full time clergyman.

Rev. Carey accepted a call to serve the two pastor-less congregations in April 1954 with the understanding that he would confine his duties to one church whenever the congregation became sufficiently strong to support a full-time pastor.

The Presbyterian clergyman began serving the two congregations while completing his studies at the Princeton (N.J.) Theological Seminary. He was formerly installed as pastor of the Barton church on July 6, 1954, and at Southminster the following night.

A native of near Scranton, Pa., Rev. Carey was graduated from Grove City (Pa.) College before beginning his theological studies. His wife is an English teacher at Oldtown High School.

The announcement of Rev. Carey's acceptance of the Barton call came from Alexander Cross, clerk of the session of that church. Formal approval of the change must come from the Presbytery of Baltimore, which does not meet until late February. The acceptance of the call probably will become effective about March 1.

Master Farm Family Is Sought Here

A Master Farm Family is being sought in Allegany County this year and officials of rural agencies here are helping in selecting the family in an award program being sponsored by Progressive Farmer.

William H. Johnson, district forester, who has received data on the program, said that February 1 is the deadline for the name and address of the head of each family suggested by local leaders.

In order to qualify, a family must own a safe equity above indebtedness in the farm and home and be on a sound financial basis; the major part of all income of the family must be from farming; the farm buildings, home and surroundings must be neat, clean, useful and in general have good "eye appeal."

The family must take active part in improving community life and in activities that affect the home and family and in general, the farm and home, as a unit, must serve as a good demonstration of farm and home planning.

Johnson pointed out that farming experience of 10 years or more is desirable, since the family will be judged on the progress made and they must have farmed enough to have demonstrated sound practices, abilities and returns.

Perhaps the greatest benefit of the Master Farmer movement is that it sets up a definite standard toward which farmers can work.

Frostburg Exceeds Its Blood Quota

For the second day in a row the Johnstown, Pa., bloodmobile unit exceeded its quota in Allegany County when 151 pints were collected yesterday at the Farrady Post American Legion Home in Frostburg.

Monday at the Eagles Home in Cumberland 171 pints were received, bringing the two-day total to 322 pints. The surplus of 22 pints marked a good start to the blood program for 1956.

At Frostburg yesterday 14 persons became members of the Gallon Club when each donated his eighth pint. The new club members are Dr. John B. Davis, Kenneth Babcock, Marsha Smith, Clarence Pryor, George Pryor, Edith Bender, Rudolph Lewis, John Brady, Willard Harvey, Robert Harden, Stanley Hitchens, Elizabeth Boyer, Robert, Pfaff and John F. Fatkin.

Mrs. Diana Meehan, director of the Blood Bank for Frostburg, said that she was especially pleased that 24 students from State Teachers College responded to the appeal for donations.

Scheduled yesterday were 160 donors. Of that number 38 failed to show up. Besides the 11 who kept their appointments there were 63 walk-in donors, 53 first time donors. Twenty-three others were rejected for colds and 11 others cancelled their appointments.

The doctors on duty were Dr. Davis, Dr. H. C. Diehl, Dr. Frank T. Harratt, Dr. John C. Devers and Dr. Hilda Jane Walters.

Flood Control, Bridge Job Mecca For Sidewalk Bosses

The sidewalk superintendents have never had it so good here.

Bridges and banks along Wills Creek and the Potomac River are providing ringside seats to watch crews speeding work on the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection program.

Traveling over a haul road laid on the west side of Wills Creek, big tandem-type earth movers known as Euclids are moving 12-cubic-yard loads of earth and rock excavated from the channel to a spoils area near Community Ball Park.

The work is being done by E. J. Albrecht Company in connection with Sections II and III of the Wills Creek phase of the flood control project. Officials hope to have the channel rough-graded so paving work of the slopes and bottom can begin when the weather breaks.

At the Market Street Bridge, workers of H. D. Case, Inc., Mt. Airy, are using heavy hammers, dropped from a crane, to break up the reinforced concrete structure. It is slow going.

Excellent progress is being made on the Potomac River contract of the flood control project.

Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers, said almost 1,000 feet of the levee on the Ridgeley side of the stream has been completed, except for topsoil and seeding.

About half of the concrete flood wall in Ridgeley has been completed with the help of heaters, used to protect the concrete from sub-freezing weather.

Work is also proceeding on other phases of the channel contract in spite of generally poor construction weather.

Mulligan and Young will receive the third degree, known as the Moose Fellowship Award, during the conclave.

Man Is Given Year For Non-Support

Albert B. Creasy, McCoole, yesterday was sentenced to a year in the Maryland House of Correction after being found guilty of violation of his parole for non-support of his wife and family.

Magistrate Morris Baron in Juvenile Court imposed the sentence on the father of 10 children after Baron said, he refused to support his family as ordered previously by the court.

Each Kiwanian will have an opportunity to suggest improvements.

Travelers Aid Society To Be Entertained

Mrs. William H. Blake will entertain members of the Travelers Aid Society at a tea today at her home, 666 National Highway.

It will follow the monthly business meeting at 2 p. m.

Dormitory Heat Question Will Be Investigated

Chairman Lester B. Reed of the Allegany County Delegation to Maryland's General Assembly has received a reply to his letter protesting the use of gas instead of coal to heat new dormitories at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Reed, in behalf of the delegation, wrote James J. O'Donnell, director of Maryland's Public Works, to make the protest formal, urging that coal-fired units be used to aid the area economy.

In his reply, O'Donnell thanked Reed for calling the problem to his attention and noted that plans for these buildings and the heating of them had been made before he assumed his present duties. He promised that he would launch an immediate investigation to determine if a change can be made, and said he would communicate further with Reed.

Reed also said he had received a congratulatory not from John L. Mayo, president of District 16, United Mine Workers of America, thanking him and the delegation for the stand on this question. Mayo said he had sent a copy of the letter to O'Donnell.

First Federal To Elect Two Directors

First Federal Savings and Loan Association will hold its annual meeting January 18 at 2 p. m. in the association offices on Baltimore Street.

Two directors will be elected to the board for three-year terms and other business will be transacted.

Nominated by the committee for the board of directors for three-years periods are Lynn C. Lashley and John G. Wiebel.

Ridgeley Police Report Issued

Fines totaling $49.50 were imposed as a result of traffic charges filed by the Ridgeley Police Department in December, according to a report of Police Chief Harry L. Detrick to the Mayor and Council.

They included three charges of speeding, three for hazardous driving, four of running through stop signs, one passing at an intersection, one no operator's card, one no registration card and five incorrect parking.

Ten tickets were issued, the police chief said, for parking on red lines and blocking alleys.

Warrants will be issued, he said, for those who disregard tickets issued for blocking alleys, since the parked cars prevent fire trucks from getting to the scene of blazes.

The department also investigated the theft of pipe and lead-in wire from the TV antenna of J. W. Davis, investigated three hit and run accidents and assisted West Virginia State Police in investigations of crashes near the city limits.

The police cruiser assisted the Ridgeley Volunteer Fire Department on four calls during December.

Christmas Seal Returns Are At $16,996 Mark

Returns from the 1955 Seal Sale campaign were pushing the $17,000 mark last week and officials said they hope the amount will be swelled to $20,000 to allow chest X-rays for all school children.

Glenn K. Davis, Seal chairman, said returns through Friday totaled $16,996.55, including $784.43 which came in last week.

Returns in Allegany County totaled $14,933.18, including $11,909.37 from the Cumberland area, $1,965.30 from the Frostburg area and $946.50 from the Westernport area.

Garrett County returns totaled $2,063.37.

The 1954 drive, Davis said, brought in $18,300 to finance the work of the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association during the fiscal year which will end March 31.

Miss Jean Reinhard, executive secretary, said returns of $20,000 would allow the association to balance its budget and provide chest X-rays for all school children of the two counties.

She said funds collected in campaigns are earmarked for use in the fiscal year which begins the following April 1, but that in the past years the funds had to be tapped before that time.

Officials said citizens of the counties have been cooperating well in the campaign which will be cleaned up by the end of this month.

Miss Reinhard said contributors have been reporting duplications and that this will help to cut down costs in future seal drives.

Navy Recruiting Month Marked

Local Navy recruiting officials are taking part in "Navy Recruiting Month," which has been proclaimed by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin.

The proclamation was presented by the Governor to Captain C. L. Steiner, USN, inspector of Navy recruiting and naval officer procurement, Second Navy Recruiting Area, representing Rear Admiral I. N. Kiland, USN, commandant, Fifth Naval District.

A special recruiting drive will be conducted in Maryland during January to assist in "Navy Recruiting Month," which is being held throughout the United States by the Navy Recruiting Service and all Naval commands.

In the proclamation the Governor urged Marylanders to salute our Navy's great accomplishments and to assist in adequately manning the largest Navy in the world during "Navy Recruiting Month."

McGee Heads Local Church

James McGee was elected president of Trinity Lutheran Church during the annual meeting Monday evening.

The meeting was conducted by E. M. Schaidt, who served two terms as president. Other officers elected include Carl Kiiffner, vice president; Elmer Welsh, secretary.

Walter House, William George, Albert Kiiffner and P. M. Klavuhn, church council; Walter Kiiffner, Sunday school superintendent.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mears were elected to take over the duties of custodian of the church, replacing E. M. Schiller who has been custodian for the past several years.

Reports of financial officers and committees showed the successful completion of another year of activity.

Bad Weather Abates Forest Fire Danger

One of the good features of the generally miserable weather the past several days is the abatement of the forest fire danger.

The shortage of rainfall which had existed for the past several months has increased the forest fire prospects to dangerous proportions. Snow, sleet and rain of the past two days has dampened the woodlands appreciably.

The most recent fire reported to District Forester William H. Johnson occurred Sunday night on Dan's Mountain. About half an acre of land was burned over and high winds carried sparks about a quarter of a mile. Forest Supervisor Brook Bodkin and Forest Warden Oliver Campbell headed the crew that fought the blaze.

Church Will Build Addition To Front

Bethel Evangelical United Brethren Church yesterday secured a permit from the City Engineer for an addition to the church edifice at Third and Seymour streets.

Dog Goes 'First Class' In Journey From Japan

A friendly little dog named "Skip," who was born in Japan and recently arrived in Ellerslie, came first class in his trip to the United States.

The canine, owned by Sgt. and Mrs. David Lehman, traveled all the way from northern Japan to Friendship Airport in Baltimore by air.

And he apparently didn't mind the trip too much, as he rode comfortably on a soft cushion made by the maid of the Lehmans, who expect to arrive in Seattle on January 18 by boat en route to Ellerslie.

Sgt. Lehman, a member of the Signal Corps, has been stationed in Japan for the past two years. His wife, the former Miss Jean DeVore, graduate nurse of Memorial Hospital, class of 1953, was in that country for about a year and a half. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. DeVore, Ellerslie.

While in Japan, the Lehmans acquired the dog and became so attached to it they decided to bring it back to the States.

The white and tan canine, which has a face resembling that of a fox, has a black ring around its mouth and also has a large bushy tail.

Upon arrival in the states, the dog was successful in getting the approval of the customs officers, is now settling down to living in Ellerslie, and is on friendly terms with everyone.

Date Of Special Port Session Still In Doubt

Jan. 23 Date Has 'Fighting Chance'

BALTIMORE, Jan. 10 (AP)—The latest answer to whether there will be a special session of the Maryland Legislature this month is still "Maybe."

Dr. Carl N. Everstine, director of the Department of Legislative Reference, said today work was progressing on a port authority bill for which the special session has been set up tentatively.

Everstine said the New York law firm drafting the bill will send a few pages of it to Baltimore "in the next couple of days."

Strong doubts have been expressed whether the bill can be prepared in time for the special session.

Gov. McKeldin and legislative leaders have set Jan. 23 as the target date for the start of the meeting. The regular, 30-day Legislature is scheduled to open Feb. 1, but the attorney general has said constitutional technicalities would prohibit consideration of the port bill at that time.

Everstine, who visited New York last weekend for a conference with the bill drafters, said upon his return there was only a slim chance they could complete their task in time.

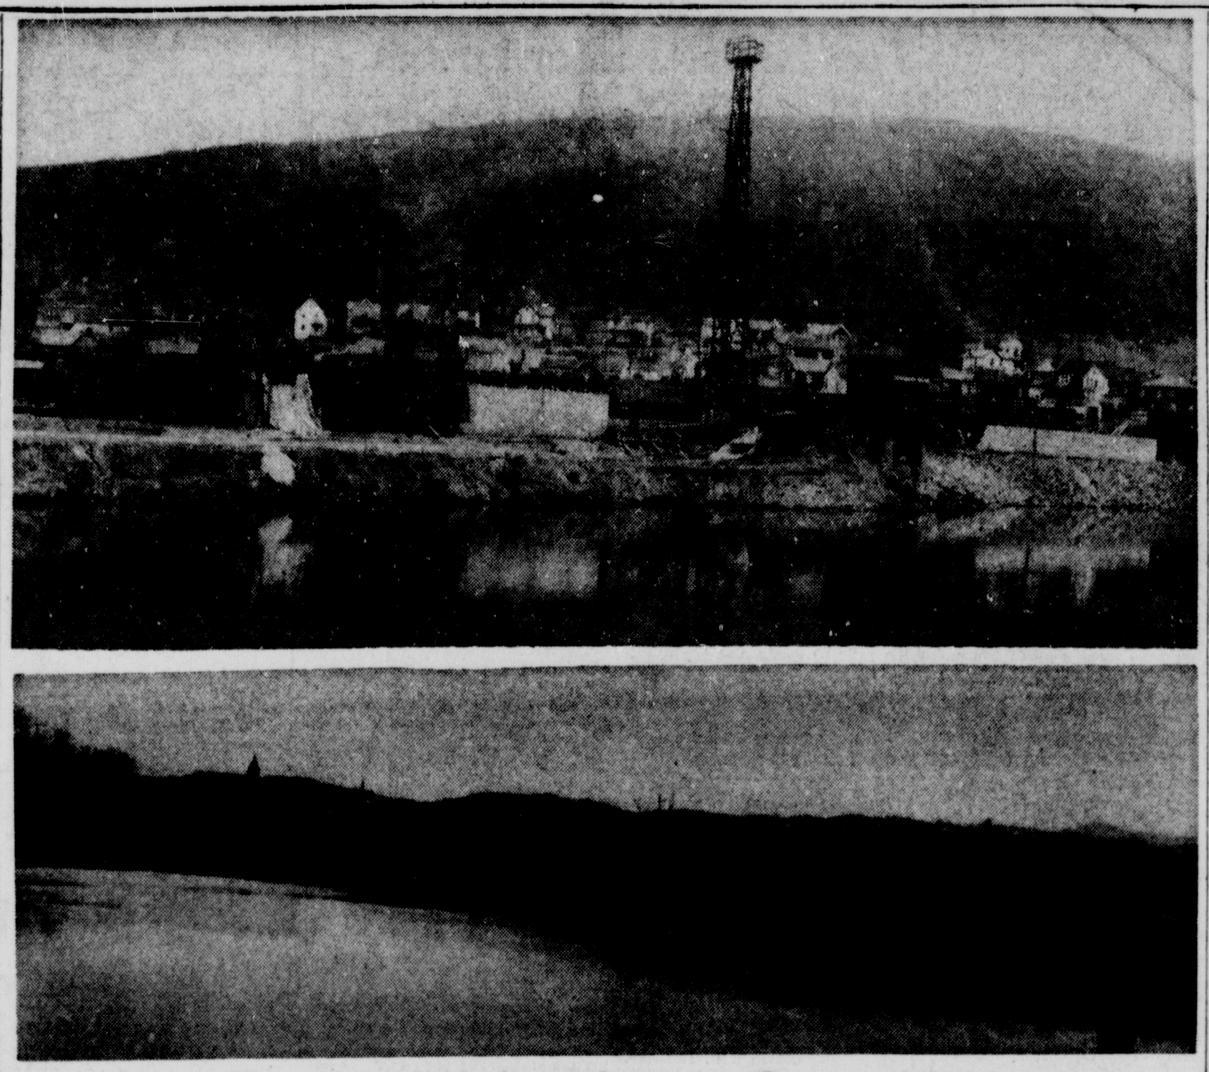
After a telephone check with them today, he reported some progress—enough to produce "a fighting chance" the session will be held.

"I'd say right now it is not so improbable as it was 10 days ago," he said.

Although McKeldin has not set a deadline for completion of the draft, an aide said the governor would like to give "at least a few days" of notice to legislators before calling a special session.

The governor and members of a Joint Port Commission have been anxious to obtain immediate legislative consideration of a bill to give Baltimore's port business a shot in the arm.

The bill being drafted would set up a five-member authority to improve and promote port facilities in Maryland. The authority's operations would be financed by a fourth-of-a-penny-a-gallon gasoline tax.



Flood Wall And Levee Going Up

In spite of poor construction weather, E. J. Albrecht Company crews have completed about half of the concrete flood wall in Ridgeley, seen at top, covered to protect it from freezing. Other crews have virtually completed about 1,000 feet of earth levees planned by the Corps of Engineers in Ridgeley. The portion of levee seen here is still to get a layer of topsoil and then will be seeded to protect the surface from erosion. Similar levee work is being done to protect homes on the West Side.

Master Farm Family Is Sought Here

A Master Farm Family is being sought in Allegany County this year and officials of rural agencies here are helping in selecting the family in an award program being sponsored by Progressive Farmer.

William H. Johnson, district forester, who has received data on the program, said that February 1 is the deadline for the name and address of the head of each family suggested by local leaders.

In order to qualify, a family must own a safe equity above indebtedness in the farm and home and be on a sound financial basis; the major part of all income of the family must be from farming; the farm buildings, home and surroundings must be neat, clean, useful and in general have good "eye appeal."

The family must take active part in improving community life and in activities that affect the home and family and in general, the farm and home, as a unit, must serve as a good demonstration of farm and home planning.

Johnson pointed out that farming experience of 10 years or more is desirable, since the family will be judged on the progress made and they must have farmed enough to have demonstrated sound practices, abilities and returns.

Perhaps the greatest benefit of the Master Farmer movement is that it sets up a definite standard toward which farmers can work.

Navy Recruiting Month Marked

Local Navy recruiting officials are taking part in "Navy Recruiting Month," which has been proclaimed by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin.

The proclamation was presented by the Governor to Captain C. L. Steiner, USN, inspector of Navy recruiting and naval officer procurement, Second Navy Recruiting Area, representing Rear Admiral I. N. Kiland, USN, commandant, Fifth Naval District.

A special recruiting drive will be conducted in Maryland during January to assist in "Navy Recruiting Month," which is being held throughout the United States by the Navy Recruiting Service and all Naval commands.

In the proclamation the Governor urged Marylanders to salute our Navy's great accomplishments and to assist in adequately manning the largest Navy in the world during "Navy Recruiting Month."

Frostburg Exceeds Its Blood Quota

For the second day in a row the Johnstown, Pa., bloodmobile unit exceeded its quota in Allegany County when 151 pints were collected yesterday at the Farrady Post American Legion Home in Frostburg.

Monday at the Eagles Home in Cumberland 171 pints were received, bringing the two-day total to 322 pints. The surplus of 22 pints marked a good start to the blood program for 1956.

At Frostburg yesterday 14 persons became members of the Gallon Club when each donated his eighth pint. The new club members are Dr. John B. Davis, Kenneth Babcock, Marsha Smith, Clarence Pryor, George Pryor, Edith Bender, Rudolph Lewis, John Brady, Willard Harvey, Robert Harden, Stanley Hitchens, Elizabeth Boyer, Robert, Pfaff and John F. Fatkin.

Mrs. Diana Meehan, director of the Blood Bank for Frostburg, said that she was especially pleased that 24 students from State Teachers College responded to the appeal for donations.

Scheduled yesterday were 160 donors. Of that number 38 failed to show up. Besides the 11 who kept their appointments there were 63 walk-in donors, 53 first time donors. Twenty-three others were rejected for colds and 11 others cancelled their appointments.

The doctors on duty were Dr. Davis, Dr. H. C. Diehl, Dr. Frank T. Harratt, Dr. John C. Devers and Dr. Hilda Jane Walters.

McGee Heads Local Church

James McGee was elected president of Trinity Lutheran Church during the annual meeting Monday evening.

The meeting was conducted by E. M. Schaidt, who served two terms as president. Other officers elected include Carl Kiiffner, vice president; Elmer Welsh, secretary.

Walter House, William George, Albert Kiiffner and P. M. Klavuhn, church council; Walter Kiiffner, Sunday school superintendent.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mears were elected to take over the duties of custodian of the church, replacing E. M. Schiller who has been custodian for the past several years.

Reports of financial officers and committees showed the successful completion of another year of activity.

Bad Weather Abates Forest Fire Danger

One of the good features of the generally miserable weather the past several days is the abatement of the forest fire danger.

The shortage of rainfall which had existed for the past several months has increased the forest fire prospects to dangerous proportions. Snow, sleet and rain of the past two days has dampened the woodlands appreciably.

The most recent fire reported to District Forester William H. Johnson occurred Sunday night on Dan's Mountain. About half an acre of land was burned over and high winds carried sparks about a quarter of a mile. Forest Supervisor Brook Bodkin and Forest Warden Oliver Campbell headed the crew that fought the blaze.

Flood Control, Bridge Job Mecca For Sidewalk Bosses

The sidewalk superintendents have never had it so good here.

Bridges and banks along Wills Creek and the Potomac River are providing ringside seats to watch crews speeding work on the Cumberland-Ridgeley flood protection program.

Traveling over a haul road laid on the west side of Wills Creek, big tandem-type earth movers known as Euclids are moving 12-cubic-yard loads of earth and rock excavated from the channel to a spoils area near Community Ball Park.

The work is being done by E. J. Albrecht Company in connection with Sections II and III of the Wills Creek phase of the flood control project. Officials hope to have the channel rough-graded so paving work of the slopes and bottom can begin when the weather breaks.

At the Market Street Bridge, workers of H. D. Case, Inc., Mt. Airy, are using heavy hammers, dropped from a crane, to break up the reinforced concrete structure. It is slow going.

Excellent progress is being made on the Potomac River contract of the flood control project.

Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers, said almost 1,000 feet of the levee on the Ridgeley side of the stream has been completed, except for topsoil and seeding.

About half of the concrete flood wall in Ridgeley has been completed with the help of heaters, used to protect the concrete from sub-freezing weather.

Work is also proceeding on other phases of the channel contract in spite of generally poor construction weather.

First AFL-CIO Contract Is Signed Here

Highway Pact To Be Effective Sunday

The first Western Maryland labor agreement recognizing the merger of the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations was signed here recently and goes into effect this Sunday.

The contract covering road and bridge work in Western Maryland is between the Maryland and D. C. Road Builders and the Road and Highway Council of Maryland, AFL-CIO.

Signing the pact were officials of Teamsters Local 543, Carpenters Local 1024 and Laborers Local 616, for the unions, and officials of the S. T. Brotemarkle Company, the Cumberland Contracting Company, George F. Hazelwood Company, George Brothers Construction Company and the Hout Construction Company.

Recognizes Merger

Operating Engineers Local 37-B, the fourth union which furnishes labor directly to road builders, signed a separate agreement some time ago.

All of the locals involved in the pact are AFL craft unions, but the agreement bears the seal of the AFL-CIO, in accordance with instructions forwarded to the locals.

Provisions become effective on work bid in after Sunday and continues until December 31, and jobs will be concluded under wage rates in effect when awarded, but not beyond June 30, 1957.

Includes Health Plan

The pact also included a five-cent-an-hour increase for workers in the lowest brackets, bringing the minimum rate to $1.625 an hour, and payments of 7½ cents an hour, beginning May 1, for a health and welfare plan.

Hours of work are to be 7 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. with a half-hour lunch period, unless a change in hours is mutually agreed upon. The work week is to be Monday through Friday and time and a half is to be paid after 10 hours a day or 40 hours a week.

No premium pay is provided for shift work Monday through Friday, but men employed on shift work will get a 30-minute lunch period without loss of pay.

Dormitory Heat Question Will Be Investigated

Chairman Lester B. Reed of the Allegany County Delegation to Maryland's General Assembly has received a reply to his letter protesting the use of gas instead of coal to heat new dormitories at Frostburg State Teachers College.

Reed, in behalf of the delegation, wrote James J. O'Donnell, director of Maryland's Public Works, to make the protest formal, urging that coal-fired units be used to aid the area economy.

In his reply, O'Donnell thanked Reed for calling the problem to his attention and noted that plans for these buildings and the heating of them had been made before he assumed his present duties. He promised that he would launch an immediate investigation to determine if a change can be made, and said he would communicate further with Reed.

Reed also said he had received a congratulatory not from John L. Mayo, president of District 16, United Mine Workers of America, thanking him and the delegation for the stand on this question. Mayo said he had sent a copy of the letter to O'Donnell.

Police Look For Missing Bedford Boys

Pennsylvania State Police in Bedford have broadcast a 13-state alarm for two teen-age boys who have been reported missing from their homes since 5:30 p. m. Saturday.

The youngsters, seventh and eighth grade students at Bedford Township Elementary School, were said to have been trapping in the vicinity of the Juniata River.

Police and firemen dredged the river and a posse scoured the area during the last two days in search of Ross Bender, 12, of RD 2, Bedford, and Frederick Paul Price, 14, of RD 1, Bedford.

Police said the Bender boy is 4 feet, 8 inches tall, weighs 70 pounds, has black hair and brown eyes, was wearing a brown top coat and blue dungarees. He was bare headed and had on brown high top shoes.

The Price youngster is five feet tall, weighs 80 pounds, has blonde hair, brown eyes, was wearing a green jacket, blue dungarees and black boots. He has a lame left foot and also was bareheaded.

Rev. Carey Will Accept Barton Church's Call

Plans To Serve One Congregation

Rev. E. Ellwood Carey, who has been dividing his pastoral duties between Southminster Presbyterian Church in South Cumberland and First Presbyterian Church in Barton, has accepted a call to Barton as full time clergyman.

Rev. Carey accepted a call to serve the two pastor-less congregations in April 1954 with the understanding that he would confine his duties to one church whenever the congregation became sufficiently strong to support a full-time pastor.

The Presbyterian clergyman began serving the two congregations while completing his studies at the Princeton (N.J.) Theological Seminary. He was formerly installed as pastor of the Barton church on July 6, 1954, and at Southminster the following night.

A native of near Scranton, Pa., Rev. Carey was graduated from Grove City (Pa.) College before beginning his theological studies. His wife is an English teacher at Oldtown High School.

The announcement of Rev. Carey's acceptance of the Barton call came from Alexander Cross, clerk of the session of that church. Formal approval of the change must come from the Presbytery of Baltimore, which does not meet until late February. The acceptance of the call probably will become effective about March 1.

Ridgeley Police Report Issued

Fines totaling $49.50 were imposed as a result of traffic charges filed by the Ridgeley Police Department in December, according to a report of Police Chief Harry L. Detrick to the Mayor and Council.

They included three charges of speeding, three for hazardous driving, four of running through stop signs, one passing at an intersection, one no operator's card, one no registration card and five incorrect parking.

Ten tickets were issued, the police chief said, for parking on red lines and blocking alleys.

Warrants will be issued, he said, for those who disregard tickets issued for blocking alleys, since the parked cars prevent fire trucks from getting to the scene of blazes.

The department also investigated the theft of pipe and lead-in wire from the TV antenna of J. W. Davis, investigated three hit and run accidents and assisted West Virginia State Police in investigations of crashes near the city limits.

The police cruiser assisted the Ridgeley Volunteer Fire Department on four calls during December.

Icy Conditions Ease As Warm Rain Hits Area

Garrett County Has 4 Inches Of Snow

Rising temperatures and intermittent warm rain yesterday and early this morning helped thaw much of the ice glaze and snow which blanketed the tri-state area Monday and made travel conditions so hazardous.

Bus runs both east and west of Cumberland once more were on a normal schedule, with traffic reported moderate throughout most of the area yesterday.

The thermometer in Cumberland rose from a low of 24 to 41 last night about 6 o'clock and continued to rise during the night as the warm rains, which began yesterday afternoon, caused snow and ice to melt and turn to slush. The rains were expected to continue today.

R. E. Golden, local weather bureau observer, reported 1.3 inches of snow and sleet fell Monday and early yesterday morning with .30 inches of melted precipitation recorded at Constitution Park.

State Police in Maryland, Pennsylvania and West Virginia reported highways still very wet, but added that much of the icy conditions on the roads had dissipated. However, some bad spots were reported in the mountains and motorists traveling any distance were asked to continue the use of chains on their cars.

Garrett County was in the midst of the sleet storm which has been moving steadily west since early Monday. Four inches of snow was reported in Oakland with the temperature about 23 degrees. Several minor motor mishaps were reported, but no injuries were noted.

R. W. Weber, weather observer at Oakland, said the low yesterday was 16 degrees there, and that a steady freezing rain had fallen most of the day on top of the snow. Travel conditions to the west of Frostburg were becoming steadily worse.

Two inches of snow was reported at Knobley Mountain near Keyser on Route 40.

Streets and sidewalks in Keyser and highways in the area were glazed with ice and covered with snow following Monday's storm. Both Keyser High and Elementary schools classes were dismissed Monday at noon because of the bad road conditions. The roads began to clear up somewhat with yesterday's warm rain.

Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company officials noted that no serious damage was done telephone cables despite the icy conditions.

Christmas Seal Returns Are At $16,996 Mark

Returns from the 1955 Seal Sale campaign were pushing the $17,000 mark last week and officials said they hope the amount will be swelled to $20,000 to allow chest X-rays for all school children.

Glenn K. Davis, Seal chairman, said returns through Friday totaled $16,996.55, including $784.43 which came in last week.

Returns in Allegany County totaled $14,933.18, including $11,909.37 from the Cumberland area, $1,965.30 from the Frostburg area and $946.50 from the Westernport area.

Garrett County returns totaled $2,063.37.

The 1954 drive, Davis said, brought in $18,300 to finance the work of the Allegany-Garrett Tuberculosis Association during the fiscal year which will end March 31.

Miss Jean Reinhard, executive secretary, said returns of $20,000 would allow the association to balance its budget and provide chest X-rays for all school children of the two counties.

She said funds collected in campaigns are earmarked for use in the fiscal year which begins the following April 1, but that in the past years the funds had to be tapped before that time.

Officials said citizens of the counties have been cooperating well in the campaign which will be cleaned up by the end of this month.

Miss Reinhard said contributors have been reporting duplications and that this will help to cut down costs in future seal drives.

Church Will Build Addition To Front

Bethel Evangelical United Brethren Church yesterday secured a permit from the City Engineer for an addition to the church edifice at Third and Seymour streets.

The addition, fronting on Seymour Street will be 30 by 14 feet, with concrete block foundation and frame walls, and is estimated to cost $2,000.
